Shore Batteries Will Fire Salvo of 19 Guns as Fleet Enters Bay Carrying Wilbur

BATTLESHIPS WILL FEIGN S. F. ATTACK

Seaplanes, Catapulted From Deck of Flagship California Miles at Sea, to Herald Coming of Naval Unit

Activities of Naval Unit During Balance of Week Includes Two Outside Cruises For Maneuvers

The second great naval celebration this year and the largest naval demonstration in five years in San Francisco bay was due to start this afternoon with the arrival of the entire Pacific fleet under the command of Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur. The fleet is bringing Wilbur back to the city he left some months ago, when he relinquished the position of Chief Justice of California.

Eight navy battle planes, the forerunners of the fleet, arrived from Seattle yesterday afternoon and landed at Crissy Field. The first were the two fast 9-cylinder observation planes of the flagship California, flying for the first time with wheels instead of pontoons. They were in command of Lieutenant W. B. Kirkpatrick, air officer of the fleet and aviation aide to Admiral S. S. Robison. Lieutenant J. D. Barner accompanied Kirkpatrick. Lieutenant Dixie Kiefer, accompanied by machinists' mate W. S. Mason, was in the second plane.

The other planes arrived shortly after in command of Commander Nathan B. Chase. The pilots [illegible] were Lieutenant A. P. Flagg, Lieutenant A. P. Thurston, Lieutenant E. H. Varkelew, Lieutenant (junior grade) F. H Conant and Lieutenant (junior grade) E. B. Wilkins.

SEAPLANES TO HERALD COMING OF FLEET.

The fleet itself was due to arrive off the Golden Gate at 4:30, steaming in battle formation simulating an attack on San Francisco. Preceding the fleet, seaplanes, catapulted from the decks of the California and other large warships were to survey the bay and send back radio direction for the fleet.

The batteries of Fort Point and the Presidio were to be trained on the ships of the fleet as they steamed through the gate, and the lanyards were to be pulled on empty chambers by gunners. Every action of actual battle except actual firing was to be imitated.

A salute of 19 guns in honor of Secretary Wilbur from Goat Island and a salute of 13 guns from the California on the arrival on board of Rear-Admiral Joseph S. McKean, commandant of the Twelfth Naval District and acting commandant of Mare Island, were the two formal receptions planned for the afternoon.

FORMATION OF ARRIVAL NOT GIVEN OUT.

In accordance with the policy of carrying out battle maneuvers as secretly as possible, the order of the fleet was not announced. Regardless of the line of arrival in the bay, however, the ships composing the fleet in the visit to the bay are:

Division No. 3, made up of the Pennsylvania, Oklahoma and Nevada, in command of Rear Admiral E. L. Nulton.

Division No. 4, made up of the Arizona, Mississippi and Idaho in command of Rear Admiral W. B. Pratt.

Division No. 5, made up of the New Mexico and Tennessee, in command of Vice-Admiral H. A. Wiley, who is also in charge of the entire battleship fleet.

Accompanying the battleships will be a fleet of thirty destroyers headed by the scout cruiser Omaha, commanded by Rear Admiral S. F. Scofield, made up as follows:

Decatur, 341; Moody, 277; Doyen, 280; Sinclair, 275; Percival, 298; J. D. Burnes, 299; Somers, 301; Zeilyn, 313; Stoddert, 302; Reno, 303; Farquhar, 304; Thompson, 305; Kennedy, 306; Paul Hamilton, 307; Yarlborough, 314; Lavallette, 315; Sloat, 316; Wood, 317; Shirk, 318; Kidder, 319; Mervine, 322; Robert Smith, 324; Mullany, 325; Hull, 330; Sumner, 333; Melvin, 335; Chase, 323; Marcus, 321; Corry, 324, and McDonough, 331.

There also is a submarine flotilla of six vessels—Nos. 36, 37, 38, 39, 40 and 41, under convoy of the mother ship Canopus.

Other ships in the grand fleet are the auxiliaries under command of Rear Admiral J. R. Marvell, which include the Melville, Pinola, Relief and Sonoma.

The fleet will be in the bay for the entire month except for a cruise on September 8 to 12 and another on September 22 to 26. Open house will be maintained on board every ship in the afternoon beginning tomorrow. A schedule of launches for visitors will be announced later.

FLIERS EAGER FOR LAST HOP TO U. S.

Broken Gear Delays Planes at Pictou; Off for Boston Early Tomorrow.

PICTOU, N. S., Sept. 4.—Balked in their plans to get away for Boston today, the American army world circling aviators are getting ready for a take-off tomorrow morning, weather permitting. With more than 22,000 miles of their flight completed, they are eager to get back on the soil of he United States and begin the trans-continental tour, which will mark their homecoming.

Lieutenants Leigh Wade and H. H. Ogden, with a new plane to replace the one they lost on the hop to Iceland, have joined their comrades and will leave with them to complete the flight back to the Pacific Coast.

Lieutenants Lowell H. Smith and Eric Nelson and their assistants, Lieutenants [illegible] John Harding Jr., decided before beginning their hop here from Hawkes Bay, N. F., yesterday that they would continue on to Boston after a night's rest, but this program was overturned by a combination of circumstances, including the breaking of a spreader bar on Lieutenant Smith's plane and the lateness of their arrival, which precluded the possibility of refueling, oiling and repairing the planes before dark.

A rainstorm this forenoon delayed the repair plans.

CONSUL GETS THREAT TO KILL WALES

N. Y. Police Hurry Special Guard to Burden Home to Protect Heir to British Throne From Bullet

Note to English Official Declares Writer Intends to Slay Royal Visitor; Utmost Precautions to Be Taken

SYOSSET, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Following receipt of a letter threatening the life of the Prince of Wales, Louis Herman of the bomb squad of the New York police department, hurried this afternoon to the Burden estate here, where the Prince is staying during his American visit.

The letter, received today at the offices of the British consul-general in New York, declared the writer had planned to kill the Prince.

The letter was signed "Marcus E. Gilroy," a name police are convinced is fictitious. The letter was almost illegible and incoherent in parts.

Herman conferred with the Scotland Yard men in the prince's party and with local constabulary who are on duty in the vicinity of the Burden estate.

At the Burden estate it was understood receipt of the letter was not made known to the prince as his attendants did not wish to bother him. Wales was playing golf this afternoon and was amply protected all the time, members of his staff said.

SYOSETT, N. Y., Sept. 4.—The Prince of Wales spent another night out last night—his third in a row.

He returned to his holiday home at the James A. Burden estate shortly after 5 a. m., and tumbled into bed which he did not leave until noon. That his rest might be unbroken state troopers stationed at the Burden gates requested all motorists entering the grounds to use a back drive. When the prince arose, announcing he was well refreshed, he took a few turns at polo, putting in a few extra hard licks to make up for the exercise he did not take yesterday.

Leaving the Piping Rock Country club at about midnight the royal visitor went with his cousin, Lord Louis Mountbatten and Lady Mountbatten and Lord and Lady Milfordhaven to the home of J. S. Cosden at Sands Point, where a jolly and small house party kept the fun going until daylight. Then the prince went home.

PRINCE DECLINES TO AID IN WELCOME.

Captain A. F. Lascelles of the prince's party, said the prince had declined an invitation to participate in the reception to the American globe circling fliers. Nor will the prince accept an invitation of a group of English actors now in New York, to see a special benefit performance for the mayor's milk fund on Sunday. Captain Lascelles said the prince had refused many invitations to theatrical performances and added that it was ex[illegible] he would visit New York City at all.

Inspector Carlson of Scotland Yard, one of the prince's attendants, said he was surprised at the crowds which had followed the royal visitor since his arrival.

HERETIC BISHOP RENEWS BATTLE

Prelate Found Guilty of Unorthodox Views Issues Challenge to Former Colleagues.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4.—William Montgomery Brown, retired bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church, found guilty of heresy by a court of bishops here last June, today offered to step out of the church if the whole house of bishops would affirm its own orthodoxy on the seven "fundamental statements of doctuire."

These seven propositions are:

1. God is an objective, conscious, personal reality, existing independently of all other realities.

2. God made out of nothing heaven and earth with all that is in them.

3. Man's existence was brought about by direct, creative acts of God, not by evolutions from lower forms of life.

4. The world owes all its death and suffering to the disobedience of Adam, and this fatal fall was due to Eve, who was persuaded to eat of the forbidden fruit by a serpent.

5. All men must rely upon the atoning death of Christ, an objective, conscious, personal being, for salvation from sin, and those who do not will for that reason suffer.

6. Christ arose bodily from death and so ascended into heaven above the earth, where he now sits at the right hand of God.

7. The bodies of all dead men, women and children will at some time be physically resurrected.

DUNLAP GETS 2 LIFE TIME SENTENCES

Court Adds 214 Years For Other Crimes Committed By 'Badge Bandit;' 3 Slayings Attributed to Outlaw

Prisoner Denounced by Trial Judge as Most Debased Criminal Seen in Court; Convict Snarls Over Doom

BY UNITED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—Harry J. Dunlap, notorious "badge bandit," was today sentenced to "two natural life terms" and 214 years' imprisonment in Folsom penitentiary.

Standing motionless before Judge Charles Crail, Dunlap, with a terrible scowl crossing his crime-hardened features, heard pronounced the words that will keep him behind prison bars the rest of his days.

"They must think I am some kind of a cat," Dunlap hurled at the court, after the sentence was pronounced.

Betraying his emotions solely through a lip curled in scorn, the "badge bandit," found guilty of attacks on women, assaults with intent to kill, a series of robberies throughout the state, and suspected of more than one slaying, listened to the judge deliver one of the most thorough tongue lashings ever pronounced in local courts.

PRISONER DENOUNCED BY TRIAL JUDGE.

"You are the most debased character and most experienced and steeped in crime of any man who has ever stood before me for sentence," Crail said. "Your unspeakable exploits are as foul and dastardly as the deeds of any buccaneer that ever sailed the Spanish Main.

"Your testimony on the witness stand shows that you prefer a life of crime to a normal life. Your story of how you escaped from two penitentiaries and your subsequent career of robbery, assault and bootlegging convinces me that you are a habitual criminal and should certainly be confined in prison as long as you live. You will be better off these, where you are not so likely to be shot, and your imprisonment certainly remove a serious menace to the community.

"Have you anything to say before you are sentenced," the court queried.

"Naw, not a word," Dunlap replied, flashing his full set of gold teeth in a [illegible]

DOOM SOUNDED BY INEXORABLE SENTENCE.

"I sentence you to life imprisonment for the robbery of Edgar Milburn," the judge continued. "Your other sentences are: Life imprisonment for the robbery of W. P. LeRoux, 50 years for the rape of Helen Griffith, 50 years for the robbery of James Wilson, 50 years for the robbery of Jack Branscomb and 64 years for the robbery and assault of Ray Durkee."

Immediately after the sentence, Dunlap's attorney, M. H. Golden, made a motion for a new trial, which was denied.

The courtroom was packed with a tense throng. Once Dunlap made a move toward his hip pocket and seven deputy sheriffs started to grab him. He laughed sardonically as he pulled out a handkerchief and blew his nose.

Dunlap was captured in Detroit some months ago, ending a nation-wide hunt which followed a series of crimes throughout southern California last winter with which he was credited.

At least three murders were laid to the "badge bandit," but the prosecution dropped these cases because of insufficient evidence.

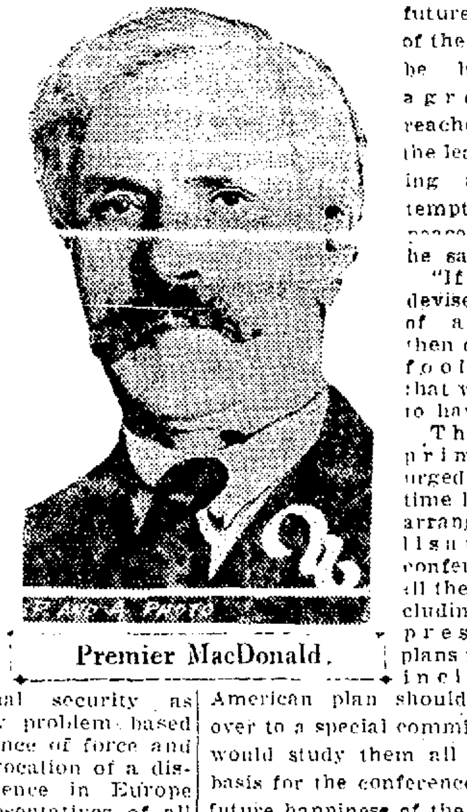
MacDonald Says Germany Must Join League, Urges Arms Parley

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

GENEVA, Sept. 4.—In his address before the fifth assembly of the league of nations today the British prime minister, MacDonald, declared that Germany cannot remain outside of the league.

The best way of handling the problem of aggression, he said, was to set up a court or courts of arbitration.



Premier MacDonald.

Before he began his speech, which was delivered before a crowded hall, he conferred with the representatives of the British dominions, outlining to them the main issues he would follow.

MacDonald declared that Great Britain sa wthe only hope of future peace in the legislation of the policy of arbitration and the development of the League of Nations.

The British statesman warned the world against regarding national security as merely a military problem based on the predominance of force and he urged the convocation of a disarmament conference in Europe attended by representatives of all countries, including the United States and Germany.

Premier MacDonald mounted the rostrum of the assembly at 11 o'clock to begin his address amid tremendous applause.

During his address he declared that the British Empire would do everything in its power to widen the influence and prestige of the league of nations.

Insisting that Great Britain was intensely interested in the proldem of security, MacDonald added:

"But we do not believe that military alliances can bring security."

Such alliances, like mustard seeds, which finally produce a tree, would bring the world back to the situation which existed before 1914. Pacts based on military alliances would break up the league.

PEACE HOPE SEEN IN LEAGUE WORK.

Through the league, he said, it was hoped to lay surely and finally the foundations of peace. The future happiness of the world must be based on agreements reached through the league. Warning against attempting to base peace upon force he said:

"If we cannot devise a system of arbitration then do not let us fool ourselves that we are going to have peace."

The British prime minister urged that the time had come to arrange a new disarmament conference with all the powers, including Germany, present. All plans for security, including the American plan should be turned over to a special commission which would study them all and seek a basis for the conference, he added.

MRS. KYNE DODGES DEATH IN BATTLE

Novelist's Wife Trapped Between Opposing Armies in China War Zone.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4.—Mrs. Peter B. Kyne, wife of the famous novelist and creator of the "Cappy Ricks" character, and Miss Ruth F. Ohlsen, his secretary, had narrow escapes from death while touring the Chinese war zone.

Accompanied by Carl Crow, a Shanghai advertising man, Mrs. Kyne and Mrs. Ohlsen, who are accompanying the novelist on a world tour, motored from Shanghai this afternoon toward the front on which fighting has been in progress for the past 36 hours.

Arriving at Liuho, the party saw soldiers but heard no firing. They parked the car in the shadow of the compound and prepared to rest. Suddenly cannons boomed and whistling shells thudded about them. They fled through the barrage.

A shell dropped within ten feet of Mrs. Kyne. It failed to explode. They reached a hospital, but it offered poor shelter. Crow and his two companions raced four miles on foot between the battle lines and succeeded in reaching safety on a flanking road. A passing motorist picked them up and brought them to Shanghai late tonight.

Accompanied by his wife and secretary, Miss Ruth Ohlson, Kyne sailed from San Francisco in May of this year on the steamer President Van Buren on the second lap of his voyage around the world. He originally sailed from New York on the vessel which reached San Francisco on May 10.

The author is preparing a series of six magazine articles under contract, entitled "Cappy Ricks' Impressions of World Conditions." He remained in San Francisco two weeks, and in announcing his plans said that he would remain six weeks in China and Japan and Korea and then proceed to Manila to witness the changes that have occurred since he served there as a soldier in the Spanish-American War.

He planned to return to his home, Briarcliffe Lodge, Westchester county, New York, the first of the year.

U. S. Sailors Throw Protective Cordon Around Foreigners in City; Fight On All Day; Planes Bombing

By D. C. BESS.
United Press Staff Correspondent

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4.—Heavy fighting continued throughout today between rival Chinese armies striving for the possession of Shanghai.

Troops of Gen. Lu Yung Hsiang, which repulsed an enemy attack in force yesterday, yielded before the heavy drive of the army of Gen. Chi Shieh Yuan this afternoon and this evening were retiring toward Shanghai.

A squadron of attacking planes did great damage, dropping bombs on the defending forces and causing heavy casualties.

Thousands of refugees poured into Shanghai throughout the day, seeking safety in the foreign zone, which is guarded by international marines and warships. Many streets were literally choked with bewildered people, a majority of them, women, many of them carrying babies. Thousands slept on the streets here last night.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 4. — Chang Tso-lin, military governor of Manchuria, has issued an ultimatum to the Peking government declaring that unless it stops its attack on General Lu Yung-hsiang, Chang himself will immediately mediate by force, says a Japanese news agency telegram from Peking.

The Kiangsu troops used artillery in their attack on Liuho, which ordinarily is a town of 8000 population.

Two American women remained in Liuho during the bombardment. They were Miss Grace I. Crandall, a woman physician, and Miss Susie M. Burdick, who were in charge of the Seventh Day Baptist mission hospital there.

TWO BRAVE WOMEN REMAIN WITH PATIENTS.

When the fight began the Red Cross unit from Shanghai retreated twelve miles, to the village of Luti, but Miss Crandall and Miss Burdick refused to abandon the patients in the hospital who were not war casualties.

All day long the shells whistled overhead. Several of them passed through the hospital building.

So far as Chinese are concerned the city of Shanghai is under strictly military rule, as was illustrated in the killing of two ricksha coolies today.

Lloyd Brown, cafe proprietor of San Francisco, accompanied by an American sailor, had entered the Chpei district on business. The Chinese guards made no movement to prevent their entrance, but when they sought to leave they were ordered to stop.

One of the ricksha boys protested at being stopped and the guard promptly bayonetted him in the stomach. The guard then turned to the boy pulling the second ricksha and clubbed him to death.

FIGHTING SPREADS TO COAST CITIES.

The engagement now in progress is becoming general in the area from the line of the Shanghai-Nanking railway to the coast and heavy canonading along the railway line was reported.

The temper of foreign governments towards China's provincial civil war was indicated yesterday when several contingents of British marines were landed in the foreign quarter of Shanghai and 400 French sailors were sent ashore from warcraft now in the harbor here. The French troops supplemented a volunteer company on duty to defend the French settlement in any possible emergency.

Behind the two Tuchun contenders for Shanghai today was the respective support of General Wu Pei-fu, head of the Peking government, allied with Chi, the Kiangsu governor, and Chang Tso-lin, war lord of Manchuria, who was reported in despatches from Peking to have contributed $3,000,000 to General Lu Yung-hsiang.

The Manchurian war lord, however, was content to lend his financial aid to General Lu for the present, but has promised him military aid when it is opportune.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—American sailors, operating with sailors from British, French and Japanese warships, have thrown their own protective cordon around the foreign settlement at Shanghai, the state department was advised today in despatches from Consul General Cunningham in the beleagued city today.

British Premier Declares Arbitration Courts Hold Peace Hope.

study them all and seek a basis for the conference, he added.

GERMANY MUST ENTER LEAGUE.

In his reference to Germany's place in the league, the British premier said:

"We cannot sit endlessly with a vacant chair in our midst. The London conference created a new relationship between the rest of Europe and Germany. She should have her seat here."

He asked for action along this line at the present session of the assembly.

MacDonald said the British government desired to sign the optional clause of compulsory arbitration of the permanent court of international justice, but, before doing so, it wanted that clause revised by a commission of experts, which should inaugurate the work immediately. He said nobody seemed to be sure whether this clause was to be operative both in war time and peace time.

Future disarmament conference must be held in Europe, MacDonald thought, in order that the responsible statesmen might attend them and not be too far removed from contact with home affairs. He concluded by declaring that Great Britain was committed always to share in moves for peace.

MACDONALD CHEERED AT CLOSE OF SPEECH.

Great applause from the assemblage obliged the prime minister to stand and acknowledge the tribute for some time before resuming his seat.

Long before the time for the opening of today's assembly season, crowds thronged the approaches to the halls seeking a glimpse of Premier MacDonald, whose utterances are expected to have a tremendous effect on Europe's political future.

Premier Herriot has announced that he will not give his reply until tomorrow.

It is understood that Mr. MacDonald's refusal to accept the scheme for a pact of guarantees fostered by the French came as a setback to the French liberal statesmen, although they were cheered by his pronouncement that the next disarmament conference should be held in Europe and that considerable time be spent in studying the subject.

William G. McAdoo has been added to the number of prominent American visitors here, including former Supreme Court Justice Clarke, George W. Wickersham and Thomas W. Lamont.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4. — The suggestion reported to have been advanced at Geneva that the proposed international conference on control of arms traffic might be broadened readily to include disarmament received little support in high administration circles here.

The two subjects are so dissimilar in their meaning and in their execution, it was said, that it would be hard to conceive a common relationships other than their admitted connection in any general program affecting world peace.

A wide difference also was seen by government officials here in the problem presented by limitation of land armaments from that discussed at the Washington conference, since only a few nations possess navies which could be considered as holding potential threats and only these had to be brought into agreement.

In the case of armies, American diplomats were said to agree that practically every nation would hold varying views as to the size necessary for the legitimate functions of its own and of that necessary to its neighbor.

"Land armament is essentially a European problem," one official declared. "It is not present in the slightest degree in the western hemisphere."

The inclusion of a clause which will protect existing investments in the events that the city later decide to refuse the extension of leases is also urged. The inclusion of a recapture clause, by which the city could take back the land in the event of a decision on a comprehensive scheme of waterfront improvement is provided.

The resolution points out that the present leasing restriction is the principal cause retarding industrial growth in West Oakland; "that of more than 100 new industries located in Oakland during the past year not one would consider a lease for a 25-year period; that the city has been unable to lease any of its land on this basis; that 25 years is not long enough for a real industrial concern to fully establish its business; that bankers and bonding companies will not advance loans for industrial purposes on a 25-year lease; and that at the present time several large industries will locate on our western waterfront providing leases for at least 50 years can be granted."

Hughes Is Blamed By Moscow 'Reds' For War in China

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

MOSCOW, Sept. 4. — Secretary of State Hughes is precipitating the civil war in China, the newspaper Izvestia asserts in discussing the attitude of the United States towards the hostilities in China.

The newwspaper declares that Hughes is feeling uneasy because since her agreement with Russia, China is acknowledging her own national aims and is striving to thrust off the yoke of foreign capitalists. Hughes, it adds, is afraid for the future of American interests in China which he considers as a colony of growing American industrialism. America is charged by the newspaper with violation of the decision of the Washington conference in regard to China.

"Instead of a policy of good will towards China," Izvestia declares "the United States is now organizing against her an inimical union with England and Japan, against the latter of whom America herself previously struggled for her own interests in China. All this is being done because Hughes will not allow China to carry out her own policy."

While Hughes is so afraid of civil war in China, the newspaper continues, "we believe the coming conflagration there which is being eagerly antcipated by the American press, will be arranged on American money and in accordance with plans set forth by Hughes, who is using the pretext of civil war in order to organize a united front of the great powers against China. It is his intention to repeat provocation with the purpose of re-establishing the Boxer memorandum of 1901, which made world capital the warden of China."

WOMEN TO LEAD CAMPAIGN FOR SCHOOL BONDS

Mothers' Council Formed to Assemble and Dessenunate Facts for Voters.

An organization composed entirely of women and known as the Oakland Mothers' Council has been formed to lead the campaign for the proposed Oakland school bond issue. The council is headed by Mrs. Jesse L. Squire as general chairman.

According to the members of the organization, the mothers of the city are more personally interested in the construction of new schools and they feel that it is appropriate that they should take the lead in the fight to obtain them.

In a statement issued today Mrs. Squire said:

"It will be the purpose of the members of our organization to convince the voters [illegible] school bond election [illegible] and what will happen if the bonds fail.

Oakland is growing at the rate of over 5000 new families a year. The law is mandatory in that all children within certain age limits must attend school. Therefore if we fail to provide accommodations through a bond issue, portable schools will be built by a direct tax. This will mean that the taxpayers will have to pay more money for temporary schools than they will have to for permanent schools under a bond issue.

We propose to bring home to the voters the fact that the administration of the Oakland schools is economical. It costs $[illegible] to educate a child in the Oakland schools per year as against $11[illegible] per year in Los Angeles, $11[illegible] per year [illegible] $[illegible] in [illegible] $10[illegible] in [illegible] $10[illegible] in Des Moines and $10[illegible] in [illegible]."

Mrs. F. A. Vollmer will [illegible] the new organization and the members of the executive committee follow: Mrs. F. C. Turner, Mrs. H. W. Campbell, Mrs. J. J. Reclamation Held Damaging to Beaches

ALAMEDA, Sept. 4.—Belief that reclamation of tidelands along the south shore of Alameda from Bay Farm Island to Third street would destroy the bathing beaches there was indicated in questions asked by representatives of bathing resorts at a public discussion of the project. The issue came up at a meeting [illegible] chamber of commerce last night. The plan was described by City Manager Clifton E. Hickok, who said that it would take many years to consummate a project of this kind.

Drive Opens to Ban Noise on U.C. Campus

BERKELEY, Sept. 4.—Professors at the University of California want peace even if they have to fight for it.

Accordingly a plea has gone from instructors in Wheeler Hall, main campus classroom building, to President William W. Campbell asking that the endless and unnecessary noise at Sather Gate be stopped. Such noise refers to the cries of student vendors of campus publications, to the shouts of glee in hazing activities and to other efforts of collegians to win subscriptions or money from their classmates.

The examination of talesmen was nterrupted this morning when hief of Police James T Drew was lled to the stand to testify to the ualifications of Patrolman E. F. urphy to act as process server in ummoning the jury.

An attempt to establish prejudice n the part of Murphy against the efense resulted in the declaration the witness that if he was prejuiced at all it was in fa or of eilly.

Dwarf Arrested, Cashes Optimism For $15 in Caurt

HAYWARD, Sept. 4.—An optimistic outlook on life on the part of a circus dwarf, who stated that his professional title was "One Atom," saved him and his employer, H. T. Beasley, sideshow proprietor, 5809½ Pasadena avenue, Los Angeles, $15, when they appeared at the local court yesterday afternoon on a charge of operating a swaying and dangerous trailer.

Traffic Officer Lewie Eike, who made the arrest, asked Judge Jacob Harder, Jr., for leniency. "For such a little fellow this "Atom" person is the most optimistic boy in the world," grinned Eike. "When I arrested the pair he informed me there was no use being gloomy about the affair; there was enough woe in the world, what with traffic laws and officers and all. I suggest that you be a little easy under the circumstances."

Judge Harder fined Beasley $10. The usual fine is $25.

BOND ISSUE FOR SCHOOLS TALKED

BERKELEY, Sept. 4.—Requests for more than $1,000,000 for improvements to grammar schools were made last night at the first of a series of conferences called by the board of education in preparation for a bond issue to be held in November.

High school needs were enumerated by representatives of the schools and it is expected that the sum of $1,700,000, still left in bonding capacity for this purpose, will be sought for a new auditorium, shops and other improvements.

Two new schools must be built at an estimated cost of more than $300,000. This fact say educational heads will force the needs of other schools to be considerably "pruned."

Every school in Berkeley, except the Franklin, was represented by the president of its parent-teacher association at last night's conference.

Professor William B. Herms, president of the board, was assisted last night by Mrs. M. T. Healey, president of the Berkeley Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations. The same group will meet in another conference next Monday night at the board of education rooms in an effort to "prune" the program down to essentials.

e decision of the R. B. Ward company to build its own plant follows negotiations made about three months ago, to purchase the Remar Golden Sheaf Bakery at Forty-seventh and Adeline streets.

The building will be of wood and brick, supported by steel girders. The architect is J. M. Cooper of Los Angeles.

Club Speaker Urges School Bond Issue

"Fifteen thousand of our children attend school in mere shacks, hot in summer, damp in winter, at all times insufficiently lighted and badly heated by wood stoves," declared LeRoy R. Goodrich of the Lyons club, addressing the Oakland Table of the Loyal Knights of the Round Table, yesterday, at the Hotel Oakland, in behalf of the school bonds to be voted upon Sept. 30. "Oakland needs at least 750 more classrooms if her children are not to be forced upon a part time educational basis, where at all times half the pupils will be idle at home or playing on the streets," said Goodrich.

Goodrich was one of a group of local Lions who made a survey of Eastbay school conditions. They found many school buildings seriously overcrowded and inadequately equipped. The speaker declared that sanitary conditions at the Dewey school would not be offered Japanese coolies, nor tolerated in any factory. The Grant school, on Broadway, was so exposed to the din of traffic that teaching, he said, was very difficult. In the new Alexander Hamilton junior high school the 20 classrooms have been supplemented by 23 temporary buildings that will be fit for nothing more than firewood in from 3 to 5 years.

HOLLYWOOD RAID TRAPS 19 MOVIE FOLKS AND BOOZE

L. A. Prosecutor Refuses to Issue Warrants, Raps Police For Arrests.

BY UNITED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—Refusing to issue complaints against nineteen men and women connected with Hollywood studios, arrested last night in a raid on the Laurel Canyon residence of Jack Sherrill, director, City Prosecutor Jack Friedlander today practically admitted that Hollywood police erred in staging the wholesale roundup.

Sherrill and his son were to appear in court to plead to charges of possession and transportation of liquor. Five quarts of whisky were found in the family car when the Sherrills drove up to the house during the night, the police stated.

CENSURES POLICE.

"As far as the guests are concerned however," Friedlander said, "this appears to me to have been just such a party as anyone might attend. It seems to me the police used poor discretion in arresting anyone except the Sherrills."

Following their release the nineteen guests at the party expressed their determination to seek redress for what they termed an infringement of their legal rights.

Among those arrested, police say, were Jules Lebaron, president of the Lebaron productions, and Robert Conville, his director. Others who found their pleasures interrupted by a trip to the police station were:

Jack Reynolds, Phil Gersdorf, a publicity man; Miss Florence Wingo, Victor C. Brown, T. L. Hoffman, R. T. Hasgall, W. A. Hays (not Will Hays), J. C. Lowry, Miss Ruth McGuire, Miss B. Abbott, Buddy Bailey, John Cusick, P. F. Anholt, Miss Jean Dunmoys and Miss Marie Eaton.

GIRL PROTESTS.

Miss Wingo, employed in the office of a picture studio, was one of the most indignant.

"This means I will lose my position," she declared. "My employer is very straight-laced, and he will never tolerate this scandal. There should not have been any scandal. There was absolutely nothing connected with the party that doesn't occur at any birthday celebration—just innocent games, singing and a general good time."

The raid is one of a series started by Lieutenant Lyons of the Hollywood police department upon the instigation of the "better element" of Laurel Canyon. It followed closely the raid upon the Lloyd Hamilton residence two nights ago, after which the comedian forfeited $20 bail.

Local Anaesthesia Is Subject of Lecture

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—A discussion of the "Head Nurse" by Sister M. Angela of Providence Hospital, Oakland, was one of today's features at the conference of the Catholic Hospital Association at Y. M. I. hall, 50 Oak street.

Local anaesthesia was discussed in a paper by Sister Agnes of St. Joseph's hospital. The subject of her paper was "Surgery." She declared that the tissues must be handled much more carefully under local anaesthetic than under a general anaesthetic, otherwise the patient will suffer during the operation. This careful handling, she pointed out, results in more favorable after-effects.

LOSES FORTUNE, KILLS SELF.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 4.—Despondent over the "loss of six fortunes," L. P. Camp, 35, a jewelry salesman from Ohio, shot himself through the head here last night.

SOME SAID: "NOTHING"

"What do you know of Oakland's water front and of Oakland's western industrial area?"

We have asked that question of a number of indivuals who are not directly interested. The answers surprised us.

Some frankly admitted, "Nothing." Others said that they had ridden through on their way across the Bay and had seen some plants and railroad tracks. The least complimentary asked us if we meant the "mud flats."

It hurt our pride.

We want you to know more of the district represented by our association, and we want your interest in a district that is an integral part of our city and the success of which is of vital importance to the welfare and growth of the entire community.

Through the medium of an educational advertising campaign, which will be published in this newspaper, we propose to give you certain facts regarding our district that are unusual and of the utmost importance to the entire city of Oakland.

We want you to read these advertisements as they are published. You will find them readable and interesting. They will also give the people of Oakland information regarding their city that they never knew existed.

After reading these your answer will be anything but, "Nothing," to the question, "What do you know of Oakland's water front and of Oakland's industrial area?"

Watch for the first advertisement of the series to be published in the Tribune on next Sunday morning. It will be entitled

WIVES' RIGHTS STRESSED IN PLEA

By LEO H. McCLATCHY.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—California's latest plea for federal recognition of her community property law—the plea upon which Attorney-General Stone will base his decision as to whether the government should or should not exact an inheritance tax on what the state law classes as community property—now is before the attorney general in the nature of a brief filed by Lloyd Robbins, San Francisco attorney.

Upon Stone's verdict rests the question as to whether there shall be taken from the United States treasury $130,000,000 to reimburse Californians for taxes—both inheritance and income—which it is contended have been illegally collected.

Stone already has given considerable study to the question, which his predecessor, Attorney General Daugherty, decided in favor of California, and an early decision is anticipated.

DISCRIMINATION CHARGED.

The government, in assessing inheritance and income taxes, recognizes the community property laws of seven other states, but has steadfastly refused to accord the same recognition to California.

The brief filed by Attorney Robbins is said to be the most complete exposition of the California community property situation ever written. It contains a lengthy explantation of Peter F. Dunne, another San Francisco attorney. Dunn argues that the government is guilty of a rank injustice in its stand.

"A good many years ago when California was younger than it is now," Dunne says, "Judge Field used some words about community property, comparing the wife's interest to a mere expectancy, like the mere expectancy of an heir.

"This was a loose analogy, speaking respectfully, and it seems to have bothered California courts somewhat. It just about makes the wife a cipher—the expectancy of an heir does not stand for any real fact, it does not mean anything tangible. Judge Field could hardly have meant that a wife has no more interest in the community property than a nephew has in the property of his bachelor uncle.

STATUS DIFFERS.

"The uncle's idea may have been the that the nephew shouldn't have anything, and to make sure of it he might proceed to give it away, to put it out of the way, or to turn it into money and go away somewhere with that money, leaving the nephew nothing, not even a will contest. Could the nephew stop him? Certainly not. Why not? Because the nephew has no interest in the uncle's property.

"How about the wife? Could she stop the husband under the same conditions? Of course, she could. He can't defraud her of her rights in the community property, because she has rights, and the California courts recognize that she had a real interest in the community property, even as far back as the day when Judge Field wrote these confusing words."

QUOTES U. S. COURT.

Dunne cites the opinion of the United States district court, sitting in the circuit including California, on the community property law of that state as it was in 1917. He quotes this decision as stating:

"If that act does not recognize in the wife a valid subsisting, vested interest and estate in the community property during the life of the husband, language is without meaning and legislation without avail." The decision was approved by the circuit court of appeals, and when the government took the case on up to the supreme court, the latter tribunal dismissed the application.

Composer Victor in Duel With Warrior

CABOURG, France, Sept. 4.—Raoul Gunsbourg, composer and director of the Monte Carlo opera, and the Russian Colonel Bezobrazoff fought a duel with swords among the sand dunes of Varavill yesterday. The composer easily vanquished the warrior, running him through the right arm at the outset and wounding him so severely that he was unable to continue.

The duel resulted from an incident in a cafe at Dives where Gunsbourg overheard the colonel at an adjacent table speak slightingly of a person related to the princely family of a small state near France.

Wife Would Divorce Spouse Over Rodents

"Do you think I am a rat-catcher?"

George B. Eustace asked this in reply to her complaint that their home in Woodland was rat-infested, according to the testimony of Mrs. Hester Eustace, given before Superior Judge J. S. Koford.

"They ran all over the house, across my bed and everywhere, and one bit me in the night time." Mrs. Eustace said. Judge Koford signified his determination to grant her a divorce decree.

They were married August 1, 1923, and separated December 1 of the same year.

When Mrs. Eustace complained of the rats Eustace told her to "get out and hit the road," she testified.

New Oil Quickly Relieves Swollen Painful Joints

Swollen painful and distorted stiff joints, whether it be in the ankle, knee, thigh, shoulder, neck wrist, elbow or fingers of your hand, are due to some infection which has involved the tissue lining of the joints. This, in most instances, can be traced to internal poisons, such as a blind pus pocket in a tooth or a diseased tonsil which gives off poisons and are carried in the blood to the joints thereby setting up an infection of the delicate membrane lining of the joints and causing the joints to become enlarged, swollen, creaky and extremely painful.

Butler Oil, when applied to the affected joints, is readily absorbed by the tissues and penetrates quickly to the aching joint, neutralizing the pain-causing poisons in much the same way as milk of magnesia neutralizes an acid stomach, giving instant relief.

Get a bottle of Butler Oil today and try a few applications in one [illegible]. It gives quick results [illegible] and contains a special ingredient which at once penetrates to the poison [illegible] membrane in the joint causing swelling and pain. Your druggist has it [illegible] to help you or it costs you nothing. For sale by Osgoods, Boericke & Runyon, Federal Drug Co., Moritz & Son, Drug Dept. at Kahn's.—Advertisement.

SCHOOL HEADS TO AID MOTHERS' CLUBS BOND DRIVE

Junior Safety Council Organization Plans Are Discussed.

Plans for action in support of the school bond election, September [illegible], were discussed at a meeting of the principals, vice-principals and supervisors of the Oakland schools yesterday afternoon in the Ethel Moore Memorial, 121 East Eleventh street.

Superintendent of Schools Fred Hunter, who presided over the meeting, told how the present bond issue originated. He also outlined a plan of action in support of the issue, urging that everyone present get actively into the campaign.

"The school bond issue is an issue put forward by the mothers of Oakland for the benefit of their children," Hunter stated.

To co-operate with the various Mothers' Clubs organization that are planning a house-to-house canvass in favor of the bond issue, Superintendent Hunter appointed a committee of principals headed by H. O. White. Plans for the distribution of literature through the children of the schools were also [illegible].

Prior to the discussion on the school bond issue, District Attorney Ezra Decoto addressed the meeting and outlined plans for the formation of junior safety councils.

These councils, according to Decoto, are to function in the same manner as the Eastbay Safety Council, except the aim will be to protect the children on the way to and from school, and to educate them to the fact that playing in the street is not only dangerous to them, but to the motorist.

The Lions Club of Oakland has agreed to act as sponsor to this junior safety council movement, Decoto stated.

This Pretty Girl Defies Age By Using Ordinary Buttermilk To Beautify Her Complexion

Tells Druggists Not to Take Anyone's Money Unless This Delightful New Vanishing Cream Quickly Shows a Decided Improvement.

Buttermilk Cream creates beauty almost like magic. The most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns the dullest most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough hands or arms snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of its use after application. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

No matter whether you are troubled with a poor complexion, wrinkles, puffiness around the eyes, freckles, crows feet or lines around the mouth, ugly finger nails, or just a simple roughness of the face, hands or arms caused by wind or sun, you will find that any or all of these troubles will quickly disappear with the use of Howard's Buttermilk Cream.

To prove this to your complete satisfaction, get a small quantity today at your favorite toilet goods counter with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money should you be dissatisfied.

Beautiful actresses say, "A short massage with Howard's Buttermilk Cream at night before retiring is all that is necessary."—Advertisement.

Attempt to Kill Mussolini Fails In Auto Mix-up

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

ROME, Sept. 4.—Denial was made here today of a report circulated last night that an attempt had been made to assassinate Premier Mussolini while he was motoring from Acquapendente to Rome, Sunday night.

The Tribuna today explains the report as having originated in a confusion of the premier's motor car party with two other automobiles which passed along the same road an hour after the head of the government had passed. The report, it says, was widely circulated in financial circles. It caused alarm on the stock exchange with consequent fluctuations in stock quotations.

According to the newspaper's explanation, two new motor cars, traveling from Brescia to Rome to be numbered and licensed by their new owners, were fired upon by an unidentified person when passing a sharp curve in the road between Radicofani and Acquapendente. One bullet passed through the second car at the height of a man's head but injured no one as only the driver was in the car.

Search for History Data Reveals Mate

BERKELEY, Sept. 4.—Sent to Spain to delve into the archives of that country for the University of California, Miss Jane Evelyn Swanson, honor student in history found romance tucked away among the musty volumes through which she searched.

Among the first to greet Miss Swanson when she arrived in Seville a year ago was Edward Everett Silvers, eastern college graduate and vice consul for the United States in Seville. Miss Swanson has returned to her home in Des Moines, Iowa, and is forgetting her research work in preparing a trousseau for her marriage to the American diplomat this fall.

DARROW PLANS KILLERS' SANITY TRIAL BY JURORS

Boys Developed Madness Since Arrest, Will Be Plea if Appeal Needed.

By EDWARD C. DERR,
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Sept. 4. — It has been definitely decided by attorneys for Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb to enter pleas that the two slayers of Robert Franks have become insane since their murder hearing started, should Chief Justice John R. Caverly sentence them to hang.

This final decision, revealed today to the United Press, is the "ace" card which Clarence Darrow, "old lion of the defense," is ready to play in a last effort to save the lives of his two young clients.

Under the Illinois law Caverly would be required to call a jury to decide whether Nathan and Richard have become insane.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Nathan Leopold Jr., who, with his chum, Richard Loeb, is awaiting sentence for kidnaping and killing young Robert Franks, expressed indignation over the making public by newspapers of a letter he had written to Clarence Darrow, chief of counsel for the defense, suggesting disposition of ornithological specimens and other of his belongings in case Judge John R. Caverly exacts the death penalty as punishment for the crime.

Leopold also had completed his plans for attempts to pierce the veil shrouding death, if he is hanged. Although he is an admitted atheist, he says he will not cast out any suggestion of the possibility of an after life until he has had an opportunity to demonstrate its invalidity. So he has prepared ten questions which he plans to attempt to answer by communicating with friends on earth, should he die on the gallows. The questions, which may be altered before being locked in a vault to be removed only after his death, follow:

Are the experiences of human life carried into the hereafter?

Is the intellectual or the spiritual the dominant note after death?

Is the absence of the physical being an advantage or a detriment to such intellectual or spiritual happiness?

Is the hereafter dimensional, as on earth, or is there complete omniscience?

Does one retain reactions to sensations registered on the mind previous to death?

Is life on earth a necessary precedent to life hereafter? If so, how long a life?

If the intellectual is dominant in the hereafter is earthly knowledge adequate or insufficient to its enjoyment?

Is life on earth a correct balance of rewards and penalties, or is there a higher judgment.

If life hereafter is spiritual are the cultural experiences on earth necessary? What of the savage mind?

What is happiness?

FOREST FIRE IN MONTEREY ZONE BEYOND CONTROL

Flames Split and Sweep Over Wooded Hills on Three Fronts.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 4.—The Deneca Creek fire, which has been burning in the northern end of the Monterey district of the Santa Barbara National forest for a week, today split into three sectors, and is burning on three widely-separated fronts, according to word received here last night by Forest Supervisor Chester E. Jordan following an investigating flight over the fire by an airplane from Crissy Field, San Francisco.

The blaze, which has burned between 12,000 and 16,000 acres since its inception, was heading toward Mount Carmel on the west; into the heavily wooded Ventana Mountains on the southwest, and toward Uncle Sam Mountain and Carmel Creek on the east.

Deputy Forest Supervisor William V. Mendelhall reported the situation as grave.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—With Colonel W. B. Greely, head of the U. S. forest service, in personal charge of the situation, federal fire fighters today were attempting to extinguish the brush fire which yesterday was brought under control in the San Gabriel canyon district of the Angeles National Forest north of here.

Andrew Gunsalus, who yesterday was arrested and confessed that his carelessly dropped match last Sunday started the fire in San Gabriel canyon, will face both county and federal charges, it was announced last night by S. J. Flintham, county forester.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 4.—The forest fire situation is worse at the present time than it was before recent rains, Fred E. Pape, supervisor of forestry, announced yesterday. With a number of dangerous fires started in many parts of the state the condition is liable to grow critical unless improvement in weather conditions reduces the fire hazard, Pape said.

BEFORE TWINS WERE BORN

Was Very Miserable. Felt Lots Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wyocena, Wis.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my twins were born because my sister used it and recommended it to me. I was so I could scarcely go about my daily work I was in such misery. But after I began taking the second bottle I was feeling lots better. I took three bottles and a half before I was confined and finished the bottle while I was in bed. I got up feeling fine and have taken care of the twins alone ever since. I recommend the Vegetable Compound highly and will sing its praises in the future."—Mrs. IDA GIEBITZ, Wyocena, Wis.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many mothers are left in a weakened and run-down condition after childbirth, and for such mothers the care of the baby is well-nigh impossible. Not only is it hard for the mother, but the child itself will indirectly suffer. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother both before and after childbirth. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and can be taken in safety by nursing mothers.

Forks of Eel River Dry at Sources

ALAMEDA, Sept. 4.—The north and south forks of the Eel river are absolutely dry at their sources, according to August P. Smiley, a resident of this city, who has just returned from a visit to the north. Smiley reports that although the forks each have different water sheds as far down as Dyerville, 200 miles distant from the sources, the water routes are merely creeks at this time.

WHAT A WOMAN SHOULD DO WHEN SHE IS WEAK AND NERVOUS

Thousands of Women Have Surprisingly Increased Their Strength, Energy and Endurance in Two weeks' Time by This Simple Experiment.

On account of the terrible weakness, nervousness and alarming symptoms, which are often produced by iron starvation of the blood, frequently the sufferer never suspects the real cause of her trouble but thinks she has some other ailment. As a result of iron starvation you may suffer from headaches, dizziness, shortness of breath or heart palpitation, pains across the back, loss of memory, weak will-power, melancholy or the "blues," disturbed digestion, loss of appetite, sleepless nights, night sweats and so on. In such cases do not wait until you go all to pieces and collapse in a state of nervous prostration but eat more spinach and green vegetables and take organic iron like Nuxated Iron with them for a while and see what a difference it makes. But be sure the iron you take is organic iron and not metallic iron which people usually take. Metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron, while organic iron like Nuxated Iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Beware of substitutes. Look for the name "Nuxated" on every package and the letters N. I. on every tablet. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. For sale by all druggists.—Advertisement.

Kept Awake by Nervous Heart

Many people are often kept awake for hours at night by a peculiar nervous feeling in the heart region. Sometimes the distress begins as soon as you lie down, but occasionally you are awakened out of a sound sleep by the heart fluttering or pounding. Such an attack may be accompanied by extreme nervousness or a terrible feeling of oppression. Perhaps you struggle and gasp for breath, wondering if each moment is your last on earth.

Most persons troubled in this way blame the heart, when in reality the condition may be due to gas in the stomach pressing against the heart. Where the discomfort is caused by gas, Eopa Gas Tablets will generally bring relief within a few minutes. They prevent gas from accumulating in the stomach and bowels and help to end the trouble permanently. Eopa Gas Tablets—price, $1.00 a package.

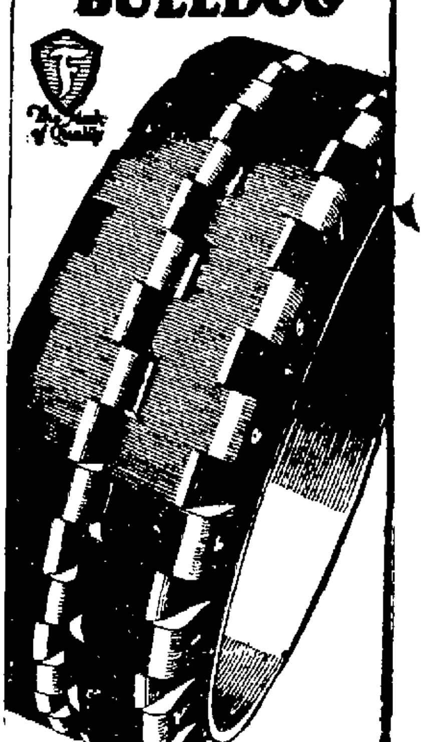
Firestone BULLDOG



"Replaced With the Firestone Bulldog and Gas Consumption Was Reduced"

R. D. Drew of Pioneer Sand and Gravel Co., of Seattle, Wash., unhesitatingly recommends the Firestone Bulldog.

"I have owned and operated dump trucks for the past ten years. During this time I have had experience with practically all of the best known makes of solid truck tires.

"In February of this year, I equipped with new rubber, not Firestone. Immediately my gas consumption averaged from 5 to 6 gallons per day more. In April I replaced this with the Firestone Bulldog and my gas consumption was reduced to a normal amount.

"In view of the performance of this equipment, with its wonderful traction ability, I unhesitatingly recommend the Firestone Bulldog Cushion Tire."—R. D. Drew.

Any of the dealers listed below will be glad to show you this sturdy tire and explain its unusual road-gripping features.

What does it cost to heat your home?

FIRST of all, was your home comfortably heated at all times last winter or was it just barely warmed now and then?

You can heat your home just as economically with gas as with any other fuel, besides enjoying the additional advantages of convenience and comfort.

With a gas heating system your home is heated throughout cold days or on chilly mornings and evenings, just as you may desire.

The cost is just the total of your gas bills less a reasonable amount for cooking and water heating. Our records show this to average less than $60.00 for the entire heating season for many five and six room homes.

There are gas radiators, radiant heaters warm air furnaces, steam and hot water boilers which you may install to economically heat your home.

La Follette's Funds Coming in Slowly

WASHINGTON, Sept 4—The problem of raising sufficient funds to finance various campaign activities confronted the regular bi-weekly conference today of the La Follette-Wheeler campaign committee. Contributions are coming in slowly, it was stated, expenditures are greatly exceeding receipts.

In an effort to speed up contributions the political campaign committee of the American Federation of Labor, which is working for the success of the La Follette-Wheeler ticket, has sent a 'call to action' to all trade union organizations in the country.

Davis Denies Labor's Vote Is "Delivered"

WESTBROOK, Maine, Sept 4—James J Davis, secretary of labor, declared in an address here last night that no group can control or deliver the vote of the American workingman. He declared that Senator La Follette has gathered about him the remnant of the Socialist party and a score of small groups of radicals and near radicals.

"The workers of this country can be depended upon to follow the American flag no matter who may wave the red banner of discontent," he said.

Secretary Davis declared that John W Davis is by chance an aspirant for the presidency by the default of leadership in the Democratic party.

T. & D. Boasts Singers, 62 and 10 Years Old

Fanchon & Marco's Travesty Has Duncan Sisters as Topic.

The oldest and youngest reputed vocal artists in America are appearing at the T. & D. theater this week in the travesty on the Duncan Sisters in "The Battle of Cicero," which is being staged by Fanchon & Marco.

J. Aldrich Libby, [illegible] who twenty-nine years ago introduced "After the Ball" to a receptive populace, is the senior of the time-divided duo. The famous sentimental ballad, which for years was the most popular piece of music in America and is now considered a classic, was first voiced by Libby. A baritone of rare quality, Libby gradually made his way from New York to San Francisco singing the song en route. It is said that his personality and voice was as much responsible for the ballad's success as may be attributed to its melody and [illegible].

In this week's Fanchon & Marco offering he is seen as the "brutal" traffic cop of Cicero, who "manhandled" Topsy and Eva Duncan and whom the sisters are alleged to have bitten until his 'little finger was positively raw.'"

Lionel Cole, [illegible] student at the Zion private school, is the junior member of the pair. He is seen as the page of the courtroom, and is heard in two vocal numbers. For a boy scarcely in his 'teens he has a voice that is remarkably resonant and voluminous.

TO BUILD COURTS.

VALLEJO, Sept. 4.—The board of education is to spend $2000 this month on two new tennis courts for the Vallejo high school. Bids for the courts will be opened before the end of the month.

Youthful Singer

LIONEL COLE, 12-year-old Oakland boy, who is singing in a Fanchon & Marco sketch at the T. & D. Theater this week.

Cities Warned Not to Keep All Auto Fines

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 4.—In a statement issued from the state division of motor vehicles by Chief Will H. Doris Keane as Czarina Proves Great Artistry

Actress Does Wonderful Interpretation in Most Exacting Role.

By WOOD SOANES.

Artistry, someone has written, can be measured most accurately in terms of versatility.

Which leads to Doris Keane and the quite remarkable thing she did at the Auditorium theater last night in the interpretation of Catharine in "The Czarina."

For two nights previous Miss Keane had been an inflammable Italian prima donna in "Romance," a temperamental creature of moods and fancies, a woman romantic to the core, passionate and petty; one who railed at her maid at one moment and before the spasm had subsided, embraced her with affection.

To the casual onlooker Miss Keane was doing more than playing a part. So smartly did the theatrical gown fit her that it would be difficult to succeed in an argument that she did not have warm Latin blood coursing through her veins and aiding her to understand the type she portrayed in the play.

DONS NEW MOODS.

And then, like a flash, she cast off the hoop skirts of the rival of Patti, donned the costly raiment of the empress of the Russias, and, in the doing, became a new woman, still a creature of moods perhaps but one far apart from the Latin of yesterday. Once more she sought romance, but this time more ruthlessly.

That the artist gave considerable study to this character as she must have to the other was obvious and interesting. Catharine was not a Russian by blood. Her Slavic temperament and impetuosity was an acquired thing resultant of association with the impressionable Slavs. Inherently she was phlegmatic, cool and calculating.

It was a fine line and one that would not be missed really had it not been drawn. But Miss Keane, aided by intelligent authors, Melchoir Lengyel and Lajos Biro, took full advantage of this curious characteristic. It must have been considerable of a mental strain, but it was accomplished without noticeable effort.

In the midst of her vamping of the young Russian officer whom she had elected to make a courtier she is confronted with an important matter of state. Without the flicking of an eyelash the Czarina (it is always difficult to recall that it was an actress playing a role) turned her attention to statesmanship and executed a brilliant coup in regard to the Turks.

CZARINA'S ROMANCES.

"The Czarina" is the story of this strange woman who made history in Russia and her many romances. It deals specifically with the case of young Count Alexis Czerne, who discovered a plot to dethrone the ruler and insisted on seeing her to break the news. His adventures at court and his final casting off in favor of the patient and perfumed French ambassador are discussed during the action of the piece.

Count Alexis was admirably played by Orville Caldwell, who has profited by his familiarity with the role since the opening in San Francisco and played it with even more polish and vigor than at the premier. He proved a splendid foil for Miss Keane and gave weight and character to the silly half-grown boy who made the fatal error of attracting the Czarina's attention. His was a really worth while performance.

Vernon Steele, as the French ambassador, was effective as the smooth and amorous diplomat, and William Burress gave a creditable performance of the Chancellor, constantly in hot water and low comedy. The balance of the company was inconsequential and forgotten in the brilliancy of the scenic investiture and the costumery of the star.

Marshal of Tracy Resigns Position

TRACY, Sept. 4.—John Madrid, city marshal here for a number of years, has resigned and gone to Oakland to make his home. The office is temporarily filled by Gus Rosin. Madrid was a hero of a death battle with Edgar Sargent, youthful bank robber, two years ago, between this city and Stockton. The youth held up the Lockeford bank and escaped in a stolen auto. He was halted by Madrid and Deputy Sheriff Jesse Wheatley. In the battle following Madrid was badly wounded in the right arm and Wheatley hovered between life and death for some time with two bullet wounds in his body. As he fell, however, Wheatly fired the shot which killed Sargent.

Oaklander Sentenced To San Quentin Term

WOODLAND, Sept. 4.—W. R. Clarke, on three years' parole out of the courts of Alameda county for passing bogus checks on the merchants of Oakland some eighteen months ago, was sentenced to the indeterminate term in San Quentin here yesterday by Superior Judge W. A. Anderson upon pleading guilty to passing a bad check for thirty dollars on Clover Brothers, Woodland merchants. Clarke pleaded guilty, but asked for clemency here. The facts of his [illegible] indiscretions were told the [illegible] and probation was denied.

Good Deer and Dove Hunting in Butte

OROVILLE, Sept. 4—Despite the fact that much of the forest is closed to the public because of the unusual fire menace this season, several Oroville huntsmen are reported to have bagged a buck on the opening date of the deer season.

Lucky hunters were Charles G. Thunen, Fred Thunen, Claude Crowe and Sam Knowles.

Good dove shooting is also reported with the first day of the season.

Crockett Man Held On Serious Charge

MARTINEZ, Sept. 4.—Gregorio [illegible] was brought to the county jail this morning by Constable J. J. Fox on a charge of seduction under promise of marriage. The prisoner is being held in the county pending his preliminary hearing, which has not yet been set.

It looks like the work of this conductor will be little or nothing today.

In the mail bag were discovered two stout envelopes, one from Joe Connell, the other from Frank Darien. The first:

"In compliance with my promise made to you on the ferry boat the other night am enclosing story of the Players' club's presentation of "Fashion" last night.

"Fashion" was produced with all the delightful atmosphere of the late forties when it was first presented. It is a polite satire on society of the period, played exactly as originally produced against settings represented from drawings from the original, furniture painted on back drops and atrocious green curtains.

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

"A Lucky Stone" is at Fischer's with Rice, Cady, North and Bayes.

"When it was first produced at the Park theater in New York in 1845 it had an unprecedented run of twenty-two consecutive performances. Revived by the Provincetown Players last season in New York it was an immediate hit and was moved up town.

"Songs of the period such as 'Call Me Pet Names, Dear,' 'Love's Illusion,' 'Take Back the Heart Thou Gavest,' 'Why Did They Dig Ma's Grave So Deep?' and others were sung throughout the performance and between the acts.

"Reginald Travers directed, and some of the players included Kathleen Norris, Templeton Crocker, Mrs. Mabel Gump, Richard Hotaling, Evelyn Wells, Ann O'Day, Mrs. Miriam Elkus, William S. Rainey, Mr. and Mrs. Farmer Fuller, Dudley Burrows, Frederick McNulty, W. Russell Cole and others.

"Carroll Alexander is attending to the stage settings."

Well, Who Is "F. D.," Anyway?

Now for Darien. He seems to be slightly incensed over a recent communication printed in this column and signed by one "F. D." who was annoyed at the 'starring system' now in vogue on our stage and attempted to start a controversy. Apparently the only one hit by the thing was Darien, whose friends suspected that he perpetrated the missive for reasons best known to himself. And so he writes:

"I have been asked by a number of persons if the 'F. D.' in one of your recent articles was written by me. Emphatically no. In the first place I would never hide behind my initials, and secondly, 'F. D.' is all wet as Clarence Kolb would say.

FORTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

The Royal Marionettes are at the Vienna Gardens in San Francisco. They are life size talking figures.

"Just think of the number of actors and actresses that have risen above the play, glorifying that play from the illumination of their rightful stardom, to wit: Richard Mansfield in 'The Parisian Romance,' Sarah Bernhardt in 'Camille', Joseph Jefferson in 'Rip Van Winkle' to say nothing of the younger generation.

"Of course we all have our ideals. Norman Fields is Otis Skinner in 'Francisca da Rimini'; Ruth Renick's, John Barrymore in 'Hamlet'; John Ivan's Maude Adams in 'L'Aiglon'; John Fee's, Forbes Robertson in 'Hamlet'; V. T. Henderson's, Kyrle Bellew as 'Romeo'; Leigh Willard's, Henry Irving in 'Louis XIV'. Hugh Knox has picked my choice. Mansfield in 'A Parisian Romance'. Lawrence White considers Lionel Barrymore in 'The Jest.'

"Does F. D. think stardom injured any of the above plays?"

EXITS AND ENTRANCES

James Forbes has written a new play called "Laurels," which will be one of the productions of the Dramatists Theater Inc. this year.

Marilyn Miller is speeding from Los Angeles to New York to rehearse for "Peter Pan." Dillingham is producing it.

Leon Gordon, author of "White Cargo," has written a new play called "Halt." Sounds like it might be about a traffic cop.

Josephine Victor is to play "The Pelican" in London this year and later will do the same for A. H. Woods in New York.

Monte Carter is to go into the Lyric in Portland for Keating and Flood this season replacing Ben T. Dillon, who has apparently decided to stick by his Los Angeles properties this winter.

Leon Errol may not play in "The Comic Supplement." It seems he has a notion that a piece called "Louis XIV" would suit him better and Sam Bernard is being considered for the other.

Elliott Dexter was advertising for a stage play recently. Now it appears he has selected "Havoc," a small cast show in which Henry Miller starred long since. He plans to play the coast towns first.

'Fools in Dark' Is Program at State

Heralded as an original production, "Fools in the Dark," which opened a four-day engagement at the State theater yesterday, more than lived up to its advance reports, for the capacity audiences which greeted its opening were unanimous in their opinions that it offers a great combination of thrills, laughs and romance.

Matt Moore and Patsy Ruth Miller are the stars and the supporting cast, headed by Tom Wilson, who offers a riotous blackface characterization, present excellent work.

A snappy vaudeville program offered in conjunction is headed by the Four Song Birds, presenting "Harmony Land," and Dunn & La Marr in "Kitchen-etting" both scored heavily. Others on the bill were Jack McGill, "The Globe Trotter," Morlan & Doran in "Surprises," and Jack and Marie Gray, "Versatilities."

Sunday will bring to the State as the screen feature John M. Stahl's production, "The Wanters," with a cast including Marie Prevost, Robt. Ellis, Gertrude Astor, Huntley Gordon, Louise Fazenda, and others.

Aged Chinese Kills Himself at Oroville

OROVILLE, Sept. 4.—Ah Sun, aged Chinese, who during recent years has been engaged as a laundryman, selected a spot south of Oroville near where a considerable Chinese colony once lived in the early gold days as the place to take his own life.

The lifeless body of the aged Chinese was found dangling from a tree. The branch selected to hold the rope was not sufficiently high to hold the body clear of the ground and the man apparently had pulled his feet up from the ground and died of strangulation.

South Sea Drama T. & D. Offering

All the scenes filmed in the South Seas and among the romantic islands is the promise of "The Marriage Cheat," which opens a week's run at the Oakland T. & D. theater Saturday. Adolphe Menjou, Leatrice Joy, Laska Winters and Percy Marmont are principals in the picture.

"The Marriage Cheat" is a story of a missionary who broke almost all of the commandments to protect the woman he loves, a white woman, disillusioned through marriage with a reprobate husband and who, after an unsuccessful attempt at suicide, is washed upon the island.

A yacht which carries the husband's carousing party is purposely wrecked in order to furnish the picture with the realism for which Ince pictures are noted.

Another of the "Leather Pushers" series, featuring Billy Sullivan, nephew of the ex-champion, John L., is included in the program. Fanchon & Marco will offer another "Idea," and the latest news weekly showing the Prince of Wales' reception and activities in America comprise the balance of the program. "Yolanda," starring Marion Davies, will be shown for the last times tomorrow.

Gloria Swanson On American Bill

Gloria Swanson, Mary Roberts Rinehart and Allan Dwan.

That's the combination awaiting patrons of the American theater who attend the opening performances Saturday of Gloria Swanson's latest picture, "Her Love Story," following the final showing Friday night of Rudolph Valentino in Monsieur Beaucaire."

"Her Love Story" provides Miss Swanson an entirely different type of role and gives her a chance to wear some of the stunning gowns she brought back from her recent trip to Paris.

Allan Dwan has taken advantage of the strong love theme with the result that Gloria gives a vivid screen portrayal of the girl who sacrificed everything for the man she loves. Ian Keith, who began his screen career with the star in "Manhandled," is her leading man in this picture.

In conjunction with the showing of "Her Love Story" the American will present David Pesetski, famed Russian pianist, in a fantasy, "Sonia's Love Song," a musical novelty combining stage and screen presentation.

Carmel Club Will Hold Art Exhibit

On Monday evening, September 15, there will be a reception and private view. The exhibit will be made up of original work by artists permanently or temporarily residing on the Monterey Peninsula or in its vicinity. The committee in charge of the affair is composed of Miss De Neale Morgan, chairman; A. J. Hammond and A. B. Champlin. The exhibit will continue until October 20, which includes Serra week.

MILLS COLLEGE SETS PROGRAM FOR FALL TERM

Dean Hart of U. C. to Tell of Impressions of Europe; Students Plan Fetes.

Dr. Walter Morris Hart, dean of the University of California, will speak to Mills College students Wednesday on his travels in Europe during the past summer months. This is the first of a series of autumn events on the Mills calendar.

Each fortnight thereafter, the students in the residence halls receive their friends at teas, the dates being: September 17, College Hall; October 1, Warren Olney hall; October 15, Orchard House; October 29, Meadow House.

The departmental and interdepartmental clubs have started their programs and meetings for the year; the Student Forum and the Faculty Forum have also announced their outline of work.

The annual Shakespearan play this year will be given October 17 and 18. Tryouts for "Romeo and Juliet" have been held and the entire cast will be announced shortly. The play is under the direction of Mrs. Narian Stebbins, of the English Teaching Staff.

Among the purely social events scheduled are the Rresidence Hall dances. The dates for these have been set as follows:

Mills Hall, September 17; College Hall, October 11; Warren Olney Hall, October 25; Orchard and Meadow House, November 1.

The annual "Junior Prom" will be given in the ball room of Hotel Oakland, November 14. The Mills College Concert Series of four concerts will open October 31, with Louis Graveure, Belgian baritone.

Use Lemons to Whiten Skin

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.—Advertisement.

"The trail took us speedily into a forest-temple. Long years of labor by artists, the most unconscious of their skill, had been given to modelling these columnar firs. Unlike the pillars of human architecture, chipped and chiselled in bustling, dusty quarries, and hoisted to their site by sweat of brawn and creak of pulley, these rose to fairest proportions by the life that was in them, and blossomed into foliated capitals three hundred feet overhead."

M'CLATCHY TALKS ON EXCLUSION

V. S. McClatchy, secretary of the California Joint Immigration Committee, representing four state organizations — American Legion, State Federation of Labor, State Grange and Native Sons of the Golden West—spoke at the luncheon of the Mutual Business club today on the new Immigration Act and the provision thereof which includes aliens ineligible to citizenship. By request he spoke particularly of those phases of the subject which are of direct interest to the business man of California.

Speaking of the possible effects of the exclusion feature on our relations with Japan in peace and commerce he declared there would be no ill effects.

Referring to demonstrations of resentment in Japan, he said they were provoked in instances by wounded pride, inspired, however, by misinformation as to the facts. He said:

"She promptly stopped boycott of American commerce at the same time because if this nation retaliated Japan's commerce would be practically destroyed. Between 35 and 40 per cent of all Japan's export and import business is with the United States. Of this nation's total business with other nations only 8 or 9 per cent is with Japan. Two-thirds of all Japan's export business consists of raw silk shipped to the United States and cotton fabrics manufactured by Japan for sale in Asia, the raw cotton therefore coming entirely from the United States. Trouble with the United States would wipe out at once all this business."

'Good' gas' always from the RED, WHITE & BLUE PUMP

These dealers with the red, white and blue pump and the Red Crown sign, have confidence in the gasoline they serve. It's a confidence based on the preference shown "Red Crown" by the motoring public—and by its power and mileage performances.

For example, in the last Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy Run, ordinary stock cars made from 18 miles to 29 miles per gallon of "Red Crown" over a strenuous 414 mile course. Performance! Economy! You'll always be glad if you use "Red Crown".

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1924

SECRETARY WILBUR HERE.

Curtis D. Wilbur, until recently Chief Justice of the California Supreme Court and now a member of President Coolidge's cabinet, has returned to his home state today as the Secretary of the Navy, mixing business with pleasure.

The Secretary's party is scheduled to arrive this evening. It will be entertained by San Franciscans tomorrow and in Oakland on Saturday. While in the bay region Secretary Wilbur will inspect the Mare Island yard, the Goat Island plant, the Alameda site, and other properties.

Oakland's main interest is in the visit to be paid to this city on Saturday, when the Secretary of the Navy will speak before the Chamber of Commerce at Hotel Oakland. More than 3000 letters have been sent out calling attention to the affair and the responses already on hand indicate the meeting will be one of the largest the city has seen.

There will be pleasure in welcoming the distinguished son of California who is in his home state this week for the first time since he left to assume the post as head of the Navy Department and those who greet him will profit from what he has to say. There are important problems before the Navy Department, reorganization questions, talk of a base at Cordova, the gun elevation discussion, and the large new program which has come with the shifting of the area of greatest import from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The Eastbay is glad to take a prominent part in extending the welcome to Secretary Wilbur.

LABOR SECRETARY'S VIEW.

"From every angle our industrial situation is most favorable." Thus Secretary Davis of the Department of Labor sums his review of conditions in America.

Labor Day found practically all of the American people at work. It marked also a period in which there is no industrial dispute. The contrast with the conditions a few years ago and with those conditions which obtain in the European countries is apparent.

"It is natural that we should still feel a few lingering effects of the greatest war in history. But with remarkable swiftness and rapidity we are bringing about necessary adjustments to a new economic outlook. In every way present conditions on this Labor Day are more than satisfactory, and the outlook for the future is even brighter."

SOME ELECTION POSSIBILITIES.

It is the opinion of the New York Law Review that there lurks in the present political situation a possibility that the country will be without a President for some time after March 4, 1925.

Should the third party vote precipitate a condition in which there would be no majority in the Electoral College, it is agreed the election would move into the House of Representatives, where the vote would be taken on the three highest candidates and where each state would have one ballot. A deadlock here, as has been pointed out many times, would be a distinct possibility. The House must act by March 4. If it has made no choice by that time the Senate, with its power to select a Vice-President, assumes the responsibility. There is no provision indicating how long the deadlock in the Senate may last. Of this the Law Review says:

> Failing the election of a president or vice-president by the electoral college, and failing the election of a president by the House prior to March 4, 1925, and failing the election of a vice-president by the Senate prior to March 4, 1925, what would happen? In our opinion the nation would be without a president, because the presidential term is expressly limited by the constitution to four years. We do not concur in the view advanced by some that in such event the principles of the common law could be invoked which would continue President Coolidge in office until the election and qualification of a successor. Nor do we agree with the opinion that if no president or vice-president were elected prior to March 4, 1925, by any constitutional method, Secretary of State Hughes would become president under the terms of the so-called act of presidential succession.

The Act of Presidential Succession referred to applies for succession in case of removal, death, resignation or inability of both the President and Vice-President and the view of the legal journal is that the failure to elect a President because of a deadlock would not be held to be his removal or indicate inability.

Without a President most of the administrative business of the Nation would move forward but the country could not make treaties, appoint ambassadors, or make appointments to Federal courts. The Army and Navy would be without titular chiefs and it would be a question as to whether or not Congress could legislate. Another possibility is indicated in the concluding paragraph of the Law Review's article:

> But it is almost impossible to imagine that, failing election of a president or vice-president by the electoral college, and failing the election of a president by the House of Representatives by March 4th, the Senate, by a majority vote, could not agree upon one or the other of the two leading candidates for vice-president, who would then become president in fact. Should the House of Representatives thereafter attempt to elect a president, interesting questions of official authority and jurisdiction might arise which only the supreme court of the United States could finally determine.

If the choice, this year, should go to the Senate it would not be unlikely that the Democrats would be given the third party support in the election of Charles W. Bryan, who would thereupon move into the White House, which has long seemed so attractive a place to his elder brother. The hopes of gaining something out of this jumble of possibilities is the main hope of the third party sponsors.

AIRPLANE MAP-MAKERS.

The airplane has proved its worth as a map maker and the army pilots are engaged in a peace-time work which will save this country hundreds of thousands of dollars. Within eight years the Government will have an accurate detail map of the entire country.

In an article by Stewart Jackson, one of the Washington correspondents of the TRIBUNE, it is asserted that two camera men in airplanes can do in forty minutes' work that would take six men on the ground four months to complete. And the cost of the airplane work would be but one per cent of that of the ground men.

Parts of this country have been furnished with accurate geological survey maps, but no more than a beginning has been made. Working on a schedule as contemplated before the airplane demonstrated its worth in the field the Government planned to complete the job in thirty years. Announcement is made that eight planes will finish the task by 1932.

Close to four million square miles are to be photographed from an altitude of approximately 12,000 feet, which will bring the scale to about three inches to the mile. These photographs will be traced, the contours for altitude inserted, and the maps will be complete.

Most of the European countries are mapped and the value of this information was demonstrated in war time. In the United States the geological maps already made have proved their worth many times, for they have simplified the work of engineers and others who have located dam sites or developed power and irrigation projects.

As one more instance of the way this country is making splendid use of its limited fleet of airplanes the map-making project may be cited.

One more sign of an early winter. Fifty prime sprig ducks, advance guard of the good company which will crowd the lake, have dropped from the skies into Merritt. If the ducks can bring the rain to fill the reservoirs and green the lawns they will be entitled to extra crumbs and comfort. A man from Livermore says he shot a skunk and that its heavy coat of fur denotes a severe winter season. The goosebone, the birch bark, and the corn silk are in agreement. And, of course, if it does not rain—as the song says—there is Hatfield!

There should be a fortune awaiting for the man who discovers something to encourage the growth of sideburns on some of the hopeful Dons.

LISTENING.

One merit of radio is that it is teaching millions to listen who were not letter-perfect in that fine art before its coming. When there is that well-known "man with a message" or the musical artist of feeling and a soul, the "radio fan" listens with a concentration that educates him to hear more than the sound that issues from the loud speaker to the silent group before it. The habit of giving respectful attention to the inanimate instrument grows and is confirmed, so that we learn how to listen to other human beings—including even the members of our own families, junior or senior.

For though we are social and gregarious and commonly enjoy being communicative, we are usually not [illegible] at hearing others as we are at telling our own affairs and "thinking out loud" on the assumption that what is of such keen concern to ourselves ought to be interesting to others. What "every woman knows" is that it is no trouble to get a man to talk if she invites him to pour into her sympathetic ear his shop talk or his personal ambition. Perhaps he would sooner cross the line between mere acquaintance and the inner reality of friendship if in his turn he would be mute and give her a chance to spread out the treasures of her mind on the flattering assumption that she has one, or at least give voice to her own individuality.

A listener of the ideal type does more than sit passively silent. You cannot tell from the static attitude of certain persons whether they merely endure or whether they sensitively apprehend. Merely to be quiet while another speaks is not to listen. The true listener is a stimulating presence. Every platform speaker knows the difference between two sorts of audiences. In one he finds a quickening reaction that incites his own mental processes. In the other he discerns only the stolid patience of those who seem to remain in their seats merely because it is less effort to stay than to rise and depart.

We applaud orators; we sometimes elect them to political office for no better reasons than that they talk glibly. It is a relief now and then to come upon a statesman whose influence seems to be in an inverse ratio to his taciturnity.—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE CONNING TOWER

EXPERIENCE.

I stood, one time, so close to Guinivere,
I watched her tears fall hotly on the spot,
Where the sharp armor, pressing cruelly near,
Marked the beloved flesh of Launcelot;
Iseult's white fingers round the cup, the look
Eurydice flung piteous down to hell;
I lived between the covers of a book
With these, musing how deep I loved and well.

Ah, dear my love, I played a happy part
Until you swept my pretty masks aside
And, gazing into my unknowledged heart,
Read at a glance how bravely I had lied.
Come, hold me close and say before you go,
Were there some things fair Helen did not know?

How eagerly the crowd inhales
The stuff about the Prince of Wales!

In a democratic country, where one man is as good as the next—and thinks he is a shade better than the next—every detail about the Prince is absorbed. Either the reading public is avid for such stuff or newspaper editors think the public is—possibly both. At any rate, ours is a doubt that he is an extraordinary young man. It seems that he put in what reporters are fond of terming a busy day.

If a reporter had been assigned to our movements the day the Prince was putting in that exhausting day, he would have had to chronicle the facts that we matched for a three-handed breakfast and lost, a thing that would discourage nine out of ten men of various ages. Then, through much traffic, we drove downtown and after ten minutes found a place, no larger than a man's hand, to park in. Arriving at the office, we plunged, as Qwerty would say, into a mass of mail that had accummulated in our absence, and found it mostly fatuous and dull. One by one the staff called to ask how it felt to be back; that meant twenty-seven different answers, all of them lies—a task that would tire ten [illegible] eleven. Then there was a talk with Tom Smith, the demon linotyper, in which he told us all about his vacation. A drive to Forest Hills along Queens Boulevard was something that would have wearied even a Prince; and to take the service line in a three-set match might tire thirty-two out of thirty-three Kings. Correct us if our figures are wrong.

To drive two tennis players named George King and William Johnston back to town was no easy task, though it did not weary our hero. Nor did a dinner, followed by a spirited game of anagrams, exhaust him. And when, at 12:20 he got into bed and read fifty-two pages of Miss Ethel M. Kelley's new book, "Wings," and said to himself as he turned out the light, "If it's as good as this all the way through, it's a swell book," he may have put in a day the details of which it would tire most to read, but a day which, life being what it is, is far from difficult and wearying. The only thing that made us tired was the suggestion that a day like the Prince's could tire a man of thirty.

Lament.

I cannot strike away,
Eager though I be,
The stiffly binding rhythms
That were bred in me.

My father played me Bach;
My mother, Beethoven;
The rhythms that I was rocked to
Were very sternly woven.

Had I been sung Stravinsky
When I was a baby
I should now be writing
Free verse—maybe.

These Shifting Scenes in Winnipeg.

The other day a constable here stopped a party of tourists from Chicago, "the Murder-a-Day" city, who were on their way to the great, open, wild and woolly West. He searched the tourists for weapons and found three revolvers, which he seized, promising to return them to their owners when on their way back to Chicago, where they would need them, he said, more than in this city.

Great as the blow must be to the millions of readers of James Oliver Curwood, Zane Grey, John Hendryx, etc., the truth must be told: The Royal Northwest Mounted Police stationed in Winnipeg ride around on motorcycles.

The most universally tenacious thing seems to be habit. Even in Winnipeg, where you can buy beer, brandy or any brand of booze from the Provincial Government by bottle or case, may people prefer to sip it illegally by the glass with their foot on the railing of the old-time bar.

JUST FOLKS

DRUDGERY.

If there is a task that you're eager to do
You will never, by wishing, achieve it;
You must stick to your duty until it is through
For you're not a success if you leave it;
If there is a mountain you're eager to climb
Just take this brief hint from my rhyming,
You can make it, my boy, with one step at a time;
But you won't if you ever stop climbing.

The way out of duties you don't like to do
Is just to get busy and do them;
To whimper and grumble won't change them for you,
It's quicker to buckle down to them;
Oh, this is the simplest of lessons and yet
So many, it seems, will not learn it:
The best and the surest way Fortune to get
Is to turn in and hustle and earn it.

The way to the end of the road may seem long
And you'll reach it by keeping on walking;
Your heart must be stout and your legs must be strong
And you mustn't waste precious hours talking;
There is little which comes to a man with a rush,
He must work when his spirit is fainting;
Michael Angelo gave us things from his brush
But he did it by constantly painting.

If you would write books you must sit down and write,
For the unwritten dream's never heard of;
Had Shakespeare not toiled with his pen through the night,
Then his plays we'd have never a word of;
There is nothing worth while man has learned how to do,
However at last you may view it,
But means drudgery, drudgery, many a day through
And the will and the spirit to do it.

THE STAY-AT-HOME VOTE.

Mrs. O. J. Hammel, president of the Atlantic County League of Women Voters, has evolved a remedy for political apathy. Appalled, as are many others, by the fact that less than half the potential voters go to the polls, she advocates fining absentees $100 each.

But this is a surface cure for a deep-seated condition. The majority of citizens of voting age who fail to exercise their right of suffrage will be found lacking in information concerning issues and candidates. Voting under compulsion would not affect their essential negligence. Knowing little about what was going on, they could only confuse the result by casting random ballots. Too many random ballots are cast as it is by people who enter the polling booths prepared on only one or two choices. Having indicated these choices, they are likely to fill in the remaining squares as fancy indicates.

Perhaps a small fee to be paid for the privilege of voting might be of more avail as an incentive to voters than a fine for non-participation. People are inclined to value what they must pay for. But the only real antidote to election apathy is political education. The man who knows what he has to gain and lose will take the trouble to vote.—New York World.

PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE

By DR. W. A. BRADY.

SEPTICEMIA.

Septicemia is the usual medical term for the condition which is more familiar to the layman as acute blood poisoning. Many erratic notions, and dangerous notions they are, still cling to the idea of blood poisoning in the lay mind, and these wrong notions are maintained chiefly by the gossip of ignorant people and the unrestrained play which newspaper reporters and contributors are permitted in the way of putting their imagination into print. For example, there is no dye which can possibly cause blood poisoning. No case of blood poisoning has ever been caused by rust of verdigris or paint or stain or coloring matter or rouge or cosmetic or hair dye or metallic substance, though it is of course true that chemical poisons are sometimes present in hair dyes, cosmetics and the like and persons using such things are liable to poisoning. Septicemia or acute blood poisoning is caused only by germs getting into the blood. The germs responsible in most cases of septicemia are the common pus producing types, such as the streptococci and staphylococci, and these germs gain entrance either directly through some trifling wound of skin or mucous membrane or from some septic focus where they have already found a local footing, as in a "gathering in the ear" or tonsilitis or an "ulcerated tooth." The more striking cases of septicemia occur in persons who have had some trifling blister, scratch, cut or puncture of the skin which has not received proper immediate surgical care or first aid treatment. The deadly germs of septicemia are invisible, but ubiquitous and no respecters of ordinary personal cleanliness, so that it is well to remember that the danger of blood poisoning, although remote, is to be guarded against in every instance of injury or breaking of the skin or mucous membrane, no matter how trifling the injury may seem.

Just why some of us, at least some of the time, have the capacity to resist septic infection of this kind, while others, at least part of the time, seem to have lost that natural immunity or power of resistance, is a question which cannot be finally answered at present. But I venture to suggest here why small wounds heal more promptly in some apparently well persons than in others, or why such wounds "fester" and heal but slowly in some persons. I think it is principally a question of asepsis, surgical cleanliness, proper immediate first aid care. Surgical cleanliness and ordinary esthetic cleanliness have practically nothing in common. I have tried to explain the vital difference between these two kinds of cleanliness many times. There is room here to say just this: Disease germs never travel or forage for prey but go only where [illegible] invisible they are often present on surfaces which are esthetically clean. For instance, [illegible] fingers, or your family box of salve.

It is out of place to attempt to describe septicemia here. But we should all know the warning signals, the signs of beginning blood poisoning, which are as follows: Onset of pain, throbbing, swelling or redness about the wound some hours after the injury. Reddish streaks following the lymph channels up the arm or leg from the wound. Chilliness, feverishness, malaise.

WATERFRONT SUB-LEASING AUTHORIZED

Parr Company to Share Dock Frontage With Factory; Improvement Association Asks Charter Amendment

After extended negotiations, the city council today gave its approval to the sub-lease from the Parr Terminal company to Stanley Hilles, Inc., a concern which has desired to use part of Parr's western waterfront territory for manufacturing machine parts and "for other purposes." The "other purposes" is admitted to have hung up negotiations for some time, but it is asserted that these purposes will be the manufacture of various products.

Parr applied for permission to make this sub-lease six months ago. The new industry, says Parr, will assist materially in the development of the western front, as it will invite water commerce.

The Western Waterfront Industries Association, of which Parr is a member, brought in a resolution simultaneously to the council, urging a charter amendment which will permit fifty-year leases on the Oakland waterfront instead of the present shorter ones. The resolution was filed but will be brought up later.

According to many officials, a future battle may come out of the waterfront lease policy, as some officials complain that long-term leases are a curse to the city, while others assert that no industries can establish themselves or invest heavily unless they are granted a long enough lease to make the investment worth while.

Cabin Boy's Pay Causes Sailors To Desert Craft

German Ship Stranded Here as U. S. Officers Search for 42 Runaways.

Somewhere in Oakland forty-two men, members of the crew of the German freighter Luise Hemsoth are wandering about looking for work and dodging immigration inspectors while a 2500 ton freighter is tied up waiting for a crew. It all came about because a cabin boy was able to command more money for his services on the German ship Luise Hemsoth than could the navigating officer of the ship.

The Luise Hemsoth, in command of Captain Hagenon, arrived from European ports two days ago with a large general cargo. Shortly after tying up at the Howard Terminal dock the cabin boy of the ship took French leave, departing into the interior. An American boy was hired but his wages, as called for under the American shipping laws, amounted to $75 a month. This was almost double what the chief officer and chief engineer were receiving and was more than even Captain Hagenon saw in his monthly pay check.

The result was that when the men of the deck and engine room crews heard of the pay they concluded they wanted no more of the German service even though one could purchase more with a mark in Germany than with a quarter here. They left the ship almost in a body. This despite the fact that a guard was maintained at the gang-plank.

Forty-two American seamen are being booked to fill their places for all of the men and officers with the exception of Captain Hagenon, his chief engineer and two deck officers have gone.

The money being paid out to the seamen as wages is making the officers weep because they do not have the same rating.

'GAMBLING' ROW STIRS CANDY MEN

Charges of Confectioners' Body Held Move to Bar Competition; Discussion Laid Over for One Week

Charges between representatives of rival candy interests last night enlivened a general meeting in Acting Mayor Frank Colbourn's office, where officials of the Western Confectioners' Association and representatives of the police force and the district attorney's office were gathered to discuss the campaign against "candy gambling" which the candy association is waging.

As a result of the squabble, the matter was set over one week. Colbourn asked the district attorney to procure a ruling on candy-gambling laws. He also demanded that the association build some specific program and not "vague generalities."

Eastbay candy manufacturers, not members of the organization which is waging this coast-to-coast campaign, alleged that the association members were "calling in the police because they were unable to compete otherwise." This charge was voiced by A. W. Palmer of the Camp Candy company, and was hotly contradicted by association members, starting a general row.

The battle centered on a 5-cent chocolate bar, on sale in most candy stores, where the child who wins the package with the number 13 is entitled to send to the factory and get a radio set. The meeting then worked through cigar coupons, dish prizes, rings, cheap jewelry and toys. Varying interpretations of the law were offered by George Cardinet, M. Matzger, J. A. Balger and Eugene Gimbal. The 1908 ordinances, it was alleged, can be stretched to stop all candy gambling. The district attorney says he will look into it.

BLUNT NOTE BY HUSBAND FREES WIFE

Mrs. Mary Hale Sturges, Piedmont Matron, Given Divorce; Property Settlement Made Out of Court

Fortified by a letter couched in exceedingly blunt language, Mary Hale Sturges, Piedmont society matron, 232 Wildwood avenue, today applied for and received a decree of divorce from V. K. Sturges, head of the old Sturges Tire and Rubber Company, recently reorganized. Superior Judge James G. Quinn granted the decree on grounds of desertion.

Mrs. Sturges told of her husband's leaving home first in May, 1920, and of a subsequent reconciliation in November, 1921. Again in May, 1922, he left the family home and the following month wrote her the letter in question in which he said:

"After being away from you for eighteen months I find I no longer care for your company but prefer the company of others.

Signed "V. G. STURGES."

Mrs. Sturges said that by a property agreement reached out of court after the first separation she was to be paid $300 a month alimony and that Sturges kept up the payments through the period of reconcilliation and after the second separation but recently has failed to make the payments until he now owes her $2300.

Sturges came into considerable notoriety last year when he was arrested on a charge of burglary after taking an automobile from a garage at 1351 Fernside boulevard, Alameda. His former secretary, Ruth Young, swore to the complaint, claiming ownership of the machine, and after several continuances the case was dismissed for lack of evidence. Several civil suits were then filed by Miss Young and Sturges, the ownership of two autos, some stock and a considerable amount of personal property being involved. These were also dismissed, it being announced that Sturges had settled by turning the cars over to Miss Young.

In addition to an alimony allowance of $300 a month, the property settlement carries ownership to the wife of shares of stock in the Sturges rubber company which will be replaced by the stock in the reorganized concern, it is understood.

TO LECTURE ON SCHOOLS.

The Oakland High Twelve club luncheon, Monday, at the Peerless Cafe, 510 Seventeenth street, will be addressed by Clarence Reed on the subject of "Keep the Schools Free."

Chichester, Found Sane By Jury, Spurn Wife, Who Faints in Courtroom

Broker Retains Freedom By 9 to 3 Vote; Silent Concerning Plans.

When the jury this afternoon brought in a verdict of 9 to 3 declaring Paul Chichester, San Francisco broker, sane, Chichester broke down and wept. His wife ran across the room to him and they embraced and then Chichester turned suddenly from her and left the room. Mrs. Chichester fainted and was carried into the judge's chambers while the court was in an uproar.

Chichester left the courtroom for the emergency hospital to gather together his belongings without paying any further attention to his wife. He refused to comment on his domestic relations and said simply:

"I'm mighty glad to be out of this mess, which is the worst I was ever in."

The jury, according to information learned in the courtroom after the verdict, started the voting at 7 for declaring him sane and 5 for declaring him insane. The final verdict was 9 to 3 for his sanity.

Judge J. A. Smith had warned the spectators against any demonstration and the verdict was received quietly, but when Mrs. Chichester fainted the crowd broke into an uproar.

MAKES ARGUMENT.

five minutes' duration Chichester summed up his defense. His remarks were punctuated throughout by the sobs of his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Chichester, who has been a spectator throughout the week and more of trial.

Chichester denied the allegations of the prosecution that he had committed any crimes and said that his conscience did not hurt him for anything that he had done.

"If I am suffering from anything it is from the double cross," he declared to the jury, continuing:

"Love is something that cannot be bought and cannot be held once it starts to leave. When that time comes it leads to queer byways in the road of human endeavor."

The intricacies of deals on the stock exchange and brokers' methods of business, together with numerous telegrams, marked the closing hours of the Chichester examination yesterday afternoon.

The session was not without smiles, tears and highly dramatic moments. These were furnished while Ernest C. Brown, head of the American Finance and Commerce company, was on the stand.

Chichester charges, as a defense to the insanity allegation, that an effort is being made to "railroad" him to the asylum and that his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Chichester, 125 Staten road, is being assisted in this attempt by Brown, a former business associate.

WIFE COLLAPSES.

During the questioning of Brown Mrs. Chichester collapsed and was carried from the court to the chambers of Superior Judge J. A. Smith. She was revived in about twenty minutes, returning to sit through the rest of the hearing. Chichester sent a bottle of smelling salts in to his wife.

Among the telegrams introduced while Brown was on the stand was one sent from Montreal by Chichester, which read:

"Accept nomination provided you wire immediately enough jack to pay all collect telegrams I have received. Have established Canadian border control at terrific expense and suggest sending Paul Skinner to take charge of liquor sampling with M. C. Sabine as official guard and H. Harris as collector.

"HON. PAUL CHICHESTER."

WIFE LEAVES MATE TO FIND 'LOST' CHILD

Believed to be searching for a daughter she claims was taken from her shortly after birth, Mrs. Johanna E. Koss, 41, was reported missing today by her husband, Frank Koss, 153 Octavia street.

Koss states that about five years ago, following the birth of her second boy, his wife was not allowed by attendants to see her baby for about five weeks. When Mrs. Koss finally regained her strength, and the child was given to her, she claimed it was not hers, saying that she had given birth to a girl, not a boy. Ever since then, according to Koss, she has maintained that the boy is not her child.

On August 24, while staying at the Eastbay auto camp grounds, Mrs. Koss disappeared and has been missing ever since. Koss states that he believes his wife is somewhere in the bay region, searching for the baby girl she believes is her daughter.

Mrs. Koss is about 5 feet, 5 inches tall; weighs 145 pounds; has a light complexion, with brown hair and brown eyes. When last seen she wore a dark blue coat and sailor hat.

Missing Girl Is Sought by Mother

Believed to have gone to Los Angeles to marry a man she has been going around with, Katie Muyo, 15, of 871 Campbell street, was reported missing by her mother, Mrs. Kate Muyo.

The girl, who has been missing since Tuesday, is described as being 5 feet, 5 inches tall, weighs 150 pounds and has dark brown hair and brown eyes. She had on a white and orange dress and black shoes and stockings.

A lady walked into our office the other day, from whom we had not heard for five years. She had been in China. During all this time her money was taken care of but she had neglected to send us her address.

When we said that we had often wondered where she was, she said, "Oh, I knew that my money was safe with you. It always had been before."

Our long record merits this confidence.

The Homing Loft

HAYWARD, Sept. 4.—Only ten out of more than fifty birds have returned to their lofts from the young pigeons' race conducted Sunday under the auspices of the Hayward Homing Pigeon club. The race was from Edgewood, this state, to Hayward, a distance of about 250 miles.

Forest fires, haze and smoke in the valley districts, in the path of the birds, is believed the reason for non-appearance. Whether the fliers have been destroyed or only delayed is not yet known. The race has proved the worst, from a standpoint of lost birds, held this season.

An entry of Clay Jaynes finished first in the contest, while a bird owned by Frank Silver gained second place. Pigeons of C. R. King and Albert Debreau finished third and fourth respectively.

Wright pitched a great game allowing the Sugar Town boys two hits, a single in the fourth by Olivetti and a double by Maddes in the eighth. Lane and Del Monte handled fourteen chances in perfect shape. Ralzeley Greathouse and Walter Lane secured circuit clouts on hits that should have gone for singles when Louis Smaker let the ball get away from him in left field. Babe Driscoll connected for two safeties, a single and double.

Wise hurled a good brand of ball for the [illegible] scattered. Both pitchers retired eight batters on strikes.

Brentwood stopped Pittsburg's winning streak by taking the long end of a 5 to 2 score.

Concord took Zenith Mills into camp by a 7 to 6 score. Jimmy Sheahan featured in the victory with two home runs. The second came in the ninth inning with a runner on the path and sewed up the game for the Concordites.

Concord team, favored by the breaks, defeated the Zenith Mill and Lumber Company Sunday at Concord. Lay and Coyne both pitched good ball. Sheahan with two homers was the star of the day, driving in enough runs to defeat the Zeniths.

Krenna with a double and two singles, R. Dreisbach with three singles and Starasinich with a homer and double were the other leading stickers.

O.A.L. Aquatic Teams Prepare For Title Swim

Technical High Title Will Be Menaced by Strong University Team.

The annual O. A. L. swimming meet to be held tomorrow at the Idora park pool is causing the several teams from the Oakland high school to put on the final training preparations. Athletes from Tech, Oakland and University utilize the Idora pool nightly for their practice.

Technical high, last year's winner of the city tank championship, will enter the competition this year with five letter men to carry its colors. Wilmont Harbridge, Byron Atkinson, Wilson Tripp, Carydon Peck and Bill Platt are the experienced swimmers who will attempt to retain the title for Tech.

The Broadway squad, under the direction of Coach Maurice Roach, should make a clean sweep in the sprint events if the veterans repeat their performance of last year. Atkinson and Platt are the aquatic stars who will be entered in the 100 and 50-yard dashes. In the breast stroke the Purple and Gold will also be represented by a promising pair when Tripp and Peck take the water. Wilmont Harbridge specializes in plunging.

Philip York, captain-elect, is ineligible this year for O. A. L. competition and will be missed in the 100 and 220 swims. Bill Platt was elected captain last week to succeed him.

The University high team will also enter a likely bunch of water cleavers in the meet. Coach Hindman had his proteges in trim and expects to give the title-holders a real battle.

Johnny Wynkoop, last year's tank captain and star 220 and 100-yard man, is one of the best prospects for the team. Jack Samples, another sprinter, is also counted on to get some points for the Blue and Gold school, as he was high point man for University in last year's O. A. L. meet.

Others out for the aquatic team who are showing ability are Jack Banfield, Crellin Fitzgerald, Jack DuFrane and Ed Sibbetts.

Pommer, official scorer, following a check of the tape of the electrical scoring machine. Milton had been given second place and Comer third.

A loss of a lap for Comer in operation of the scoreboard was said by the official to have caused the error. As a result of the reversal of positions the $4500 purse will go to Comer and Milton will receive $2500.

Bob White and Mortie Dutra won the amateur-professional event held yesterday.

Oliver Mitchell returned to form yesterday and the Seals defeated the Senators again by a scort of 7 to 3. Thompson started for the visitors but was taken out in the seventh. Peters, who followed, was rudely treated and lasted less than an inning. Vinci finished up the game. Manager Bert Ellison, of the Seals, hit safely four times and drove in the same number of runs.

Four Clubs in Hot Fight to Escape Cellar

THE greatest scramble in the history of the Pacific Coast League to escape the dark, dark basement is on this week with four clubs clawing and mauling in an effort to get to the sidewalk—at least. This morning the Beavers were in the cellar with a percentage of .464 while the Angels, in fifth place, had a mark of .471. In between are Salt Lake .468 and Sacramento .467. One day's results may drop the fifth club into the basement and boost the eighth to fifth place.

Grist from the Sport Mill

BY BOB SHAND

The Oaks have at least one loyal fan in Los Angeles. His name is Alexander Hughes and he writes as follows:

"Please send me The TRIBUNE every day as I am anxious to read all you write about the Oaks. I rooted for that outfit for twelve years and then just as soon as I move away from town they start winning. People down here look for the Oaks to win and I'm sure pulling for them. Los Angeles is a nice town but they have a poor ball club. I've got a nice bet on the Oaks with my uncle, Johnny Jennings, who used to be in the College Inn."

Johnny admits he has one end of the bet but says he will be pleased to lose it if the Oaks cop the bunting.

Floyd Johnson, who was a sensation in the east two years ago is not going so well now. He was decisively defeated by Tiny Herman in his last start and has been laid on the shelf for at least a month. Tommy Simpson tried to get Johnson to box Nick Newman here next Wednesday but Manager Charlie Cook wired this morning that Floyd would not be seen in action for a long time. A wire was sent to Herman yesterday offering him the Newman match and the pair will battle here next week if Herman accepts. Newman, by his decisive victories over Pat Lester and Fred Sullivan is quite a card here now.

Jimmy Lanning feels very badly over his fight with Frankie Farren at the ball park last Monday and is anxious to get on again to redeem himself. The boy's record shows that he is a pleasing performer when matched with another boxer who will lead and take a chance. Farren absolutely refused to lead Monday and it would have been foolish for Lanning to have opened up under the circumstances. In the dressing room after the fight Lanning remarked to Farren, "Well, we put up a rotten fight, didn't we?" Farren was quite satisfied with the bout as he replied that everybody didn't come to see murder. Against a different style of boxer Lanning will give the people a run for their money. Incidentally he is a mighty nice kid and is managed by one of the old school, Ray Morris, who used to promote fights in Omaha. It is a pleasure to meet a man like Morris after listening to the new crop of would-be managers whose idea of being helpful to their fighter is to make a lot of noise.

Abe Matin, manager of Joe Simonich returned to town this morning from Los Angeles and is angling for a bout with Jimmy Duffy. Abe thinks Simonich is entitled to the match on the strength of his defeat of Willie Ritchie. Matin saw the Sage-Colima bout at Vernon Tuesday night in which Sage was fouled in the first round. He says Colima hit Sage low with a left and then crashed him on the chin with a right. Reports this morning state that Sage may be seriously injured but Matin states he was around town yesterday looking none the worse for the low blow. Promoter Doyle is anxious to match the boys for Next Tuesday again and bill them for an added attraction as the customers are still squawking at the premature ending of the last mill.

MARTINEZ, Sept. 4.—The team which will represent the Richmond Elks at the blue rock shoot to be held at Catalina Island on September 17 will consist of the following: J. A. Becker, Louis Schroeder and T. D. Morgan of Richmond and M. W. Joost of Martinez.

VALLEJO, Sept. 4.—E. A. McCarrick, a member of the Vallejo Gun Club, bagged a three-pointer buck in Lake county over the holiday.

Predicting the Winner Proves Difficult Job

Eugene Blake, Gordon S. Higgins and Louis Sorenson, Jr.; Men To Watch.

By DOUG. MONTELL.

Picking a winner from the list of over three hundred entered for the twelfth annual TRIBUNE Lake Merritt marathon is practically a hopeless task.

Several veteran runners who placed high up the list last season will again be on hand, many of these are known to have improved while others will have profited by the experience they gained in last year's race and can be figured to make a much better showing next Tuesday morning.

Wayne Fox, the winner of the 1923 Merritt marathon, is not listed among the entries this year, leaving the field wide open to all comers.

BLAKE TO RUN.

Eugene Blake, who finished a minute behind Fox last year, is again entered and will run as a member of the Shattuck Avenue M. E. church team.

Blake made an excellent run last year, being on the heels of the winner for the first three miles, and unless many newcomers have developed this year, Blake may be figured as a certainty to be among the first three.

Gordon S. Higgins, who took third place last year, twenty seconds behind Blake, figures to be one of the first three again this year.

Higgins was the last to enter filing his entry blank from San Francisco late Monday night. He will run unattached.

RECALLS RACE.

In filing his entry Higgins wrote: "How well do I remember the keen competition that marked the race last year. The last two hundred yards called forth every ounce of reserve strength to enable me to nose out Louis Sorenson Jr. for third place.

"Sorenson was seventy-five yards in front when I turned the last corner leading to the finish, and he finished only four seconds behind me.

"It was Sorenson who forced the pace over the last half of the course after the leaders had drawn away from the field. Too often those who bear the brunt of battle are overlooked in favor of the first few who finish. It takes more than the first three winners to make the Merritt marathon the success it has been for eleven years."

Higgins had a few words of praise for Sorenson, the well-known Oakland runner.

"Sorenson is a clean, conscientious runner and it would not surprise me if he carried away the honors this year. He is bound to break into the limelight very soon if he only sets his heart on that goal."

Louis Sorenson Jr. is again entered as an unattached runner this year and is one of those to be watched.

Bill Hamlyn of the Oakland Y. M. C. A., who finished sixth last year, will again be a contender.

Harold Summers and Ernest Nickerson, who finished seventh and eighth, are not entered, but C. S. Lee, the star of the Yoke Choy club of San Francisco, is again a member of the San Francisco team and figures to be well up at the finish.

Among the others who finished well up last year and who are again entered are Cecil Thompson, E. Lloyd Hanson, Harold Lion, George Blake, Harry Bettencourt, Paul N. Blake, Hugh McIntosh and Moses Phelps.

Pasadena Golfer Is Shooting Under Par

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—With fair weather promised and the court in good condition, the largest number of contestants in the history of American golf teed off today in the western open golf championship. The players included nearly all the star professionals of the country, among them Jock Hutchison, who is defending the title he won last year at Memphis.

And the contestants have something to shoot at besides the title, for Mel Smith of Pasadena, Calif., set a course record of 67 for the 6614 yard link in a practice round, taking five strokes off the previous record, which was par 72.

OAKS DROP BACK TO FOURTH PLACE WHEN VERNON WINS

Andy Smith's University of California Football Hopes Will Begin Practice for Coming Season September 15

Bruins Eager For Football Work to Start

Problem of Developing New Line Confronts Andy Smith To Open Season.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Sept. 4.—With September 15 drawing near, everything is in readiness for the first practice of the University of California's varsity football squad. The California campus is at high tension anxiously awaiting to see the men perform who represent the Blue and Gold on the gridiron. It will be practically a new Bruin football team that the spectators will see, for few of Andy Smith's reliable men will be back on the gridiron this season.

In comparison with Stanford, the outlook is not so good. The Cardinals have seven of their reliable men from the regular squad of last season, while the Bears have but four of their veterans of last year as a nucleus of this year's team.

Captain "Babe" Horrell at center, Charles Mell at end, Dana Carey at guard, and Jimmie Dixon at half are the Bruin vets of last season. Around them Andy Smith has to build his 1924 squad.

LITTLE MATERIAL.

The California freshman team was defeated by Stanford last year and it offers little promising material for the varsity, while Stanford's freshman aggregation had several well-known stars in its ranks. Stanford has also firmly established the Warner system of football at present, and with "Pop" Warner on hand personally to coach, a smooth working team should be developed.

Among the California reserves there are many good prospects, who with a little experience should develop into valuable men. Dixon, who alternated with Dick Dunn at halfback last season, will probably occupy one of the halfback positions this season.

It is a great loss to California that, by a technicality, Bill Blewett and his educated toe will not be able to perform at the other half this season, for much was expected of him; but Smith has Newman, Dodson and several other likely candidates he hopes to develop for this position.

Myron Brown looks to be a good prospect for the fullback position, but he has plenty of competition for the job. Many reliable men are aspiring to run the California team at quarter. Imlay, Tut and [illegible] of the varsity last year and will fight it out for the position.

NEW LINE NEEDED.

Practically an entirely new line will have to be developed by Smith and his assistants.

Captain Babe Horrell at center is a certainty. He was one of the best centers in the conference in 1923 and will be out for all-star honors this year.

At one end, Mell, who starred for the varsity last year, will be a valuable asset to the 1924 team.

At tackle, White, Ran and Francis are the most likely prospects. Either Thatcher, Young or Shaffnit of last year's varsity will probably hold down the other ends.

The eligibility of Francis to play this year has not yet been decided, but it is thought that a favorable decision will be given.

Several guards will also have to be developed. Dana Carey, of last year's varsity, will undoubtedly occupy one of the positions. Saundby, and several others, are anxious to play on the other side of Horrell.

SAD HOME-COMING.

VALLEJO, Sept. 4.—Pop Lilly and Bert Clement have returned from Sacramento. Neither of the two barnyard golf stars made much of a showing at the recent tourney.

Last Night's fight results

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—Pat Lester was given the decision over Martin O'Grady at the association club last night. It was a slow mill. Other results:

Billy Algers defeated Billy Dunn.

Soldier Burke decision over Billy Smith.

Frank Campbell knocked out Jack Desmond in the first.

Freddie Hoppe knocked out Eddie Wolfe in the first.

Al Chesters stopped Johnny Webster in the second.

Tony Baroni stopped Mickey Earle in the second.

Leonard McDonald knocked out Wally Royal in the first.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 4—Harry Greb had little trouble in defeating Jimmy Slattery here last night in a six round bout. Both were over the middleweight limit so Greb's title was not at stake.

The fight was all Greb's after the second round. In the openers Slattery rushed th fighting fiercely and gave as good as he got in the exchanges. The champion's persistent windmill attack wore the Buffalo boy down, however, and in the final rounds Slattery was perceptibly tiring, although he went into the exchanges gamely and slashed out with occasional brilliant rallies that got through Greb's guard.

WILMINGTON, Sept. 4.—Joe Schlocker, Los Angeles lightweight, won the decision over Sailor Ashmore of San Pedro in the main event of a boxing card here last night. Jack Sparr of Lomita and Joe Layman, Los Angeles 140 pounder, fought a draw.

"Pop" Geers Is Killed During Harness Event

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 4.—Edward F. "Pop" Geers, 73-year-old veteran reinsman, drove his last race.

Today the body of the dean of light harness drivers, who was fatally injured yesterday, when his mare, Milady Guy, stumbled and fell while rounding a turn in a race at the West Virginia state fair, was on its way to his well-loved home in Tennessee. There at Columbia burial will be made alongside the graves of his wife and son.

"Pop," as the aged driver was affectionately well known to American turf followers had declared yesterday's race would be his last.

"I'm just giving the old game one more whirl, boys, and then it's back to Memphis to stay," he said to track officials prior to the race.

It was "Pop's" last race and his final appearance was just such as he might have wished. It was Geers Day at the fair and he announced he would attempt to lower the world's mile record for half mile tracks behind his Peter Manning. But the exhibition was never run.

Just prior to the exhibition race Geers entered the 2:14 trot with Milady Guy. It was while rounding a turn that the horse stumbled, the sulky overturned and Geers was hurled to the ground with a fractured skull. He died several hours later at a local hospital.

Carmen and Hines San Jose Main Bout

SAN JOSE, Sept. 4.—Speedy "Young Carmen," boxes Billy Hines at the East Side arena, Alum Rock and Capitol avenues tonight. Mason Geffin will throw leather at "Chuck" Roach, the Vallejo Irish Indian, in a return match.

Min Minnick boxes "Chick" Rocco of Portland. Jack Reagan, Oakland heavyweight, who has won 20 out of 21 starts, boxes Rex Powers, a highly touted New Yorker with a record of 15 straight knockouts.

"Sailor" Ted Makagon, the fighting Russian art student from the University of California, will box Harry Fargo, San Jose welter. "Young" Cano, tackles Sammy Taylor of Spokane. Frankie Stetson and Johnny Marine meet in the curtain-raiser.

Parker Defeat Is Surprise of Tennis Tourney

Miss Wills and Casey Win Mixed Doubles; in Semi-Finals.

Tennis fans who attended the state championship matches at the courts of the Berkeley Tennis club yesterday were treated to an excellent exhibition when Helen Wills and Ray Casy defeated Avery Follett and Tevis Martin in the mixed doubles. Miss Wills and Casey won in straight sets and entered the semi-finals. The scores were, 6-3, 6-1.

The winners meet Mr. and Mrs. John Basham to decide which team will enter the semi-finals of the upper half of the flight. The Bashams took Mrs. Golda Gross and R. H. F. Variel into camp, 6-2, 7-5.

By defeating Mrs. Inez Whatley and Ed Woodall, Charlotte Hosmer and Herbert Suhr entered the finals of the lower half of the mixed doubles.

The principal upset of the afternoon was the defeat of Bill Parker by Gerald Stratford in the third round of the lower half of the men's singles. Parker was expected to walk away with the match but Stratford was at the height of his form and took the match, 6-4, 8-6.

Probably the most exciting match of the afternoon was that in which Avery Follett and Charlotte Hosmer defeated Carolyn Swartz and Eleanor Tennant, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2. Hornsby Well On Way to Set National Mark

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 4.—Rogers Hornsby is well on his way to establish a new batting record in the National League—that of having led the circuit in bitting five consecutive seasons. The record of four consecutive seasons, established by Hans Wagner from 1906 to 1909, inclusive, was equalled by Hornsby last year. This season he has topped the National League hitters virtually from the start of the campaign.

Hornsby, like Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Johnny Evers, Grover Alexander, Eddie Collins and many other star players, entered the major league company merely as a prospect and at little expense to his club. He is said to have cost the Cardinals only $500 when he was purchased from the Denison, Texas, club. He proved his ability as an infielder and batter his second year in fast company and has been doing it since.

Archery Course Is Opened Near Links

A Bonarro course, for the benefit of archers, has been laid out by the recreation department near the Municipal golf links. The course is now open to the public under the same conditions as the golf links. Last Sunday a score of archers shot over the course and a good time was had by all.

New Evidence Is Discovered Against Firpo

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Orders to expedite the deportation proceedings against Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine prizefighter, went forward from the Labor Department today to Immigration Commissioner Curran at New York.

Curran advised the department that his new inquiry of the cause would be completed tomorrow.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Canon Williams Chase, leader in the movement to have Luis Angel Firpo deported on the ground that the Argentine boxer made false statements in entering this country, was summoned to Ellis Island today by Immigration Commissioner Harry Curran who investigated Firpo's case. Commissioner Curran asserted that he discovered yesterday that Canon Chase, who was then in Washington had new evidence which he was concealing from the authorities.

"I sent word to Washington that he may give me whatever he has." Mr. Curran said, adding that the plaintiff's appearance at the island was in response to Commission summons.

America Favored to Retain Polo Trophy

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—With only two days intervening before British and American polo cup teams take the field on Saturday in the first of the challenge matches, the American team has been made a prime favorite to retain the cup. Followers of the game lean strongly to the Americans largely because the defending four is composed of veteran players who have been through the mill of much experience. In the various practice games which have been played recently on Long Island as preparation for the matches, the game of Devereaux Milburn, captain and back of the American four, and the hard riding and hitting of Tommy Hitchcock, Jr., have stood out sharply. The defense of Milburn, experts declared, has ben all that could possibly be expectd from a polo player.

Bill Blewett Will Study in the South

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—Bill Blewett, a star of last year's University of California football team, will enter Southern Branch in February, he announced here.

Blewett was flunked out of the Berkeley institution and now will be ineligible for gridiron activities for two years.

Indians Take Second Game From Oakland

Kunz Hit Freely While Gregg Is Effective In the Pinches.

SEATTLE, Sept. 4.—Hitting Kunz freely to all corners of the lot in the early innings, the Seattle Indians romped to an 11 to 5 victory over the Oaks in the second game of the series here yesterday afternoon.

Kunz was finally driven from the hill in the midst of a slugfest in the sixth inning, and while the "Great Walter" Mails, who replaced him, escaped damage in that particular frame, the Indians showed no favoritism and groomed his delivery for two runs in the seventh and another in the eighth. The Indians built up an unnecessary large lead for the veteran Vean Gregg, who was "right" yesterday, despite the fact that the Oaks tagged his delivery for eleven hits.

FUN STARTS EARLY.

Before the customers had settled comfortably in their seats the Seattle club started mauling Kunz around. Disposing of Welsh and Brady, Kunz walked Rohwer. Eldred followed with a crashing single, on which Rohwer reached third. Eldred and Rohwer worked a double steal, Rohwer scoring and Eldred reaching third on McCarren's wild throw to the plate.

Bowman followed with a high fly to left, which Lafayette lost in the sun, the ball dropping safely for a double, Eldred scoring. Ted Baldwin worked Kunz for a pass and Emmers' single sent in Bowman.

OAKS TIE SCORE.

Kunz' teammates bunched four hits off Gregg in the second to knot the count. After Arlett and Cather had been retired, Guisto, Steward and Read greeted Gregg with smashing doubles, while Kunz followed with a single to score Read with the third and tieing run.

The Oaks were not destined to remain on even terms long, however, and in the third three more hits broke the tie with two runs and from then on the home guard was never headed.

Singles by Bowman, Ted Baldwin and Emmers accounted for the Indian runs.

The Oaks scored one more in the fifth with the aid of a hit and an error.

FINISH OF KUNZ.

The sixth saw the end of Kunz for the day and the appearance of Mails to check the flood of base-hits.

Welsh led off with a single and advanced on Brady's sacrifice. Rohwer's single scored Welsh and Eldred followed with another single.

Bowman's hit to McCarren took a bad hop, going for a single, Rohwer scoring. Ted Baldwin's single scored Eldred and Manager Howard waved Kunz to the showers.

Emmers hit into a double play, Mails to Guisto to Read to end the inning.

The Oaks added their final run in the seventh on two hits and an error by Bowman.

Mails was touched for two runs in the seventh and another in the eighth, which were not needed, as developments showed.

RIVALS STAGE TORRID FIGHT FOR PENNANT

Giants, Pirates and Dodgers Trying to Date Young Woman for the World's Series This Year.

The Pennant Sisters, blonde daughters of former Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, were engaged in a serious flirtation with Stanley Harris and Wilbert Robinson. John McGraw and Miller Huggins, who have been keeping steady company with the two sisters since 1921, are finding their time being beaten by rival suitors, although McGraw is hanging on tenaciously in a spirited battle with Robinson and McKeechie for the coveted hand of the elder sister.

Today McGraw stands at the top of the heap, seven points ahead of Pittsburgh and 14 points ahead of Brooklyn with the remainder virtually out of the running. The three leaders, yesterday, all strengthened their claims for a date to take Miss Pennant to the world's series by winning from their rivals. New York defeated Boston 4 to 1, Pittsburgh handing a lopsided setback to St. Louis 14 to 1 and Brooklyn lambasting the Phillies twice, 7 to 6 and 7 to 0. In the other National league contest Chicago blanked Cincinnati 6 to 0.

The race for the hand of Miss American Pennant, the younger sister, has narrowed down to a twosome. Miller Huggins called yesterday and strengthened his argument for the coveted date when Stanley Harris failed to show up, his team remaining idle. The Yankees bumped off their Boston rivals 11 to 6.

Detroit, previously considered a serious contender, is virtually eliminated, although the Tigers stand a chance to come through. The Bengals yesterday turned back Chicago twice, 6-2, 6-4.

St. Louis and Cleveland, the former just inside the first division and the latter looking in from the outside, pulled the Alphonse and Gaston stunt in a double-header, the Browns putting the first game in their pockets 7 to 6 and the Indians walking home with the second, 9 to 5. Washington and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

Firpo Alibis For Defeat by Jack Dempsey

Argentine Heavyweight Has Belated Excuse for Beating.

By HENRY L. FARRELL,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Back among his friends, where hoot owls won't bother him, Louis Firpo, South American heavyweight champion, will finish training here for his fight against Harry Wills in Jersey City next Thursday night.

"I did not have a good time in Saratoga," Firpo said, in explaining why he abandoned the training camp that Tex Rickard recommended and came back to the city. "It is cool here and I like automobiles and horns and noises. I want to sleep nights, not fight these little bugs."

Firpo's attendants, who accompanied him on his return, denied that Firpo returned because the end of the Saratoga race meeting had cut off the supply of customers that had been paying to see him train.

LOOKS IN SHAPE.

The big South American looks to be in good shape. He still has some fat around the middle, but it is doubtful if he could trim down like Dempsey or Wills without hurting himself.

Firpo takes much pride in demonstrating with his left arm that he can reach around his rear collar button and knot his tie. He pointed out that he had neuritis in the left arm when he was training for Jack Dempsey and that he couldn't lift his arm as high as his head.

When he was asked why he didn't hook a left punch when Dempsey was on the ropes in the first round, Firpo replied that he knew he could have won the fight if he had crossed a left, but that he couldn't lift his arm.

SECOND EXPLAINS.

Carlos Vegas, who was with Firpo at Atlantic City last year, has rejoined the camp. Vegas was in Firpo's corner during the Dempsey fight. He was asked why it was that none of Firpo's seconds had protested when Dempsey committed several fouls in the first round.

"Firpo told us," he replied, "that there was to be no interference under any circumstances. He said he was to do the fighting and he wanted no one to interfere. He is that way about everything and we follow his instructions."

Hayward Legion to Back Boxing Shows

HAYWARD, Sept. 4.—Members of the Hayward American Legion post No. 68 will vote on the proposed sponsoring of semi-monthly boxing contests here, at the meeting to be held tomorrow night. The vote, it is mentioned, is expected to be little more than a formality; favorable opinions on the proposal have already been voiced by virtually all the members, it is mentioned.

It is the intention of the Legion members and officials to establish a modern and thoroughly equipped gymnasium, probably at the post headquarters, where the boxers can train and the manly art can be taught.

Dudley and Kronick To Box at Vallejo

VALLEJO, Sept. 4.—Young Dudley and Solly Kronick will box the main event at the Airdome September 10. Kronick was formerly in the Marine Corps and was stationed at Mare Island. Red Granton has been matched to meet Billy Rayes while Eddie Dampier will swap punches with Red Roth. Henry Dominguegez of Crockett will tackle Battling Barry of Pittsburg while Young Pimental of Napa will meet Young Gerald.

Cochran Will Play Carney And Sigourney

Billiard Experts Arrange Interesting Games for This City.

Walker Cochran, Willie Hoppe's most feared rival at balkline billiards has been engaged to appear at Carney's billiard academy Friday afternoon and evening, playing Joseph W. Carney, former world's three-cushion champion, in the afternoon at three cushions, and in the evening against Wilson Sigourney, leading coast balkliner, at balk line.

Cochran has just concluded a series of three-cushion matches, in which he defeated Bob Cannefax, present world's champion, which presents the unusual case of a balk-line player entering the three-cushion field and defeating its champion and playing the game up to its highest standard, which his average for the series of a small fraction less than one point to an inning proves.

The game between Cochran and Carney should be an entertaining affair as Carney is putting up a high-class exhibition at present. His game with Rodreguez was overwhelmingly in his favor and the game won from Caunefax, 50 to 43 in forty-four innings was a gem. Joe has really never been out of the three-cushion championship class, but his home and interests all being in Oakland he has passed up the game because of the long trip every year in order to take part in the billiard league competitions held in the large eastern cities.

Cochran's appearance in Oakland at this time is preliminary to the formation of a coast three-cushion billiard league patterned along the lines of the Inter-State Billiard League, and it is hoped that sufficient interest may be developed to warrant the entering of representatives from Oakland, San Francisco, Sacramento, Los Angeles, Hollywood, Long Beach, San Diego, etc.

At the conclusion of the Carney three-cushion tournament a balkline contest will be started. There are a goodly number of amateur balk-liners in Oakland and an evenly balanced tournament will be arranged.

TAKES LIFE EASY.

Jack Dempsey has only fought two ring battles since 1921.

England to Survey Coal for Chemicals

The government of Great Britain at the instance of the secretary for mines and the department of scientific and industrial research, according to advices received by the Bankers' Trust Company of New York from its English information service, has decided to provide at once for the rapid development of a chemical and physical survey of the coal seams of Great Britain, to determine the possibility of replacing some 110 million tons of raw coal at present burned every year in its natural state by other and smokeless fuels obtainable from coal by carbonization and gasification. It is pointed out in this connection that, if coal can be carbonized on a large scale in such a way as to yield a supply of fuel oil for the navy and mercantile marine, and an important share of motor spirit for use in motor cars and air craft, the balance of foreign trade would be altered in favor of Great Britain, while the abatement of the smoke nuisance in towns and manufacturing districts owing to the abandonment of raw coal as a fuel would have immediate and far-reaching effects upon the health and housing of the people.

Atlantic Refining Expansion Reported

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 4.—The Atlantic Refining Company, it is understood among well informed persons here, is negotiating for control of the Colombia Syndicate. This company holds over a million acres in South America, adjoining the holdings of the International Petroleum Company, which acquired them from the Tropical Oil Company upon which there is a big production of oil.

The Columbia Syndicate has a capital of 2,000,000 no par shares and it is understood of that amount the Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies owns 450,000 shares and has the voting rights upon additional 550,000 shares which, of course, carries control. The Tidal Osage Oil Company owns 450,000 shares and the balance is scattered among small holders.

Postum to Redeem Half of Preferred

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The Postum Cereal Company, Inc., expects to retire 55 per cent of the $6,500,000 preferred stock at 115, according to E. F. Hutton, chairman of the board. The company has never borrowed money, said Hutton, and its earnings are running $200,000 ahead of last year. Because of the high prices for wheat and corn he expects net earnings this year to be $3,500,000, after taxes.

State Potato Crop Is Average

An estimate of the potato crop in California this year reveals that acreage is equally as large as that of last year. In the Stockton district there is approximately 27,000 acres in potatoes. California acreage will, it is estimated, yield about 2,000,000 sacks or about the same amount as last year. The daily consumption of potatoes in the state amounts to about 15,000 sacks, which shows that we have about five or six months' supply of California grown potatoes. Potato dealers will begin importing from other states some time in January. Demand at the present time is hardly great enough to handle the amount of potatoes that producers are shipping to the markets, but this condition is only a temporary one.

Prices for 1924 Almond Crop Fixed

Refined cane sugar will advance wholesale rates 25 cents per 100 pounds tomorrow, from $7.35 to $7.60, according to announcement today by the Western Sugar Refinery and the California and Hawaiian Sugar Refining Corporation. The price of beet will at the same time advance from $7.15 to $7.40.

Increases in the price for Cuban raw and refined was announced in New York also.

CHINESE WAR NOT TO INJURE SILK TRADE IN U. S.

Demand for Product of Mills Shows Large Gain in Last Few Weeks.

By J. C. ROYLE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The civil strife which is now going on in China does not seem likely to have any extended effect on the silk situation in America even should the great port of Shanghai be tied up by armed conflict. The better grades of Canton silks are fairly strong in price, but American manufacturers will be called upon to face no serious shortage. The Japanese varieties have also shown marked firmness, due in part to unfavorable weather affecting the mulberry trees in the island empire. But the real factor in the silk situation is the improvement in demand for manufactured goods.

This has been more pronounced in the silk trade than in either the cotton or woolen industries. It has been felt especially by broad silk makers whose orders in some instances have necessitated capacity operation of their mills. The strike of silk workers at Patterson over the number of looms each worker is expected to look after has been instrumental in keeping down output there. Although about 2000 workers are said to have gone back to work, some mills still are closed.

Mills that have specialized in fine satins, failles and engailines in all-silk or silk and wool mixtures are in such demand that some mills have been unable to fill orders, while the call for silks has been steady. The causes which have produced this situation have included better weather, selling conditions and other factors, but some experts place special stress on color.

Industry, they say, especially that part of it catering to women depends to a great extent upon the changes of the merchantability of the goods. The movement of the fabric is dependent upon three factors—texture, life and color. Color, therefore, has become as great a question as any other factor in textile production. This fact has resulted in development of color experts whose jobs it is to analyze the world of fashion and to deduce for industry what the popular colors will be, sometimes placing such information in the hands of manufacturers a year in advance.

TRADE PICKING UP.

In the last few weeks all branches of the textile manufacturing industry have found relief from long continued depression. There have been strong influences of out of town buyers at wholesale centers from New York to San Francisco. These buyers are showing a disposition to anticipate their foreward requirements more generously. So marked has this tendency become that difficulty has been found in filling some lines, especially in woolens and occasionally premiums are being paid ranging as high as 25 and 50 cents a yard. More mills are resuming production and a scramble for goods is not deemed impossible in the near future.

Farmers Appeal For More Help

ST. PAUL, Sept. 4.—Northwest farmers are appealing urgently for aid in obtaining harvest hands. Farmers say their excellent crops are being menaced by labor shortage. North Dakota alone needs 10,000 men, and offers wages averaging around $4 a day and board with railroad fare included from some points. Heavy yields of grain are expected and shipments will be large as a result of recent growing weather. Railroad crop experts estimate the improvement over last year at from 25 to 75 per cent.

Straus & Co. Cut Loan Rates; Amer. Woolen Passes Dividend; Oil Output Remains Stationary; Copper Indications Are Brighter

By H. S. SCOTT.

S. W. Straus & Co. loans on the Pacific Coast will be made at six per cent interest from now on, in keeping with a policy which general conditions led the New York office of the house to adopt some weeks ago. W. K. Bowes, vice-president of S. W. Straus & Co. and Pacific Coast director of loans for that house told The TRIBUNE today, "Call money rates, generally, are now as low, and in some cases are lower, then they were during the years when practically all of our loans were made at six per cent. Although our clients have been buying six and one-half and even seven per cent bonds of our issues for several years, the time has come when we must reduce the interest rate or lower the standards of security to which all Straus loans must measure up, and that is a policy this house will never adopt.

"The slowing down of new construction during recent months, particularly that which has to do with big buildings, has been due in a measure to the anticipation on the part of builders that such an announcement as this would be made, and we believe that many such enterprises, much needed and promising profitable investment, will promptly be commenced."

An advance of 25 cents per 100 pounds in refined wholesale sugar rates announced as due tomorrow resulted in a slight firming up of several of the Hawaiian sugar stocks in San Francisco today. Honokaa was the most active, sales aggregating 1600 in the morning session of the San Francisco Stock and Bond Exchange at prices fractionally above yesterday. The oils were quiet and slightly weaker. Utilities were unchanged.

Dullness and irregularity marked the course of the New York market today as activities to be dominated by professional traders. Passing of the dividend of American Woolen unsettled closing prices. Outside interest was lacking, buying power limited and the professional bears ready to take advantage of every opportunity to push prices to lower levels. Stocks were freely offered at price concessions in the first two hours and the general level of prices declined, but in previous sessions it was not possible to start liquidation on a broad scale and selling once more came to a standstill.

Important evonomic and industrial developments being conspicuously absent, professional traders are now reintroducing the subject of political issues and the forthcoming elections. Hesitancy in buying this week is laid to the door of the state elections in Maine, which are proverbially held as one of the important straws to show which way the November political winds are most apt to blow. Financial sentiment remains cheerful, both as related to home and foreign developments.

Railrooad stocks gave indications of resuming the forward price move, as Nickel Plate common was rushed up to 119½ for a new high and a gain of 6 points over Wednesday's close; the preferred stock also touched a new high at 92¼. Chesapeake & Ohio gained more than a point at 87¼. Erie was fractionally higher, Pere Marquette in demand at current prices. Outside of this group the rails were unable to make much headway.

Among the insudtsrials the sugar, copper and tobacco stocks made the best market record. Oil and textile stocks were sold quite heavily in the first hour, the bears concentrating on American Woolen, in view of the unsettlement of the textile industry, the passing of its dividend and the postponement of dividend action on Daniel Boone Woolen Mills.

Continued heaviness of the principal European exchanges, which was construed as an indication that the benefits from the Dawes report might not be felt for some time, also was considered a factor in the selling, demand sterling again falling more than a cent to $4.46⅝.

Lowering of the renewal rate on call money to 2 per cent failed to stem the tide of selling. Offerings of the popular rails were more abundant, Union Pacific, Norfolk & Western, Great Northern preferred and several of the low-priced issues sagging 1 to 2½ points. Despite the generally weak tone the large majority of issues developed resistence points above the week's lows, which operators for the advance construed as an encouraging sign. Among the many industrial issues to sell 1 to 2 points below last night's final were American Can, Gulf States Steel, Mack Truck, Pan-American B, Marine preferred, International Paper and Brooklyn Union Gas.

Bond prices drifted aimlessly in early dealingsc. A firmer undertone developed with the return of the call money rate to a 2 per cent basis at the opening, but price changes generally were within narrow limits. Bonds of some of the Western railroads stiffened lightly on the reports of record August traffic.

The daily average gross crude oil production of the United States decreased 7000 barrels for the week ending August 30, totalling 2,030,700 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. The daily average production east of the Rocky Mountains was 1,415,500 barrels, an increase of 8500. California production was 615,200 barrels, an increase of 1500.

Oklahoma showed a daily average production of 547,050 barrels, increase of 4000; Kansas 83,900 barrels, increase of 1150; north Texas 74,200, decrease of 350; central Texas 180,300, decrease of 900; north Louisiana 53,900, decrease of 1150; Arkansas 136,800, decrease of 3550; Gulf coast and southwest Texas 112,450, decrease of 7400; eastern 108,000, increase of 500; Wyoming, Montana and Colorado 110,900, decrease of 800; California 615,200, increase of 1500.

Daily average imports of petroleum at principal ports for the week ended August 30 were 231,286 barrels, compared with 277,857 for the previous week.

There were no changes reported in crude oil prices for the major districts—mid-continent being quoted from $1.10 to $1.50 a barrel, according to the gravity of the oil. Gulf Coast grade "A" $1.35; grade "B" $1.15; Penna crude, Bradford district, $2.85; all other grades $2.75, and California crude ranging from $1 to $1.40 a barrel.

The announcement that the directors of the Kennecott Copper Corporation deem advisable the call of the company's $15,000,000 of outstanding bonds to be retired from cash on hand and bankers loans furnishes an interesting comparison with the recent condition of that industry. In February the first quarterly Anaconda Copper dividend was passed and market for copper metal was depressed from large stocks. The action of the Kennecott directors is fair evidence that their company has weathered the stress of that period.

Steel mills are now operating at a rate over 50 per cent of capacity as against 40 per cent last month. The general trend of production, however, has been downward during the past month, with the exception of cement, petroleum, copper, tin and certain of the textiles. The week of August 21 shows a decided gain in the number and value of large industrial contracts awarded, according to Engineering News-Record statistics. There is also an increase in the number of large private construction projects now out for bids and in bids desired on commercial buildings valued at $150,000 and over. The two most important price moves which developed during the past week, were, advances in paint materials in the New York district and firmness in fir lumber prices in the Northwest.

Observers of the money market are calculating the effects of the quarterly operations of the Treasury Department. Certificates of indebtedness maturing on September 15 will total about $377,000,000. Semi-annual interest on about $2,997,000,000 of 4½ per cent Third Liberty Loan bonds will approximate $60,000,000; similar payments on approximately $3,000,000,000 in Treasury notes will total about $60,000,000 more. These payments total $497,000,000. To offset them the government is expected to offer about $3,000,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness and will receive the third quarterly installment of income taxes which is estimated at $250,000,000. The grand total involved will exceed $1,000,000,000 and may cause some flurry in the money market as banks are apt to withdraw funds from call in anticipation of meeting the demands on them from taxpayers.

EASTERN MARKETS

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Wheat displayed a heavy undertone here today on unresponsive Liverpool cables and hedging pressure. Pressure came mostly from houses with Southwestern connections, but the trade was not large during the early dealings, and when buying appeared the market rallied. Sentiment appeared mixed with expectations generally of a two-sided market. Export demand and bullish foreign crop news offset to a large extent the pressure of spring wheat on both sides of the international line. Buying by a strong individual house which absorbed the surplus in the pit caused shorts to cover December for sale above 1.29½, which checked the advance and made a reaction. After starting ⅜c higher to 1¼c lower with September 1.23¾ and December 1.29¼ to 1.29¾, the market scored trifling gains all around and then recovered slightly.

Corn was affected by reports of generally favorable weather for the new crop. There was some pressure early but the market was unusually quiet. After opening ⅛c lower to ½c higher, with December 1.14⅛ to 1.14½, corn underwent a decline all around.

Confirmation of frost in parts of the Canadian Northwest lifted oats. Starting ¼ to ⅝c higher with December 52 to 52½c, values sagged a trifle and then hardened around the initial figures.

Provisions lacked support.

PLAN OF SELLING RIO GRANDE WILL BE CARRIED OUT

Court Denies Intervention to Prohibit Its Sale to Western Pacific.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

DENVER, Sept. 4.—Harold Palmer of New York, H. L. Finklestein of New York and Horace W. Bennett, Denver capitalist, today were denied the right to intervene in the foreclosure sale of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad by Judge J. Foster Symes of the United States District Court, following a hearing which started yesterday.

As a result of the decision of Judge Symes, preparation for the sale of the railroad at public auction under a reorganization plan tentatively approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, will go ahead.

The upset price and the date for the auction sale under a decree of foreclosure sought by the Bankers' Trust Company of New York, trustee of the first mortgage and refunding bonds, now in default, will be fixed shortly by the court.

Palmer, Finklestein and Bennett sought to intervene in an attempt to prevent the proposed reorganizing becoming effective. The reorganization plan already has bene approved by 87 per cent of the holders of the first mortgage and refunding bonds. Palmer, Finklestein and Bennett hold but little more than 1 per cent of the entire issue of the bonds, totalling $38,113,000.

Interest on the bonds has been in default since February.

DRY GOODS

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Cotton goods markets are quiet and barely steady in the gray goods division. Many small orders reported jobbing houses for the retail trade, keeping shipping departmen busy. Yarns are slightly firmer. Silks continue to sell moderately and steadily. New lines of dress goods are being shown for the spring with fancies predominating in the offerings. Household linens are in better request from the retail.

England to Survey Coal for Chemicals

The government of Great Britain, at the instance of the secretary for mines and the department of scientific and industrial research, according to advices received by the Bankers' Trust Company of New York from its English information service, has decided to provide at once for the rapid development of a chemical and physical survey of the coal seams of Great Britain, to determine the possibility of replacing some 110 million tons of raw coal at present burned every year in its natural state by other and smokeless fuels obtainable from coal by carbonization and gasification. It is pointed out in this connection that, if coal can be carbonized on a large scale in such a way as to yield a supply of fuel oil for the navy and mercantile marine, and an important share of motor spirit for use in motor cars and air craft, the balance of foreign trade would be altered in favor of Great Britain, while the abatement of the smoke nuisance in towns and manufacturing districts owing to the abandonment of raw coal as a fuel would have immediate and far-reaching effects upon the health and housing of the people.

Atlantic Refining Expansion Reported

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 4.—The Atlantic Refining Company, it is understood among well informed persons here, is negotiating for control of the Colombia Syndicate. This company holds over a million acres in South America, adjoining the holdings of the International Petroleum Company, which acquired them from the Tropical Oil Company upon which there is a big production of oil.

The Columbia Syndicate has a capital of 2,000,000 no par shares and it is understood of that amount the Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies owns 450,000 shares and has the voting rights upon additional 550,000 shares which, of course, carries control. The Tidal Osage Oil Company owns 450,000 shares and the balance is scattered among small holders.

Postum to Redeem Half of Preferred

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The Postum Cereal Company, Inc., expects to retire 50 per cent of the $6,500,000 preferred stock at 115, according to E. F. Hutton, chairman of the board. The company has never borrowed money, said Hutton, and its earnings are running $200,000 ahead of last year. Because of the high prices for wheat and corn he expects net earnings this year to be $3,500,000, after taxes.

State Potato Crop Is Average

An estimate of the potato crop in California this year reveals that acreage is equally as large as that of last year. In the Stockton district there is approximately 27,000 acres in potatoes. California acreage will, it is estimated, yield about 2,000,000 sacks or about the same amount as last year. The daily consumption of potatoes in the state amounts to about 15,000 sacks, which shows that we have about five or six months' supply of California grown potatoes. Potato dealers will begin importing from other states some time in January. Demand at the present time is hardly great enough to handle the amount of potatoes that producers are shipping to the markets, but this condition is only a temporary one.

CHINESE WAR NOT TO INJURE SILK TRADE IN U. S.

Demand for Product of Mills Shows Large Gain in Last Few Weeks.

By J. C. ROYLE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The civil strife which is now going on in China does not seem likely to have any extended effect on the silk situation in America even should the great port of Shanghai be tied up by armed conflict. The better grades of Canton silks are fairly strong in price, but American manufacturers will be called upon to face no serious shortage. The Japanese varieties have also shown marked firmness, due in part to unfavorable weather affecting the mulberry trees in the island empire. But the real factor in the silk situation is the improvement in demand for manufactured goods.

This has been more pronounced in the silk trade than in either the cotton or woolen industries. It has been felt especially by broad silk makers whose orders in some instances have necessitated capacity operation of their mills. The strike of silk workers at Patterson over the number of looms each worker is expected to look after has been instrumental in keeping down output there. Although about 2000 workers are said to have gone back to work, some mills still are closed.

Mills that have specialized in fine satins, failles and engallines in all-silk or silk and wool mixtures are in such demand that some mills have been unable to fill orders, while the call for silks has been steady. The causes which have produced this situation have included better weather, selling conditions and other factors, but some experts place special stress on color.

Industry, they say, especially that part of it catering to women depends to a great extent upon the changes of the merchantability of the goods. The movement of the fabric is dependent upon three factors—texture, life and color. Color, therefore, has become as great a question as any other factor in textile production. This fact has resulted in development of color experts whose jobs it is to analyze the world of fashion and to deduce for industry what the popular colors will be, sometimes placing such information in the hands of manufacturers a year in advance.

TRADE PICKING UP.

In the last few weeks all branches of the textile manufacturing industry have found relief from long continued depression. There have been strong influences of out of town buyers at wholesale centers from New York to San Francisco. These buyers are showing a disposition to anticipate their foreward requirements more generously. So marked has this tendency become that difficulty has been found in filling some lines, especially in woolens and occasionally premiums are being paid ranging as high as 25 and 50 cents a yard. More mills are resuming production and a scramble [illegible] in the near future.

Farmers Appeal For More Help

ST. PAUL, Sept. 4.—Northwest farmers are appealing urgently for aid in obtaining harvest hands. Farmers say their excellent crops are being menaced by labor shortage. North Dakota alone needs 10,000 men, and offers wages averaging around $4 a day and board with railroad fare included from some points. Heavy yields of grain are expected and shipments will be large as a result of recent growing weather. Railroad crop experts estimate the improvement over last year at from 25 to 75 per cent.

Straus & Co. Cut Loan Rates; Amer. Woolen Passes Dividend; Oil Output Remains Stationary; Copper Indications Are Brighter

By H. S. SCOTT.

S. W. Straus & Co. loans on the Pacific Coast will be made at six per cent interest from now on, in keeping with a policy which general conditions led the New York office of the house to adopt some weeks ago. W. K. Bowes, vice-president of S. W. Straus & Co. and Pacific Coast director of loans for that house told The TRIBUNE today. "Call money rates, generally, are now as low, and in some cases are lower, then they were during the years when practically all of our loans were made at six per cent. Although our clients have been buying six and one-half and even seven per cent bonds of our issues for several years, the time has come when we must reduce the interest rate or lower the standards of security to which all Straus loans must measure up, and that is a policy this house will never adopt.

"The slowing down of new construction during recent months, particularly that which has to do with big buildings, has been due in a measure to the anticipation on the part of builders that such an announcement as this would be made, and we believe that many such enterprises, much needed and promising profitable investment, will promptly be commenced."

An advance of 25 cents per 100 pounds in refined wholesale sugar rates announced as due tomorrow resulted in a slight firming up of several of the Hawaiian sugar stocks in San Francisco today. Honokaa was the most active, sales aggregating 1600 in the morning session of the San Francisco Stock and Bond Exchange at prices fractionally above yesterday. The oils were quiet and slightly weaker. Utilities were unchanged.

Dullness and irregularity marked the course of the New York market today as activities to be dominated by professional traders. Passing of the dividend of American Woolen unsettled closing prices. Outside interest was lacking, buying power limited and the professional bears ready to take advantage of every opportunity to push prices to lower levels. Stocks were freely offered at price concessions in the first two hours and the general level of prices declined, but in previous sessions it was not possible to start liquidation on a broad scale and selling once more came to a standstill.

Important economic and industrial developments being conspicuously absent, professional traders are now reintroducing the subject of political issues and the forthcoming elections. Hesitancy in buying this week is laid to the door of the state elections in Maine, which are proverbially held as one of the important straws to show which way the November political winds are most apt to blow. Financial sentiment remains cheerful, both as related to home and foreign developments.

Railroad stocks gave indications of resuming the forward price move, as Nickel Plate common was rushed up to 119½ for a new high and a gain of 6 points over Wednesday's close; the preferred stock also touched a new high at 92¼. Chesapeake & Ohio gained more than a point at 87¼. Erie was fractionally higher, Pere Marquette in demand at current prices. Outside of this group the rails were unable to make much headway.

Among the insudtsrials the sugar, copper and tobacco stocks made the best market record. Oil and textile stocks were sold quite heavily in the first hour, the bears concentrating on American Woolen, in view of the unsettlement of the textile industry, the passing of its dividend and the postponement of dividend action on Daniel Boone Woolen Mills.

Continued heaviness of the principal European exchanges, which was construed as an indication that the benefits from the Dawes report might not be felt for some time, also was considered a factor in the selling, demand sterling again falling more than a cent to $4.46⅝.

Lowering of the renewal rate on call money to 2 per cent failed to stem the tide of selling. Offerings of the popular rails were more abundant. Union Pacific, Norfolk & Western, Great Northern preferred and several of the low-priced issues sagging 1 to 2½ points. Despite the generally weak tone the large majority of issues developed resistence points above the week's lows, which operators for the advance construed as an encouraging sign. Among the many industrial issues to sell 1 to 2 points below last night's final were American Can, Gulf States Steel, Mack Truck, Pan-American B, Marine preferred, International Paper and Brooklyn Union Gas.

Bond prices drifted aimlessly in early dealingsc. A firmer undertone developed with the return of the call money rate to a 2 per cent basis at the opening, but price changes generally were within narrow limits. Bonds of some of the Western railroads stiffened lightly on the reports of record August traffic.

The daily average gross crude oil production of the United States decreased 7000 barrels for the week ending August 30, totalling 2,030,700 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. The daily average production east of the Rocky Mountains was 1,415,500 barrels, an increase of 8500. California production was 615,200 barrels, an increase of 1500.

Oklahoma showed a daily average production of 547,050 barrels, increase of 4000; Kansas 83,900 barrels, increase of 1150; north Texas 74,200, decrease of 350; central Texas 180,300, decrease of 900; north Louisiana 53,900, decrease of 1150; Arkansas 136,800, decrease of 3550; Gulf coast and southwest Texas 112,450, decrease of 7400; eastern 108,000, increase of 500; Wyoming, Montana and Colorado 110,900, decrease of 800; California 615,200, increase of 1500.

Daily average imports of petroleum at principal ports for the week ended August 30 were 231,286 barrels, compared with 277,857 for the previous week.

There were no changes reported in crude oil prices for the major districts—mid-continent being quoted from $1.10 to $1.50 a barrel, according to the gravity of the oil.

Gulf Coast grade "A" $1.35; grade "B" $1.15; Penna crude, Bradford district, $2.85; all other grades $2.75, and California crude ranging from $1 to $1.40 a barrel.

The announcement that the directors of the Kennecott Copper Corporation deem advisable the call of the company's $15,000,000 of outstanding bonds to be retired from cash on hand and bankers loans furnishes an interesting comparison with the recent condition of that industry. In February the first quarterly Anaconda Copper dividend was passed and market for copper metal was depressed from large stocks. The action of the Kennecott directors is fair evidence that their company has weathered the stress of that period.

Steel mills are now operating at a rate over 50 per cent of capacity as against 40 per cent last month. The general trend of production, however, has been downward during the past month, with the exception of cement, petroleum, copper, tin and certain of the textiles. The week of August 21 shows a decided gain in the number and value of large industrial contracts awarded, according to Engineering News-Record statistics. There is also an increase in the number of large private construction projects now out for bids and in bids desired on commercial buildings valued at $150,000 and over. The two most important price moves which developed during the past week, were, advances in paint materials in the New York district and firmness in fir lumber prices in the Northwest.

Observers of the money market are calculating the effects of the quarterly operations of the Treasury Department. Certificates of indebtedness maturing on September 15 will total about $377,000,000. Semi-annual interest on about $2,597,000,000 of 4¼ per cent Third Liberty Loan bonds will approximate $60,000,000; similar payments on approximately $3,000,000,000 in Treasury notes will total about $60,000,000 more. These payments total $497,000,000. To offset them the government is expected to offer about $3,000,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness and will receive the third quarterly installment of income taxes which is estimated at $250,000,000. The grand total involved will exceed $1,000,000,000 and may cause some flurry in the money market as banks are apt to withdraw funds from call in anticipation of meeting the demands on them from taxpayers.

EASTERN MARKETS

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Wheat displayed a heavy undertone here today on unresponsive Liverpool cables and hedging pressure. Pressure came mostly from houses with Southwestern connections, but the trade was not large during the early dealings, and when buying appeared the market rallied. Sentiment appeared mixed with expectations generally of a two-sided market. Export demand and bullish foreign crop news offset to a large extent the pressure of spring wheat on both sides of the international line. Buying by a strong individual house which absorbed the surplus in the pit caused shorts to cover December for sale above 1.29½, which checked the advance and made a reaction. After starting ⅜c higher to 1¼c lower with September 1.23¾ and December 1.29¼ to 1.29⅝, the market scored trifling gains all around and then recovered slightly.

Corn was affected by reports of generally favorable weather for the new crop. There was some pressure early but the market was unusually quiet. After opening ⅛c lower to ½c higher, with December 1.14¼ to 1.14½, corn underwent a decline all around.

Confirmation of frost in parts of the Canadian Northwest lifted oats. Starting ¼ to ⅝c higher with December 52 to 52½c, values sagged a trifle and then hardened around the initial figures.

Provisions lacked support.

PLAN OF SELLING RIO GRANDE WILL BE CARRIED OUT

Court Denies Intervention to Prohibit Its Sale to Western Pacific.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

DENVER, Sept. 4.—Harold Palmer of New York, H. L. Finklestein of New York and Horace W. Bennett, Denver capitalist, today were denied the right to intervene in the foreclosure sale of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad by Judge J. Foster Symes of the United States District Court, following a hearing which started yesterday.

As a result of the decision of Judge Symes, preparation for the sale of the railroad at public auction under a reorganization plan tentatively approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, will go ahead.

The upset price and the date for the auction sale under a decree of foreclosure sought by the Bankers' Trust Company of New York, trustee of the first mortgage and refunding bonds, now in default, will be fixed shortly by the court.

Palmer, Finklestein and Bennett sought to intervene in an attempt to prevent the proposed reorganizing becoming effective. The reorganization plan already has bene approved by 87 per cent of the holders of the first mortgage and refunding bonds. Palmer, Finklestein and Bennett hold but little more than 1 per cent of the entire issue of the bonds, totalling $18,115,000.

Interest on the bonds has been in default since February.

DRY GOODS

Yarns are slightly firmer. Silks continue to sell moderately and steadily. New lines of dress goods are being shown for the spring with fancies predominating in the offerings. Household linens are in better request from the retail.

NET TONNAGE OF V. K. VESSELS IS REPORTED LARGE

Inbound, Outbound Ships Each Total Over Nine Million Tons.

The number and net tonnage of vessels engaged in foreign trade arriving at and departing from ports in the United Kingdom, including the Isle of Man, with cargoes or in ballast, during the month of June, according to advices just received by the Bankers' Trust company of New York from its English information service, amounted to: 8588 arrived, having a net tonnage of 9,420,000, and 8284 departed, with a net tonnage of 9,024,000. The average daily movement of vessels in June of this year was 286 arrived, having a net tonnage of 314,000, and 276 departed, with a net tonnage of 301,000, comparing with 290 arrived, with a net tonnage of 318,000, and 293 departed with a net tonnage of 324,000, in June, 1923. Compared with the figures for June, 1923, the total tonnage arrived shows a decrease of 1.4 per cent for June, 1924, and that departed a decrease of 7.2 per cent.

The quantity of coal exported fell from 6,588,000 tons in June, 1923, to 4,882,000 tons in June, 1924. This largely accounts for the decrease in the total tonnage of exports.

The total number of steam and motor vessels registered under the merchant shipping act on June 30, 1924, was 12,484, with a registered tonnage of 18,826,000. There were two British steam vessels posted as lost in June, having a tonnage of 7382, comparing with five vessels lost in 1923 with a tonnage of 13,599.

ENGINEER SAVES STUPEFIED MAN IN TRAIN'S PATH

HANFORD, Sept. 4. — Under the influence of insulin taken for diabetes, John H. Linn, a young Kings county farmer, fell into a stupor while crossing the Santa Fe Railroad track in his automobile, the vehicle turning up the track toward an onrushing overland train. The engineer saw the danger of a tragedy in time to apply the air brakes.

Linn was taken from his automobile in a semi-comatose condition and rushed to a hospital. Dr. B. Robbins, who attended him, asserted that one of the peculiarities of insulin is that a patient must immediately indulge in some food containing a high sugar content after taking a treatment, or the effect will be a drowsy condition which the patient cannot easily shake off.

FAMOUS WHALER, WANDERER, ENDS CAREER ON REEF

Ill-Fated Vessel Pioneer of Whaling Industry Out of Golden Gate.

The wreck and loss of the whaling bark Wanderer on the reefs at the west end of Cutty Hunk island has been received with regret by mariners and ship lovers of this section. The old vessel was a well known figure out of Oakland when the whaling industry was flourishing on the Pacific and the tall sticker barks plowed their cumbersome way through the Golden Gate into Arctic in search of sperm whale.

The Wanderer was one of a fleet of famous big fish catchers plying from here fifteen years ago and was owned by J. and R. Wing of New Bedford. This concern controlled several vessels sailing from here, principal of which were the Wanderer, the Narwhal, just returned from the South Seas; the Thrasher, a steam whaler; the Gayhead and the Bowhead. Other whalers operating at the same time included the Beluga, famous in whale fishing annals; the H. J. Knowles, the California, the Cape Horn Pigeon, and the famous Jeannette.

The fleet operated in force up to 1905 when through the increased development of the mineral oil and by the introduction of steam whaling tugs the picturesque old square riggers were gradually retired. Today most of them are ending their careers as coal barges. A few have been annexed by the moving picture industry. Only a couple are left afloat. The Wandered was one of the last of these and at the time of her loss was headed for the South Atlantic on a whale catching cruise. The vessel left Oakland just before the earthquake of 1906.

According to word from the east the vessel is being rapidly dismantled.

TODAY'S SHORT STORY

by Ad Schuster

ONE WHO WAITED

MYRON POTTLE, proprietor of Pottle's Peerless Eating House, greeted his customers with more than his usual pride, for the restaurant which had been in business for more than twenty years was newly decorated and this was like another opening day. Uniformed waitresses stood expectantly beside the tables in place of the men who had served and in the center of each white cloth was a vase of flowers.

"This," said Myron to himself, "is what I call classy."

It was only when he thought of old Ed that his smile disappeared and the proprietor felt a twinge of conscience. Ed had been with the restaurant almost since it started. He was a quiet middle-aged man when he took the job and in his time had waited on all the big men in town. And now he would have to go. Myron shrugged his shoulders and told himself that sentiment cannot be carried too far in business and that a lot of restaurant men would have dismissed the old fellow long before.

Ed sensed the change when he arrived to take on the 12 o'clock shift. He looked at the girls as if he doubted his senses. There had never been a waitress here before. This was a man's shop. And now they were all girls, all except himself.

It struck him that perhaps Myron would keep him as a sort of overseer. He would need someone to show the girls how things were done, how to work the butter cutter, the egg boiler and the coffee urn. A steady head among the bobbed, he reflected, was what was needed. As Myron, dreading to break the news, said nothing Ed took heart and tried to step briskly. He would show these girls.

"He can't hear more than half what's said to him."

Myron mused. "And he is forever reading the prices wrong. I lose customers and money so long as I keep him and yet and yet old Ed would do anything for me."

In his anxiety to please Ed made more mistakes than usual. Complaints were brought to the desk and a decision was made.

[illegible] ordeal, 'until he goes home and then I will telephone him."

So it was in the dull hour next morning that Myron after rehearsing what he would say, telephoned to the waiter who had helped build up the business and had once been the pride of the shop. The practiced speech failed in the test. Myron stammered, apologized, explained and finished by making an offer of a month's wages in advance, something that had not occurred to him before.

There was a moment of silence on the other end of the line, a moment which seemed hours to the worried restaurant proprietor. Was Ed thinking back to the days when there were but four tables in the place and when Myron handled the counter? Was he wondering what he would do, now to earn a living?

Myron pictured the old man trying to find a job at his trade in a day when the restaurants were hiring girls. If he were a little younger, just a little like he used to be in the old days it would be easy. But now, there was no one who would see in the near-sighted old man material for a waiter.

Then he heard Ed making reply.

"It's all right," the waiter said "I sort of expected it."

This was worse than if he had protested.

"I was wondering," Ed continued, "if you want to sell out and how much you wanted."

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

By Mildred Marshall

ABIGAIL.

Quaint and simple and old fashioned as Abigail is considered in this country, the name has an interesting history in England. It signifies "father of joy" and was used by the Eastern nations to represent the abstract quality of joyfulness. The Biblical Abigail, in her courtesy to David, so recommended herself to early readers of the Holy Book that her name appeared frequently in church registers.

In the reign of Queen Anne, Abigail Masham exerted such a backstair influence upon the worthy sovereign, that the name became a sobriquet for lady's maid.

In the play of Killigrew's, some thirty years later, the term Abigail was used for a maid servant and its sudden failure was attributed to its reference to the influence of the famous Abigail Masham. After that time the name was considered a cant term for lady's maid but with the coming of the Puritans to America, it sprang again into favor among the higher classes and is today much used in old-fashioned families, especially in New England.

The amethyst is Abigail's talismanic stone. It is believed to protect her from evil of every kind and to be particularly potent in guarding her from deceitful acquaintance. Sunday is her lucky day and 6 her lucky number.

MY HUSBAND'S LOVE

by Adele Garrison

YOU'RE A BRICK RATHER

ALFRED DURKEE shot a quizzical look at me. "I am prostrated in the dust with contrition," he said, smiling. "I had forgotten that you were a super-shopper."

"Nothing of the kind," I retorted a bit testily. "I love to dawdle and window-shop as well as anybody, but today, as old Betty used to say, is something else again." I must get things done in the quickest possible time, and I can meet you in two hours easily. How about you? Can you manage to get your business done in that time?"

I did not mean to have my question tinged with feminine malice, but Alfred took up the gage promptly.

"Less than that, I'm sure," he said with apparent carelessness, but I guessed that he would get through with his particular commission on time or break his neck in the attempt—I have not been married to Dicky for years without getting a few sidelights upon masculine mental processes.

"Then suppose we meet"—I broke off abruptly with a remembrance of the dilemma of the driver, and explained to Alfred in a few swift, low words the danger in which the driver stood from recognition by a man whom his government work had made a deadly enemy. Alfred looked thoughtful, and then put a question.

"In how many stores are you going to shop?"

"Only one," I returned promptly, "that outfitting shop for children on the Avenue. I can get everything I wish right there."

"Then I have it!" he ejaculated, "Brooklyn!"

I looked at him amazed, and with an amused little laugh, he explained:

"We'll all meet in Brooklyn," he said. "How about it?" He touched the driver on the shoulder. "Under the circumstances, wouldn't you rather pick us up in Brooklyn?"

The driver turned around, relief upon his face.

"You're sure it will be all right for you, ma'am?" he queried.

"Absolutely," I affirmed, although I was a bit in doubt as to the practicability of Alfred' scheme.

"Then that will be the best thing," the youth responded. "I'd thought of it, but didn't like to spring it. I suppose you'll be coming over on the subway, of course."

"Naturally," Alfred rejoined.

"Then"—one could almost se him laying out our route in his brain—"take this branch and ge off at this station"—he named corner a long way out. "I'll be waiting there unless I'm croake or in the hospital, an hour and half from now. You'll be tha long, won't you?"

"Two hours," Alfred answered.

"Then, if I'm not there whe you come you'll have to get on bac to Flushing without waiting fo me, for I won't be anywhere. Bu that's only a million to one shot You'll see me waiting at the churc when you get there, and I'll driv to Jamaica and then across Flushing. It won't take muc longer, and it will be lots safer.

"So be it," Alfred said with reassuring smile to the man. "Driv me to the nearest subway station.

TAKING THE SUBWAY.

"You let me off there, too," said, and I knew that I had made wise decision by the relief whic flared into the eyes of the drive though he protested conscientiously.

"Are you sure it will be all righ with Mrs. Bird?"

"Of course," I returned. "I ca get a taxi right at the station I ge off, and really make better tim than I could going from here with you."

"That's right," he agreed, an turned his car around in the direction of the subway station w wished. We were almost the when Alfred voiced a dismaye protest.

"But your bundles, Madge!" h exclaimed. "I hadn't thought them. You'll be weighted down lik a delivery wagon."

I hadn't thought of them, eithe, and the prospect of traveling in th crowded subway, with my arms fu of boxes, was anything but plea urable, but I laughed lightly Alfred's look.

"I'm a fairly able-bodied you woman," I said. "And really"— drawled my words affectedly—"a my set are out of town. I don believe I'll lose a bit of social pre tige even if I add a market baske to the load."

Alfred looked at me oddly.

"No, I don't believe you will," said slowly, and then with a quic brotherly pat on my shoulder, added, in a tone that made me flu with gratified pleasure:

"Do you know, Mrs. Ma you're rather a brick?"

I hope, Pals, that you won't think I am giving you too much of one thing, but the letters dealing with what we will teach our children, are so very vital, that I can't resist printing them. They should mean something to ALL of us:

Dear Geraldine:

I have often read the opinion of others and think that I will now have my say. I will try my best to answer both Mother Machree and Oleomargarine with my opinion added and a little history.

Religion is a study that requires years of research, not only in history, but such studies as anthropology (study of primitive man); psychology both individual and social; history as a historical study of religion in the light of historical conditions under which religions rise, grow and decay; theology, dealing with certain concepts that center around the idea of God; and a study of comparative beliefs. When one has studied these subjects they have a knowledge of religion; others have opinions. At present I have only opinion to offer.

Religion teaches us that God is all powerful. We must love God above everyone else, above our mother and father. We are taught to worship God. I am quoting from a very ancient form of religion when I say that "we cannot conceive God—God has no form or shape—we cannot see Him—we cannot feel Him (as a sense of touch and not in a religious sense)—we cannot smell Him—we cannot wear Him." That alone makes God inconceivable. We Christians term this Almighty Power "God." The Egyptians termed it "Allah." Every religion has its own name for this Power and yet it is all the same. Who knows but that this Power might be nature and humanity, just another development of nature, higher than any other?

God has no form. God is all powerful and perfect, higher than man. Therefore God has never taken the form, neither of man, animal or plant, or God would be on their level. As God has created the world and all it contains He would not be perfect if He changed into something else. From this theory I will say that Christ was not the son of God, born of man and woman. If that is the case, we are all sons and daughters of God, for we are all born of man and woman. Christ was no more than a plain, ordinary man with the limitations of man, except that He, like many geniuses since His time, had a new vision. Had He not impressed his followers, His religion would have died with Him. The same is true of Luther and other religious geniuses. That is why we have so many different religions.

All great religions have their good and bad points. Some religions contradict many of their own teachings. One example I shall give is one of the Ten Commandments — "Thou shalt not worship graven images." A little delving into history will show that at the time of Christ people were hideous looking, according to the modern viewpoint of beauty. Their skins were coarse and very dark. Their features were ugly and large; their noses were broad and flat not unlike the features of the cannabalistic races. I am speaking of Jerusalem and surrounding country, as very little was known of the world. Only as time has passed has man been enlightened and through development man is what he is today. Yet man has put up graven images to conform to our type of beauty and worships them. What difference is there between that and the Chinese and cannabalistic worshiping of idols?

Men are becoming more intellectual every day and only through science. Science and religion conflict. Science is impartial. Science observes, describes and explains, no distinction between a saint and a sinner. All facts are equal before the scientific law. Science is impartial also with regard to conclusions that it may be compelled to make upon the basis of observation, description and explanation and may reach conclusions contrary to beliefs.

Chinese Are Most Honest People

On the other hand, all religions are based upon beliefs and faith in those beliefs. Religion depends upon a concept of supernatural. Nature is not self-sufficient and cannot depend upon itself. Nature must have God behind it. Religion is not impartial and there is great difference between a saint and sinner. With religion there is always a purpose. With science there is always a cause.

If children were taught religion in the manner that it is taught today the answer would be the downfall of science. The trouble is that most people have a very shallow idea of religion and that is blamed only on what they are taught on Sundays.

The biggest liars in the world are usually the most religious. I have found out from experience and many will agree with me. IF MORE PEOPLE WOULD FOLLOW THE GOLDEN RULE THE WORLD WOULD BE BETTER OFF, which reminds me that the Chinese people, taken as a whole, are the most honest, truthful people known. They honor their father and mother.

Religion in schools will do more harm than good, for in the first place no religion is followed in the manner it should be, or the world would not be so corrupt as it is; and in the second place there are too many children who only have grammar and high school educations and they would go into the world with an idea of religion so shallow that they would soon become narrow and bigoted.

As Mother Machree says, religion is a very deep subject and I will add, too deep a subject for children to have thrust upon them when it can only be sprinkled. Oleomargarine gives some sound arguments which also remind me that she says she believes in Christ according to her own interpretations. To many people an interpretation of their religion is really no more than great love, which comes in many forms, such as art, music, poetry and even the lower things, such as money. That to many people is religion—a great love for a thing just the same as others have a great love for the teachings of Christ. It all remains in the interpretation.

I have explained as best I can, Geraldine, the teachings of a man who has studied for years to get a KNOWLEDGE of religion. I have only added, in a few cases, the opinion I have reached through theories. His opinion I do not know, for He is a great man and is not in a position to tell them.

OPINION.

My Dear Geraldine:

If my memory serves me right you called for opinions as to whether religion should or should not be taught in the schools. This I suppose was in response to the very general interest felt in such matters at this time, when so many are claiming that it is the lack of that kind of teaching by somebody that is responsible for the increase in crime. Allowing for the sake of argument that crime has increased materially in the past decade and that something that religion has in it will improve conditions, what religion are you going to teach in the public schools which is going to have the general approval of those who support them, for unless you do you are suggesting something that has endless possibilities in it for sowing discord in a community and in opening again the breach now so nearly closed between so many sects that at one time hated one another so bitterly. If on the other hand morals and ethics are taught in the public schools no one can have any valid objection regardless of what religious sect he may incline toward because the kind of morals and ethics which tend to keep young and old alike straight are common to every religion worthy of the name. It is necessary, however, for us not to allow ourselves to become confused into not distinguishing between the two, and I believe many who are advocating religious teaching really mean the teaching of morals and ethics. It is in the main a wish to support good morals and ethics which is common to our entire American people that reflect themselves in our laws, state and national, no matter how faulty some of them seem to be and these were enacted with the support and consent of a people with a multitudinous number of religions, these separate religions all in the main good. But it would be the gravest error to incorporate in our public school system anything which could remotely be construed to favor one religious sect as against another. If anyone doubts that such could be the case let him or her read some of the examples of intolerance expressed in some of the published letters. Can you imagine any harmony being left in school or out of it if the advocates of that particular "religious" angle of mind could incorporate it in our public school system. The Christian philosophy of life is a very beautiful, comforting and constructive philosophy of life as we have it handed down to us by a very free translation of the ancient Hebrew and Greek in which it was written and the morals and ethics which it advises and inculcates can be safely promulgated in any company without offense but what a different thing it is from the sweeping denunciations of some ranting bigot whose utterances have as little of the true purpose of religion in as the ancient dispute amongst theologians as to the number of angels that could stand on the point of a needle. Individually any person who feels that way about it is entitled to as much comfort and any message as they think they may draw from the scriptures but there was much written before and has been much written since the Scriptures which has just as deep an import in its bearings upon the spiritual side of human life. In fact, the man who can not read at all may still if he will, receive a message and the law of living direct from the supreme intelligence if he will follow the level of his eyes to where it is daily revealed in nature and in humanity if he will but ponder on it and the self-sacrificing scientists of all branches and in all ages have done to say the least, as much to glorify the supreme being as have the theologians and in doing so have been very reticent about damning anybody.

"JUST A READER."

Have you a spare seat in your auto?

Dear Jerry:

My first letter to you and I am crying on your shoulder. Here is my problem. I am a young woman—have a dear boy 14. Things have gone so badly with us here that we want to get home to Los Angeles. I have not been able to get work here and as my old position is open for me there, I feel as though we will be better off if we can get back.

Now, Jerry, I am sure some of the Gang often drive that far, and I wonder if they would take us for company, or I would work for them before leaving here, or after arriving there. It seems a short distance, but a long way to me just now. I cannot tell you how we would appreciate this and I am sure, somehow, someone can help us.

Thank you, Jerry. May your good work go on.

Truly yours,
HOPEFUL.

PERSONAL WORD.

PEGGY. I surely do agree with you. Your friend is too selfish and unreasonable to make a real friend. I'd drop him with speed and enthusiasm.

CAN'T FORGET (whose letter was printed Aug. 29). If you will send me your name and address I will forward a letter that has come to you.

JULY 21. The "personal word" that appeared Saturday, August 30, was for you. Through an error the name was omitted.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

TODAY.

There must have been a wise providence watching over us when time was divided into watches of days and nights. Each day dawns in the sunshine, a new day.

We sometimes cheat children out of this beneficent gift by dragging yesterday over to today. That is not wise, nor is it fair, nor will it help us. Far better let the night wipe out the deeds of the day and begin afresh with the rising sun.

Settle each day's accout before the sun goes down. If you feel unequal to that, be sure that there is no settling to it but what time will bring, and let it go at that. More trouble comes of dragging yesterday's offenses into today's clean sheet than a host of teachers and report cards could ever make straight.

That does not mean that we are not to profit by experiences, and that we are not to teach the children to profit by them. It does mean that we are not to keep bringing up past misdeeds, and forcing the children to explain them when they can't explain them, and scold them all over again for something they would gladly forget.

It is much better that they be allowed to forget their misdeeds after you have talked them over the one and proper time. It is not wise to refresh their minds with the record of a deed that was wrong. They may find something joyful in the reckoning and resolve to try it again, or they may say to themselves that there isn't any use trying to be any better because you can't forget the one wrong thing they did ages ago.

It is a form of nagging that makes the atmosphere of some homes almost unbearable. "It's time you studied your lesson, Bill. I should think you'd remember that without being told seeing that you got sixty percent last Friday and I had to sign your paper."

"Yes, but I got a hundred twice since then."

"Because I made you study. If I hadn't made you study you would not have done a bit better. The idea of getting sixty on a test in spelling. You ought to be ashamed of yourself. Get out your books and get busy. No more sixties, now."

The fact that Billy got a hundred percent twice after he got the poor mark doesn't seem to take hold at all. Only the bad mark sticks. The boy goes at his spelling lesson not in the mood to get another hundred but in the dull notion of getting sixty, which is a far, far different thing.

Much better to let bygones be bygones. Start each day with a clean slate, and forget what has happened yesterday as far as you can. At least don't mention it. That is why the kind darkness follows the brightness of day. Make the most of it.

Uncle Wiggily

by Howard R. Garis

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping over the fields and through the woods, looking for an adventure, he saw Sammie Little tail, the rabbit boy, lying on a bed of ferns under a greenwood tree. And Sammie was just lying there, blinking his eyes, lazy like.

"What are you doing, Sammie?" asked Uncle Wiggily, for he often watched over the animal boys and girls of Woodland to see that they didn't get into mischief.

"I'm not doing anything, Uncle Wiggily!" laughed Sammie, "and I'm having a lot of fun doing it."

"So I see," spoke the bunny gentleman, "but why aren't you at school?"

"I got out early, 'cause I knew my lessons," said Sammie.

"Well, I'm glad you know your lessons," went on Uncle Wiggily, "but it isn't good for a growing rabbit boy to grow up lazy. You should find something to keep you busy. I don't mean that you should not play some of the time—no, indeed! But it seems to me you ought to be practicing your digging lesson, instead of just lying under a tree, doing nothing."

Just then Sammie popped out of the hole.

"All right," cheefully answered Sammie, for very often Uncle Wiggily gave him lollypops or gumdrops. "All right, I'll practice. But where shall I dig?"

"You might dig in my garden," answered the bunny gentleman. "I am going to plant some late beans. They might be ready to eat before frost comes."

So Sammie hopped to the garden behind the bunny gentleman's hollow stump bungalow, and there the little rabbit boy began to dig. He dug and he dug and then he dug some more. He made deep holes in the ground. He tunneled here and there, building burrows. Burrows, you know, are underground tunnels in which rabbits live when they don't have hollow stump bungalows.

All of a sudden, as Sammie was digging deep down in the ground, he heard voices up over his head.

"That sounds like Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane talking," thought Sammie, down in the burrow he had made. "I must be under and near the bungalow. I'll dig straight up and surprise Uncle Wiggily."

Sammie began digging so he would come out on top of the ground. He worked his paws very fast. My, how he made the dirt fly behind him! Soon he saw a glimmer of light. Then he broke through the crust of earth and came out on top of the ground.

And he happened to dig out right behind where Uncle Wiggily was standing, talking to Nurse Jane in the garden. Uncle Wiggily was saying:

"I told that Sammie boy to come and dig in my garden, but I don't see him anywhere! Dear me! How lazy the young rabbits are now!"

And just then Sammie popped up out of the hole he had dug. Nurse Jane saw him, and pointing her tail at him she squeaked:

"There's Sammie now—behind you, Uncle Wiggily!"

"Where?" cried the rabbit uncle, and he turned so quickly that he tumbled head over tail into the hole Sammie had dug. Right on top of Sammie, in the hole, toppled Uncle Wiggily, falling backward.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Sammie, as he scrambled out. "I guess I'm a pretty good digger, Uncle Wiggily! Ha! Ha!" And then he stopped laughing for he feared Uncle Wiggily might be hurt, or angry.

But the bunny gentleman was neither. Up he jumped with a laugh and a twinkle of his pink nose.

"You are, indeed, a good digger, Sammie," he said. "But next time please don't dig a hole for me to tumble into." Sammie said he wouldn't, and then he ate the lollypop gum drop his uncle gave him.

And if the chocolate candy doesn't cry because it can't be made white, like a marshmallow cream, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's brick dust.

Illuminating Remarks

The orchestra stopped suddenly and in the darkness of the theater a clear feminine voice was remarking didactically:

"Oh, yes, we blondes must positively be clean. A soiled blonde is an atrocity. Only the dashing brunettes can get away with a little dirt.

Two fashionable ladies were chatting vivaciously in the rest room.

". . . so I told her she would have to give up the apartment. Like so many people, she persisted in regarding her own dirt as clean dirt. She was mightily insulted when I told her that I had furnished the house well and expected my tenants to maintain decent standards.

"Fancy anyone who can afford to pay $350 a month for an apartment having such slovenly habits! The place was like a pigsty. And her expensive georgette negligee was covered in old egg spots.. . ."

The handsome movie actor was very aggrieved.

". . . and she takes that darned little pet monkey down on the lot with her, and whenever we have to do a love scene she fondles and kisses the creature all over—and then comes and kisses me!

"I told the director I wouldn't stand for it, but he said she was the star, so there, and if I didn't like it he would get another leading man, but she had jolly well got to have her monkey if she wanted it. . . ."

Silkworms Killed By Gas

Silk fibers are obtained, as every one knows, from the cocoon that the adult silk worm weaves around itself when it is about to undergo its transformation into the moth. In collecting this silk it is necessary to kill the worm inside. Otherwise the young moth will pierce the cocoon in order to escape, thus rendering the silk useless.

This was done formerly by heat. Recently, however, one of the poison gases used during the war, the gas called chlorpicrin, has been applied successfully for this purpose. The worms inside the cocoons are killed promptly and without damage to the silk. This is the fifth or sixth of the wartime poison gases to find a use in peaceful arts.

The WELL-DRESSED MAN

By Beaunash

CORRECT CLOTHES

WHAT TUXEDO HAT?

It is still a droll peculiarity of some men that they feel in evening dress, as though they were hovering upon the edge of a thousand-foot drop, or that they are about to undergo a taste of the bastinado, the strappado and other forms of punishment that hark back to medieval times. Misquoting Alexander Pope: "True ease in dress comes from art, not chance, as those move lightest who have learned to dance." To be on friendly terms with evening clothes one must wear them oftener, seeking, not avoiding, the occasions that proscribe them.

One of the much-mooted questions about Tuxedo dress is what hat correctly accompanies it. There are three choices—the black derby, the black felt hat, the black velour hat. All of these have their advocates and all are to be seen upon very well-dressed men. The pearl gray felt hat with a black ribbon has latterly been taken up by some for Tuxedo wear, but this must be set down as a fad rather than a fashion. Then, there is the black left with a ribbed-silk underbrim which enjoys a vogue of sorts in the larger cities. It is, however, only a variation of the soft hat and cannot be classified as a separate style.

The black velour sketched here has much to recommend it as a Tuxedo hat and it is by way of coming back into more general favor. It is rich and lustrous in texture and quite different in effect from any other soft hat. Besides, it harmonizes uncommonly well with black unfinished worsted. You may wear the hat either dented at the sides, as shown, or undented, preserving the full, round effect which so many well-turned-out men favor this season.

The black derby is still accepted as one of the most correct hats to wear with the Tuxedo jacket, because it is confessedly semi-formal, whereas a soft hat is always informal. The present shape is slightly higher in crown and wider in brim to confirm with the looser type of suits. In any case, set aside a special hat to go with your Tuxedo and do not wear it for any other purpose. Thus, it will always look fresh and spic and span, instead of slightly worn or faded.

MY FAVORITE STORIES by IRVIN S. COBB

A Proud Day For Any Gladiator.

There was once upon a time a barkeep in Cleveland who was not particularly distinguished for his prowess in combat. Some rough-and-ready boys—this, of course, was before prohibition, when many people still drank, and there were rough-and-ready boys—frequented the establishment where he officiated and these patrons showed contempt for this reluctance on his part about grabbing the bung-starter and wading into the mess when the trouble broke out.

It is possible that their twitting got on Fred's nerves; his name was Fred. One evening, when a group of the regular customers had gathered, Fred took advantage of a lull in the conversation to present his personal claims for consideration.

"Say," he began, "some of you fellows seem to have the idea that I ain't much of a scrapper. Well, you ought to have been here last night then. You'd a' seen a job of bouncing that would a' made you open your eyes. I done it single-handed, too, all by myself, without nobody to help me."

"Or, in other words and to make it plain so we can all understand you, you handled the job alone," spoke up a hearer with a gift for irony.

"You get it," said Fred proudldy.

"Without no assistance from no source whatsoever, I chucked that bum out."

"What bum?" asked another interested auditor.

"I'm fixin' to tell you. Well, I was on watch along about 11 o'clock and there was nobody only me in the place, when in comes this here guy. I don't know his name, but I've seen him hangin' around this corner several days, and right from the first I sized him up for a no-good bum. Well, he'd been gittin' his snout full somewheres and he started right away gettin' fresh same as if he owned this liquor store. I called him down and he cussed me out, and with that I went for him bare-handed. Yes, sir, that's just what I done. I didn't hesitate a minute—just waded right into him.

"He was a lot taller than me, but that didn't make no difference the way I was feelin' just then. I made a pass for him but he had the longest reacher and I couldn't get inside his guard. I ain't had much experience at scrappin' but the idea come to me to grab him and trip him and roll him on the floor. Still, he looked too big for that.

"Then I remembered hearin' one of you fellows say once that in a situation like that the best thing to do was to play for the other guy's wind. So I bored in and feinted with my left at his chin and he throwed up both hands to parry and I socked him with my right in the bread-basket and he doubled up like one of these here carpenter's rules. So, just to make sure, I handed him another on the jaw and he was through. I dragged him out to the door and throwed him on the sidewalk and I says to him, I says: 'Now, you big stiff, I reckon you'll know better after that'.

"And then I came back and got both his crutches and his tray of shoelaces and throwed them out after him."

According to Dorothy Dix

Have you a little martyr in your family? If you have, don't pile any more faggots around the stake at which she is being slowly roasted. Don't give the thumbscrews another turn. Don't add to the burdens under which she is being crushed.

You don't know what I mean? Well, then, listen to the story of Susan, and perhaps it will enlighten you, and, as Captain Cuttle used to say, "the bearings of the story is the application thereof."

Susan is a woman in her late thirties, but so tired and worn that she looks older. She is a competent stenographer and earns a good salary, but she is always shabby because it takes so much money to support her family that she never has any to spend on herself.

Susan is the youngest one of a large family. All of the other brothers and sisters are married and have established homes, with wives and husbands and children of their own. But Susan has never married, although she had many chances to do so in her youth, because somebody had to take care of mother. The brothers and sisters were quite horrified at the thought of mother being left alone in her old age with nobody to look after her.

But none of them volunteered to break up their own homes and take on the job.

Mother had no money, and just as soon as she was out of school Susan went to work to support her and an old aunt, who wished herself on Susan. Ever since Susan has been footing the bills. The other sons and daughters are so sorry they can't help, but are always building a new house, or buying a new car, or expanding their business, or sending their children off to college, or taking a trip to Europe, so really they haven't a penny that they can spare.

But they are very dutiful about coming to see mother, and paying her long visits when they are tired out and want to rest, and they often send the children to spend months at a time with grandma. In fact, there is hardly ever a time when there isn't some one of them staying there. And in the summer they make it a custom to have a family reunion in the old home. It is so nice for mother to have all of her children and grandchildren together with her.

That's the time when Susan runs into debt to the butcher and grocer, for it never occurs to the well-off sisters and brothers to pay board, although they are eloquent enough about the high cost of living when it touches their own pocketbooks. They ignore the fact that it is because Susan has had to feed them and their hungry children that she can't afford the new dress she needs so badly.

Susan's life is a dull, hopeless grind. All day at the office, and then back home at night to the society of two querulous, tiresome old women, who tell the same old stories over and over again, and who have a thousand whims and crochets that must be catered to.

The brothers and sisters say that it is just wonderful the patience Susan has with mother and Aunt Hannah, but none of them ever come and stay with mother and Aunt Hannah while Susan goes away somewhere and gets a little much-needed rest.

Yet mother is just as much the other children's mother as she is Susan's. Mother did for them just as much as she did for Susan. Their duty to mother is just as great as is Susan's. It is just as much up to them to help support her as it is Susan.

They have no right to dump the whole burden of mother's support on Susan, and to sacrifice Susan on the family altar. Still less have they the right to sponge on Susan's meager purse and force her to take care of their children. It is a beastly selfish thing they do, and they don't make amends by calling Susan a saint. It isn't a halo Susan wants. She desires a twenty-five-dollar hat.

Nor does mother appreciate what Susan does for her. It takes every cent that Susan makes to feed and clothe mother, and keep a roof above her head and a fire in the furnace. Mother takes all of this for granted, with never a thank for it, but she has spasms of appreciation and gratitude for the five-dollar bill that her sons occasionally send her, and the lace collar and the knitted shawl that Maud and Geraldine presented to her on her birthday.

It is the children that have gone out into the world and who have fine homes and go into society and who are successful in business of whom mother is proud. It is their exploits of which she brags, and she wants them to spend their money in making a splurge. Susan will take care of her. Poor Susan, who was never pretty or dashing or ambitious like the other girls.

It is the old, old story of the Prodigal Son, who has the fatted calf slain for him, while the good son never gets so much as a veal chop.

Have you a Susan in your family? If so, quit being a welcher. Divide up with her. It is just as much your duty to help take care of your parents as it is hers.

Kellogg's Bran delights father by bringing health to children

Poor little kids—they needed bran badly. But they wouldn't eat ordinary brans. They didn't like them. Most folks don't. Then their father tried Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. What a difference! He tells the story in his letter:

"Dear Sirs:

I wish to express my appreciation of your krumbled bran, which I have used for my children this summer. We had a great deal of trouble with them through constipation, and bran had been the most satisfactory remedy but they could not be induced to take the old varieties . . . because they disliked them so. They enjoy the krumbled bran and consider it an essential ingredient of their porridge. No one whose children have not been troubled in this way can appreciate the relief there is in having their bowels move regularly."

(The original of this letter is on file at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Constipation is a dangerous disease. It should not be neglected. But do not try halfway measures in seeking relief. Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran. And it takes ALL bran to be 100% effective. Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to bring permanent relief, if eaten regularly, in the most chronic cases. If it fails, your grocer will return your money.

Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream. The flavor is delicious. Sprinkle it on other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes on every package. It will bring you health. Begin eating it to-day. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

CHRISTINE of the HUNGRY HEART

by KATHLEEN NORRIS

The Story Thus Far.

After a few years of marriage Christine Knight, young, beautiful and rich, realizes that she is desperately unhappy. However, because she does not believe in divorce, she decides to make the best of her life with her adored little daughter, Betty-Lou and her openly bored and neglectful husband, Stuart. So she and Dr. Alan Monteagle, who has recently met, and found themselves in love with each other, decide not to see each other again. Then one day Stuart, driving with the woman whom gossip calls his mistress, runs into his mother's car, and almost kills Christine. Alan Monteagle hurries to her side, and by working night and day, pulls her back to life. She divorces her husband and marries Alan. But a few years find her jealous of the time her husband spends on his profession—especially on the Vianneys; young Ivan Vianney, wounded in the war, is one of his special interests. And Ivan became interested in Christine. They finally go away together to Rio de Janeiro. Alan divorces her and gets the custody of their son. She and Ivan return to New York. Ivan tires of her and goes to France.

CHAPTER XD.

Too Late.

A week later, from a small uptown hotel, she wrote Dan, Ivan had gone to France, she did not quite know when he would be back. Dan was pleased to deposit the enclosed check, and tell her how her finances were. And had he any news?

Dan, a poor letter writer, immediately replied. She had a balance of some hundreds and her income would be about two hundred a month. Betty-Lou was well and happy. Had she seen the little boy? Dan had called, and had found him a fine little fellow. They called him 'Alan' now, and he was in school.

He made no reference to Ivan's departure. Christine destroyed the letter, dissatisfied. Did Dan know that she and Ivan had not been married? Of course he must, for she would have told him otherwise. She read disapproval and shock into his brief lines, and resented them.

A few days later she took a small apartment in one of the Fifties, near Broadway. She got her own breakfast, but usually lunched and dined downtown. Every morning she bathed and groomed herself scrupulously; she walked down the Avenue, studying the windows, she got the newest magazines, and the discussed novels, and read the paper for half an hour each morning, and for perhaps two hours on Sunday.

Presently, after a week or two of this, she met Genevieve Paddock, a handsome, vivacious woman who had once stayed at Friends Crossing, and on another day she accidentally encountered the pretty blonde, helpless little Mrs. Maurer who had been on the "Vestres," Nevada bound for her divorce a year ago, and with whom Chris had had an occasional lunch or tea during the past year.

Through Chris these two women who were also established in small apartments in the neighborhood, met, and the three, when they could find a fourth, often played bridge, went down to lunch, and kept appointments together with manicure or corsetiere. They were occasionally joined by members of the rather less successful musical group, by actresses past their prime, by types of unsuccessful women ranging up and down the entire social scale.

Attached, and always in attendance as satellites, were plenty of men. Many were casual visitors in the city, who would be introduced to one woman, in one of the cheaper hotels, and meet the others through her. These men liked company, liked smartly-dressed women to accompany them to the restaurant and sights, and more often than not, as Alma Bertmann, who was a leader in the group, expressed it, "behaved themselves like gentlemen."

Chris, beautiful, distinguished and mysterious, need never have paid for a dinner in money. But she often found the money the cheaper of the two modes of payment.

She wanted not to think, she wanted to keep moving, to forget, but the dull round, the simulated interest, the long hours, the increasing stupidity and recklessness of the parties bored her almost unbearably.

On the burning nights of the summer there was usually a large open car, a packed party of some seven persons in it, the old jokes, the old threats, the old stupidities, and a run to the Long Island beaches, or perhaps Coney. They never looked at the sea, they never breathed deep of the clean country air; personalities were their world and they stayed in it.

Late at night Chris would find herself reentering her big, hot, sunbaked building; perhaps there would be a few annoying minutes while she dismissed a reluctant and half-irresponsible escort. No matter, she was alone at last.

She would get into a thin nightgown, put out the lights, fill a long glass with ice and ginger ale, and establish herself at her one wide window, to stare down at the city, that was still panting in the heat, and so soon to be smitten with the red dawn.

But even then she did not think; her mind wandered aimlessly, she would presently get sleepy, and go fling herself on the top of her bed.

On her dressing-table, among the pots and jars she arranged so neatly, and dusted so scrupulously, was a tiny snap-shot of Jeffy and Betty Lou, but she never looked at it, or even saw it. Her tortoise-shell set—the gift of a grateful patient to Alan, years ago, who had had her exchange it—bore the entwined initials "C. M. M." But she called herself "Mrs. Knight."

Chris paid a hundred dollars a month for her two rooms and four-foot closet of a kitchenette; it was too much. Her income was less than three hundred dollars a month, and was constantly decreasing because she had to turn two or three bonds into cash, every six weeks or so, to pay her bills. The simplest dress she wore cost her a hundred dollars, and her hats half that, and her shoes one quarter. And she paid Kitty ten dollars a week to put her apartment in order once a day, and bring her her breakfast tray.

In the fall she combined forces with Mabel Temple. It was not less expensive, but much less lonely. Mabel was an actress unsuccessful but optimistic and because she acted like the most scrupulous of women, and talked like the most reckless of wantons, Chris did not quite know how to place her.

Mabel was large, about twenty-eight, and always described by her friends as "good-hearted." She ate, drank, slept, powdered and rouged too much, and at times she would cry, while defending her character, and claiming that she had always been a good friend to her friends.

But she was delightful company, sweet, clinging, clever in the kitchen, never cross or critical, and most amusing in her discursive moods. She kept herself and her room exquisitely neat, with a large and old-fashioned doll with real hair and eyelashes sitting up in a doll's buggy, in one corner, and seven expensive and enormous Kewpies arranged in a row in another.

Mabel introduced Chris, whom she admired, to young Bruce Morgenstirn, nephew of the great Morgenstirn, and Bruce arranged an interview with his uncle for Mrs. Knight, who wanted a small part in any play, at any salary. Rudolf Morgenstirn, the uncle, regarded Chris unfavorably, and talked to her facetiously about one night stands, and the accommodations of small town hotels.

He was unctious, large, with a clever Jewish face, a big nose, and shining glasses. Chris was surprised at his youth, he was not much older than herself. But being a man, at thirty-three he was in his prime, and could tell her quite honestly that she was beginning too late.

"You shoot of begun at adeteen!" he said, with the thickest and most offensive accent she had ever heard, yet with an oriental suavity of voice. And as he casually dismissed her she saw blossomy girl after girl waiting, dewy-eyed, rose-cheeked, palpitant, in his outer office.

New Navigation Instrument

A novel instrument invented recently by M. Baule, a French naval lieutenant, draws on the map the exact path that a ship is following. The operation is entirely automatic. A gyroscopic compass turns the line of the pen to correspond with turns of the ship, and an automatic log moves the pen across the map to a distance just corresponding to that which the ship has moved.

WANDERING HANDS

CHAPTER 14.

But KNOWING that you are going to make good and really doing it are two different propositions. The road to success is long and the way is thorny. One must be bigger than the obstacles that they find in their path, big and strong enough to push them aside, and he was only a boy of twenty with a reform school record and she a little girl of sixteen with an old violin.

But give them credit for trying. Greater credit to him who was the weak one, and being that, gave up after a few days of hopeless discouragements.

He DID land a position in the shipping room of a big wholesale concern, but had not been at work two hours when someone who knew him by sight drifted in also looking for work and remarked to the shipping room boss, "You want to watch that bird. He's been up at Preston doing time."

Paul beat the boss to it and walked out of the place before he had a chance to fire him. But the impulsive act only added to his guilt in the eyes of the boss, who called up a few of his fellow bosses giving them a description of the "bird" and with it a warning.

Of course there wasn't one chance in ten of Paul encountering any of these forewarned individuals, or again coming in contact with anyone who was familiar with his record, but it was an unfortunate stroke of fate, coming at the psychological moment tending to tear down the new wall of belief in himself so recently built up and he forgot or put aside all his good resolutions and just sat around the lobby of the hotel waiting and watching for Nancy. He felt that he really needed another douse of her optimism before he could buckle up his courage and try it again.

But Nancy came not. However, she wasn't dodging him. She just didn't feel bold enough to leave word at the desk when she would be in and when he could see her unless he solicited this information.

And he had not. He had merely inquired if she was still stopping at the hotel and on being informed that she was, took up his post in the lobby, conversing cynically with his successor, a young man who plastered his hair down like shiny ebony after the fashion of a popular movie shiek and a forehead that receded and tried to slink away from it—and waited for her to show up. As yet their paths had not crossed in spite of his diligence.

For Nancy had not given up. Fortified by her faith she did not desert the little dream ship and in a week it sailed into port—but it was a squalid port that reeked with the fumes of tobacco and illicit liquor and hardly the harbor of dreams she had sailed forth to find. She cast anchor at the edge of Chinatown and the place was dignified by the name of cabaret.

When the word cabaret lends dignity to an establishment in this part of town you know the sort of place it is—a dirty basement hangout where the prohibition officers stalk regularly and the evidence they are seeking is regularly and surreptitiously and safely dumped just in the nick of time—where the profits are occasionally split into hush money.

Why fate sent a girl like Nancy into a place like this is hard to understand, unless her character was to be put to the test of fire. But to be explicit, what actually did send her was a little inconsequential theatrical booking agency that had inserted an ad in the daily papers for musicians. And Nancy's eager eyes were the first to see it and her eager feet the first to climb the three flights of stairs that led to the little agency tucked away in the top of the building, like an octopus hidden under a reef awaiting its prey, and where she was duly inspected, tried out and told she would do and given a card to sign which said that the agency would receive ten per cent of her salary for placing her and another card of introduction to the swarthy little man that ran the cabaret.

But Nancy accepted it all joyously. The chance to earn money at doing the thing she loved best! What mattered if it was in a grimy little basement cabaret where the air hung heavily with smoke and the clientele consisted for the most part of roisterers and men off of ships and a few socalled bohemians who could not have detected "color" or Life if it was flaunted right under their noses. It takes understanding and not eyes to detect it anyway. So the crowd was blind to everything except the youth of Nancy.

The Kid had thought of her as a lily in a garbage can. Could he have seen her this night, slim and white amid the reek and the filth of the place, swaying the half drunken crowd with the magic of her little violin, he would have thought of her as a lamb among wolves.

For in that crowd there were wolfish faces and one that leered at her almost with beastial relish. He had been there every night since she first stepped out from the nondescript orchestra and placing her violin beneath her shell tinted chin, played "Souvenir" and "Ave Maria" with a haunting sweetness that brought maudlin tears to the eyes of the most drunken.

A week had passed and Nancy had stepped out from the other musicians each night, trailing witchery from her violin and tears from the eyes of wretches who may have had murder in their hearts a moment before, and in all probability would have it there again a moment after, and there was but one sin on her soul. In this place of festering vices she had told her first lie. When an inquisitive officer had inquired her age—and in the awful moment she saw her job going, she added a few years to it and looked at him so steadfastly when she did it that he believed her. But he made a report of it to a certain body of women uplifters and reformers and they had jotted it down in their book and intended to make an investigation when they got "around to it." But they evidently had not had the time yet and Nancy was still exposed to the fangs of the wolf.

She finished playing. There were cries for more, but the orchestra was already placing their instruments to burst into some jazz and she was taking her place among them when the man arose from the little table near the platform and approached her. He was large and lumbering, his face deep etched from years of dissipation, but he had been handsome.

"Just a moment," he said, detaining her, "will you play just one more tune? Something livelier?"

The musicians put down their instruments and glared at him because of the interruption. One of them spoke up and cried, "Put him out! He's drunk and delaying the game."

But the man had been a good spender in the few days that he had been a frequenter of the place and this fact had not escaped the proprietor. He came up now, small, swarthy and puffing. With a glance he ordered Nancy to obey, so she nestled her violin beneath her white throat once more and played.

It was a medley of old time airs, snatches of songs that her mother used to sing when she was a wee nestling in her mother's arms, before those arms had grown too tired to hold her or her voice too spent with weeping to sing.

But the medley did not suit him. The man glared, swaggered belligerently toward her again.

"Cut out the old homestead stuff!" he bellowed. "No man who has been about like I have, who has seen the muck and the filth of life as I have seen it, cares to have those old tunes dragged out of their graves. This is no place to play 'Annie Laurie' or 'Sweet Genevieve.' What are you trying to put over on this kind of a crowd? Trying to pass for some sweet saint? Sweet saints are not found in joints like this. Come on, ditch the violin and let's have some refreshments. Let's get acquainted."

Nancy drew back. The roses died out of her cheeks. She trembled like a frightened deer. Was there in all that crowd one who would protect her from insults? She glanced, appealingly, fearfully at them. She caught the eye of the proprietor. And it was menacing. He was gesticulating and sputtering, trying to telegraph to her that the man was the one being insulted, that he had spent a lot of money in the place, that he, the proprietor, had seen his bankroll and it was far from depleted—and for the love of Mike not to be a fool, the guy wasn't going to devour her.

As Nancy made out this sign language she realized that her job was hanging in the balance, unless she complied with her employer's wishes. So she put aside the little violin and stepping down from the low platform, and piloted by the stranger to a nearby table, where the smiling and patronizing proprietor himself pulled out a couple of chairs for them, she sat down opposite him.

SCHOOL AGAIN.

"Mother, where's that green ribbon for my hair? Mother, do you know where my pencil box is?"

Betty Cut-out was running around in circles, for she was excited about going back to school that she hardly knew what she was doing. Billy was all ready and waiting for her. He kept calling her every two minutes, telling her he was sure they'd be late.

"Now I'm ready," called Betty at last, and came running down the steps two at time. She and Billy dashed out of the house and soon joined the back-to-school crowd on the sidewalk.

Nitrogen Atoms

One of the commonest of the chemical elements is nitrogen gas. The air is four-fifths nitrogen. Yet nitrogen is the most costly and necessary constituent of fertilizers. American farmers spend millions each year for nitrogen to put on their fields.

The reason for this curious paradox is that the kind of nitrogen that plants need and that is used in fertilizers is "combined" or "fixed" nitrogen. The "free" nitrogen of the air will do them no good. One of the objects in developing the great power plant at Mussel Shoals was so that this electric power might be used to convert the useless nitrogen gas of the air into the "fixed" and valuable kind of nitrogen that the farmers need. A process for doing this by electricity was discovered during the war.

Now comes Professor William Bone, a distinguished English scientist and engineer, with the report that under certain conditions in a flame composed of carbon monoxide gas burning in an atmosphere of oxygen he has been able to put the atoms of nitrogen into an "activated" or "excited" state in which they will combine with other elements. In a word, he makes these "excited" atoms do their own "fixing." He produces the much needed fixed nitrogen without needing to use electricity at all.

As yet this discovery has been tried only on a very small laboratory scale. It was reported to the Royal Institution by Professor Bone merely as a scientific experiment. But any fact that bears on this vital problem of cheaper nitrogen for fertilizers is of tremendous interest just now. If it proves possible to "excite" the nitrogen atoms in commercial quantities and at a practicable cost it may mean more and cheaper food for everybody.

JUNE O'BRIEN'S ADVENTURE

One there was a girl named June O'Brien. She was a rich girl but since her father's disappearance she had become very poor. She was eighteen years old and lived in a little fishing town with a fisherman and his wife.

One morning June told the fisherman's wife that she was going down to the wharf. When she got there she saw a boat. So she said to herself "I think I'll take a little row in the boat." So she got in the boat and started rowing. As she got in the middle of the ocean the waves got rougher and June was very much frightened and lost control of the boat. The boat tipped over and June swim to shore, which had not been very far. It was a little island. The next morning June started to look for food. While she was wandering in the woods she saw a cave. June went over to the cave and walked into a little room where she found an old man about fifty years of age. He had gray hair and a beard. June got frightened and was going to run out of the cave when the old man stopped her and told her not to run that he was not going to harm her. The man beckoned to the girl and June walked toward the old man and the old man said, "What is your name?" So June told him her name. He also asked her father's name and June told him it was Daniel O'Brien. The old man jumped up with surprise and put his arms around June, telling her he was her lost father. June cried with joy when she heard he was her father.

The next morning as they were looking out at the ocean they noticed a ship in the distance. June after gathering a few sticks built a fire. After the fire had been burning and smoking for a while the boat at sea saw the smoke and knew that someone was in trouble and needed help. The boat came to shore and June and her father were only too glad to get on board the ship to get back home.

The captain of the boat, who was a very handsome man, fell in love with June and asked June to marry him and June said yes so they were married and arrived in port safe and happy.

It was a bright and sunny morning.

Mrs. Sommers, society leader, was just leaving her home in time to take the train for a trip to Los Angeles. As she reached the gate she noticed an old man lingering near the driveway of her home.

Suspecting that he was a thief. She started back to the house pretending that she had forgotten her gloves. The man, not knowing that the woman had seen him immediately followed her, keeping a few steps behind her.

When she entered the house, the doorbell rung. She was a little startled, and on opening the door she was surprised to see the old man standing there.

He was tall and wore a dark ragged suit of clothes. He carried an old and dusty overcoat and walked as if he were lame.

Mrs. Sommers was very kind to the poor. When she saw the condition of the man she changed her mind and thought he was just a hungry tramp.

When she opened the door the man asked if he could have something to eat. Mrs. Sommers invited him into the breakfast room. In a few minutes a cup of hot coffee and a plate of freshly buttered toast was placed before him.

As he ate she indulged in a very pleasant conversation and also saw that he was noticing everything of value in the room. His eyes wandered from the silver on the table to the curtains on the windows, as well as to the other articles in the room.

He told her of a brother of his that was in a distant country and had a very good position.

"Why don't you go and ask him to secure a position for you?" she asked.

"But," he answered, "I need $30 to make the trip and I haven't the money."

This being a small amount to her she wrote out a check for $35. When she handed it to him he was astonished. She told him to take it to the bank and have it cashed.

"But they won't know me at the bank," he said.

"Oh," said Mrs. Sommers, "I will phone and tell them you are coming."

Just as she was about to take the receiver in her hand the man told her to stop, as he had a confession to make. The young woman was astonished and very frightened.

The man dropped the coat to the floor and was standing very straight before her.

"Lady," he said, "I came here in the disguise of a tramp with the intention of robbing your home. I am one of a gang of robbers and was commanded by my leader to secure a list of all the houses that would be worth robbing. I do not need the money which you so kindly and generously gave me, and I haven't any brother. But as you have been so very kind to me I will discount your house from my list."

Then taking the check he tore it into tiny bits and threw it into a wastebasket nearby. As he was leaving he said:

"I will never forget this day and your kindness."

THE GIRL WHO DID NOT LIKE SCHOOL.

Once upon a time there was a girl who hated school. So when vacation time was over she did not go to school.

All the little girls asked her why she didn't go to school. She said her mother did not want her to go, but she told a lie because her mother wanted her to go. As she grew older she did not know anything. At last her father grew very sick. She wanted to call the doctor, but she could not read. Well her mother had to mind him because she did not know how to.

At last he died. They could not make a living because the mother was old and gray haired and nobody wanted her; and the girl was not educated.

The poor mother died too. The girl was now twenty years old. She was very beautiful, but not educated, so nobody wanted her.

She now realized the mistake that she made by not attending school while she was a girl.

At last she borrowed money from her uncle and aunt. With the money she decided to go to night school. She finally got some education through attending night school, and then she found a suitable position and made a living.

Her boss fell in love with her and asked her to be his wife. She said "YES!" It is better to have education and learn than nothing.

The Oakland TRIBUNE is a member of the Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers, which includes leading newspapers throughout the country and has for its aim the elimination of fraudulent and misleading classified advertising. The Oakland TRIBUNE as well as every other member of the association endeavors to print only truthful Want Ads and will appreciate having its attention called to any advertisement not conforming to the highest standards of honesty.

Want Ad Section INDEX

Want Ad classifications appear in numerical order and all related classes are grouped together. For example: All advertising of Rooms To Let is numbered 20 to 29. The numbers appear on the headings so if you seek room and board, look through the "20s." "Board" is No 25, and always follows Housekeeping Rooms (24). Note—Every "For Sale" or "To Let" heading has a "Wanted" classification with the same number but followed by the letter "A."

'LOST MIND' EVADES TRAP

BERKELEY, Sept. 4.—Berkeley police are attempting to ascertain whether Carl Black, so-called amnesia victim, is "faking" or whether he has suffered a shock which has caused him to lose his memory temporarily.

Jack was picked up earlier in the week by Officer O. W. Wilson as a burglar suspect. Since his arrest he has confronted the police with one of the "queerest" problems coming to their attention in many years.

After his arrest he took Wilson and other officers to an address in the 1400 block on Grove street. "See that window," he asked pointing to a gable. "That's my room."

Investigation showed that there was no room under the gable and that occupants of the house did not know Black.

"Strange" he commented "they must have moved the room since I was in it last."

He told the police also that he was born and raised in Colfax and that his father, John Black, was a rancher there; that he was a graduate of the Colfax union high school and had registered at the University of California. There is no Colfax high school.

He was asked to multiply four by three and divide by six.

He scratched his head.

"Give me time; that's a pretty big problem" he answered.

If Black is faking, the police declare that he is one of the cleverest "fakers" they have ever seen. If h isn't faking and he isn't an amnesia victim they are almost convinced that he is Berkeley's so-called "blanket burglar" who has entered a score or more homes. But they haven't anything on him. Berkeleyans are being asked to scan photographs of Black in an effort to establish his identity.

Black denied he had ever been in Sacramento, but a case containing a pair of tortoise-shelled glsses, bearing an address from the capital city, was found on him. He declared the glasses were his own. The number of the glasses had been carefully scratched from the case.

Black is about 24 years old, is about 5 feet, 9 inches in height, weighs 154 pounds, has brown hair and brown eyes.

Amnesia Victim

KARL BLACK, arrested in Berkeley and being held by the police as a burglar suspect.

Lack of Funds Holds Zoo, Its Odors, Noise, at Present Home

AS a result of the recent major surgical operation performed on the 1924-25 budget, the Oakland zoo at Nineteenth and Alice street is now held to be immovable as Gibraltar, in spite of the storms of recent protests by citizens who complained of smells, roars, cackles, snarls and coos nightly from sunset to sunrise.

The park board, at its meeting yesterday, confessed defeat of its plan to move the assorted noises and smells to the mountain park. The request for 280,000 for this purpose was cut out. The park officials say they have barely funds for maintenance. The zoo will stay put.

Another storm has descended on the park board, it is admitted, concerning the proposed move toward the mountain park, which is high and far away. Citizens assert that the zoo up there would rarely be visited. They allege that Lakeside Park is just the place.

"We must not have the zoo in the mountain park," maintained these citizens.

"We must not have it downtown," assert residents near the zoo.

"We have no funds to move it," defends the park board.

The matter, it is admitted, must remain as it is for some time to come.

BOND DETAIL UP TO BOARD

The board of education, at its regular monthly session this evening, is scheduled to adopt formal resolution setting forth details of the proposed school bond election and naming the officials for every booth at the September 30 election.

There will be 337 booths in Oakland and 10 in San Leandro, the latter being the Oakland high school district.

Bids will be asked for furnishing tables, chairs and other furniture for the tents. Each tent will have an inspector and two judges. Bids will also be received for newspaper advertising concerning the coming election.

Would You Envy the Man, or Would You Call Him Lazy?

Perhaps, if you are the owner of a hard substance fuel furnace you will call him lazy, but you can not help but envy those extra minutes of rest and the elimination of all the disagreeable tasks that you have to perform before your furnace is ready for the day.

Just remember this that the man with the

has heat any time he wants it, by "Just Pressing the Button," without the least effort on his part. He has no ashes to clean out—No chimneys to clean—No tracking of dirt into the home—No expensive fuel to store—No building of fires—No bother about the fire going out during the day.

A Glee-wood in the home means more happiness for the entire family: The husband realizes that his wife has none of the back-breaking jobs of her neighbor shoveling heavy fuel.

If you go to the theater all you have to do is snap off the button and your fire is out. When you return snap it on and you have plenty of heat to undress comfortably.

Another thing—Gas is the cleanest fuel known today—You do not have to provide a place to store it—You pay for what you use and you will find it economical, too.

Our heating engineers are always ready and willing to help you solve your heating problem—You are not obligating yourself in requesting their help. Call Oakland 1273.
